CAN YOUR CHILD SEE?

Most of you fathers and mothers will say, "Why, I think so." Some of you will answer, "Of course." A few of you will say, "I don't know. I never thought about it."

You think about the youngsters' teeth don't you?

You think about their clothing, warmth, shoes, and sometimes their eyes. All of these things every alert and conscientious parent is concerned about.

But do you think about their eyes? Do you ever give one thought to the question of whether or not your children' eyes are at the highest possible point of efficiency?

Do you ever wonder whether or not your children are being held back now and will be impaired in their progress in the future because you are not thinking NOW about their eyes?

SARTORIAL SADNESS

(H. R. H. in Lexington Herald)
Oh, for the days when girls were cute
And wore their bobbed hair flying
These present-day women are nothing
Are everything thats trying.

They mince along in flowing skirts,
All ruffles, tucks and flounces,
That damsels now are sweet and shy
Each dress outlined serves announces.

Each maiden's hair is parted low
And coiled, oh, so demurely,
A pearl into each lipstick-tipped ear
Is pierced, oh, so securely.

A silver sandal on her foot,
And oxfords silken lisse—
What has become of her who went
With bandrapped calves and toes?

Where are the skirts that struck the knee,
And even then were scanty?
Till one became compulsion
With stockings rolled, and panty.

Those days have days, fewer gone,
The boyish form is ended;
For waistlines now are found again,
And curves are now intended.

So we must learn to look and like,
Our irritation smother;
Or else, ere we accept this form,
They'll have assumed another.
