HINTS TO FARMERS

Horticulturists used to brag back their young fruit trees each year, in the belief that it made them stocky and well-branched. It is now known, however, that heavy cutting back of annual growth of young trees removes quantities of stored-up plant-food material needed for the future development of the tree. This results in decreased size of tree and delay in coming into maturity. Horticulturists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture advise pruning young fruit trees but enough to train them correctly.

Beet tops and greens make good silage if properly handled. Run the tops through the cutter and put them in the silo immediately after the beets are topped. Keep the tops free from dirt when gathering them. Put not straw in the bottom of the silo to absorb the excess moisture, and as fast as the tops are cut, mix straw with them. Pack the cutters firmly in filling the silo—Salt sprinkled over the silage every few inches makes it more palatable. Place a 12-inch layer of straw or other coarse roughage on the top. Do not add water.

High wages and scarcity of farm labor together with the increasing use of tile drainage to increase crop production have caused more general use of tile-trenching machinery, says the Bureau of Agricultural Engineering, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Ten years recently issued a revised bulletin on Tile-Trenching Machinery. Hand-drawn ditching plows, costing from $50 to $200, will excavate trenches for the average farm tile, but hand labor is necessary to grade these trenches. Power machines, costing from $2,300 upwards, are of the following types: wheel excavators, cable-and-bucket excavators, and the dragline and shovel excavators. The cost of trenching by machinery is about the same as by hand, says the bureau, but the work is done more quickly and with fewer men. Farmers' Bulletin 1131-F, Tile-Trenching Machinery, may be procured from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

3 MILES OF ROAD TO PUT US ON THE MAP

Road From Near Johnson Farm To Carlisle Shorter By More Than Mile

SURVEY IS SOUGHT

The initial step was taken Thursday by a committee from the Lions Club in bringing to the attention of the proper authorities the possibility of building approximately three miles of road, which, when completed would shorten the distance between Maysville and Lexington more than a mile and make the new road through Myers Station and Flemingsburg the most direct and most traveled route from Lexington to Maysville.

The committee accompanied by J. B. Walker, resident highway engineer, went over the proposed route Thursday and were enthusiastic over the prospect of placing Carlisle upon the main line of a State highway.

The proposed road has been talked about at different times for some years, but its importance has not been fully realized until now. Work on the new highway to Flemingsburg some years ago by-passed Mt. Carmel, Winchester, a former Carlisle citizen, urged the Chamber of Commerce here to get behind an effort to build such a road, and Carlisle was the only city at that time aroused favorable response from those living along the route.

The line of the proposed road would leave the present Lexington and Maysville highway at the arched bridge just at the mouth of the curve, this side of Oscar Johnson place. At that point the road would run in a straight line due east. From the Maysville and Lexington road to Carlisle, a distance of approximately 3½ miles, counting the curves of the present Miller's Station road. With a straight road from the point near the Oscar Johnson farm to Carlisle, the distance would probably be cut to 3 miles, and from Carlisle to Sharpsburg pike, as traffic in and out of Carlisle must now go, the distance is 4½ miles by actual speedometer measurement.

In the event that such a road is built, at least ninety-five per cent of the travel from the south to Maysville would go over this route, through Carlisle and Flemingsburg to Maysville. The traveler through Carlisle and Flemingsburg to Maysville avoids the river hill at Maysville and many curves on the old road. It is believed that the road now under construction through Myers Station to the Fleming line may be surfaced with concrete. In such event and with a straight and level road facing the tourist at the old arched bridge near the Johnson place, comparatively few northbound cars would follow the old road.

Years ago, it is said, the town trustees of Clifton thought that it was too much to pay' to route the Maysville and Lexington pike through Carlisle. The town has suffered as the result of this decision and it is now believed that this proposed road would connect that error of judgment. Carlisle would be on the "map," as far as State highways are concerned, and the same benefit would be felt by the town of Flemingsburg, through which this highway passes.

It is hoped that the State road committee may be interested in inspecting the route of this proposed road and that a preliminary survey may be made.

Race Bill Introduced In Georgia Assembly

A bill introduced in the lower house of the Georgia general assembly would create a racing commission to supervise any meeting where horse racing is conducted for any stake, purse or reward. The measure would provide for a commission of three members to be appointed by the governor.

Lauhon Winner Over Col. Wilder For Railroad Post

Thomas H. Lauhon, of Catlettsburg, won the Republican nomination for railroad commissioner from the third district over Ike Wilder, of Booneville, Ky., by a plurality of 2,506 votes, complete returns from the entire district showed.

Lauhon received 14,440; Wilder, 11,934.

For the Democratic nomination in the district, James Hatcher, of Pikeville, received 16,085 votes, with a lead of more than 10,000 over his nearest opponent.

Allie Young's Official Majority Totals 4,982

The official returns from the primary held August 1 as announced by Secretary of State Shry show that Allie W. Young's majority over Dr. H. L. Nickell for State Senator reached the large total of 4,982. In the Republican primary, W. E. Proctor, of Morehead, defeated Joseph Simons, of Maysville, by 146.

FARMERS VOTE TO REDUCE ASSESSMENT

25 Per Cent Reduction In Farm Lands Approved At Mass Meeting Here Saturday

Approximately 100 landowners of Nicholas county met at the court house Saturday afternoon and discussed a plan to reduce the tax assessment on farm lands in Nicholas county. Harry T. Lyons, president of the organization formed here several months ago, presided and the meeting address was made by J. H. Jones, of Cynthiana, who is a member of the Nicholas county board of assessors.

Following the discussions, a resolution was unanimously voted to reduce the assessment on farm land in Nicholas county 25 per cent from the 1929 assessment.

A committee of four landowners in each district was named by the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce to see the landowners in their district and advise them to reduce their assessment.

MORE TOBACCO IS HELD BY DEALERS

61 Million More Pounds Of Burley Held Than On July 1, 1930

GOVERNMENT REPORTS

Stocks of leaf tobacco in the United States owned by dealers and manufacturers amounted to 1,914,719,000 pounds on July 1, 1931, compared with 1,723,344,000 pounds a year ago, according to a report released today by the Tobacco Section Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Total stocks show a gain of 192,059,000 pounds during the second quarter of 1931, compared with a decrease of 239,249,000 pounds during the second quarter of 1930.

Burley stocks are considerably higher than they were a year ago. The July 1, 1931 report shows 500,042,000 pounds on hand compared with 438,-406,000 pounds on hand July 1, 1930. Stocks of Burley decreased during the quarter by 6,000,000 pounds or 66 million pounds, the same as the decrease shown in the second quarter of 1930.

Stocks of flue-cured tobacco on hand July 1, 1931, were 676,752,000 pounds on July 1, 1930, 599,262,000 pounds on July 1, 1930. While stocks of flue-cured tobacco are higher than they were a year ago July 1, the decrease in stocks was much greater during the second quarter of 1931 than of 1930. Stocks of flue-cured dropped from 707,140,000 pounds on April 1, 1930 to 599,262,000 on July 1, 1930, a decrease of 107,487,000 pounds, whereas the decrease in the same period of 1931 amounted to 154,505,000 pounds. This difference is probably accounted for by the increase in export shipments during the second quarter of 1931.

Maryland tobacco stocks are about 2 million pounds higher than they were a year ago on July 1, and about 3 million pounds heavier than on April 1, 1931. The July 1, 1931 report shows 17,256,000 pounds on hand.

The July 1, 1931 report shows 41,-026,000 pounds of One-Sucker compared with 30,283,000 pounds on July 1, 1930.

Green River stocks reported as 36,-126,000 pounds on July 1 are a little over 3 million pounds lower than they were a year ago.

Stocks of Virginia sun-cured show little change; July 1 stocks as reported as 4,142,000 pounds.
