THIS TIME OF YEAR

This is the season when the traveler sees
Earth on her rocky knees,
Rending her sacred tweed garment with her pains
When are that drummer in the dull Kora Jones
By night spins insect-antler.
When leaves call their plumpest colors from water to dry water.
This is the season when the elf-like Bearing her abject beauty.
Is the season when the frost-nipped maple smokes.
To the warm sheltered town.
Where the sweet girl graduate grows
Under the frost-cool asters.
And waits for the forceful conductor Autumn.
—Howard McKinley Corning in New York Times.

THE YOUNG MAN'S CONFESSION

The following original rhyme was handed The Mercury by J. T. Boggs, local Civil War Veteran

"There's something on my breast, father,
There's something on my breast.
The live-long day I've spent in sighs,
At night I can not rest.
I can neither eat nor sleep, father,
I can neither eat nor sleep,
A heavy load oppresseth me,
A heavy load of woe.
I've not the lack of gold, father,
Nor the lack of worldly gear,
My lands are broad and rich, father,
My kin are kind and dear.
My lands are broad and rich, father,
'Tis not that she's united,
Though busy fathers swarm around,
I know her constant mind.
The sin weeks term which she
That chills my troubled breast—
'Tis those confounded cucumbers
I've ate and can't digest.

Old Lady: "Son can you direct me to the People's Savings Bank?"

Boy: "Ceasum, for a quarter."

Old Lady: "Isn't that a mighty high pay, my boy?"

Boy: "Na, ma'am; not for a bank director."—Lebanon Co. Motor Bulletin.

PROGRAM

Tonight, Thursday, comes Elissa Landi in "WICKED," a story of a lonely woman's deception and the wife who dabbed wicked by society and why? She did only what every woman would do, her love pitted against man made laws, and she was called wicked. Don't fail to see this one.

Saturday—Comes Wallace Wales in a sure good Western, "RIDERS OF THE CACTUS." Also a comedy.

Monday—Comes Noah Beery and Richard Cromwell in "SHANGHAIED LOVE." This is a melodrama of the sea. A story full of action, mixing comedy and romance. If you like melodrama action you will get it in this picture and all ends right. Don't fail to see this one.

The oldest inhabitant cannot remember in all probability, a later fall in March than the fall of the first snow which fell Wednesday night. Not enough to keep it on the ground, however, but enough to whiten the fields and make them look like winter.

See the large advertisement of Eckhardt's 88 cent sale on page three in this issue. On the 88 cent table can be found an interesting assortment of underwear, hosiery, and other articles at the 88 cent price.

Two new frame portable voting booths were put into use in this city Tuesday. They were built by the Eagle House and Mathias Shop No 1 precinct. With the construction of these booths the county now has seven booths at twelve of the eighteen precincts.

M. J. T. Boggs calls attention of The Mercury to an error made in the report of the surviving veterans of the Civil War. Mr. Thomas Terhune, of the Carlisle neighborhood, was a private in Co. H 33rd Infantry. According to the report Mr. Terhune was organized in the fall of 1864 to serve for one month. Mr. Terhune's remembrance was given a county bounty of $250.

Halloween passed off here in the most orderly manner in years and little damage was done. The only cases of the criminal kind by the Ladies Auxiliary of Fee Presbyterian church was the lowering of the bell in former years, due to the inclement weather. The bell was awarded the prize for the best costume worn by an adult and Dorothy Lee Collins was awarded the prize for the best child's costume.

Wallace M. Blair, of Myers, suffered an injury to his hand and two cuts in the head late Tuesday afternoon at Myers Station and was brought to Carlisle Gibson, also of Myers. Mr. Blair had attempted to settle a dispute between Gilkerson and another man when Mr. Blair was struck by Sheriff J. Clark Levi went to Myers Tuesday night with a warrant for the arrest of Gilkerson, but he had left the community.

At the regular monthly meeting of the city council Tuesday night, the bad of the General Fire Hose Company for furnishing the city 500 feet of additional hose at $1.10 per foot was accepted, over Jno. Arnold and Clerk S. C. Vaughn reported licenses to the amount of $9 collected in October. Current accounts were allowed and ordered paid and other routine business transacted.

John Washington, negro, was stabbed in the back six times, and cut on the face, nose, neck and hand in an altercation with Maude Timberlake, negro man, in Henryville about noon Tuesday. Washington came to the office of Dr. T. P. Scott where his wounds were dressed. Although several of the stab wounds were serious, the injuries are not expected to result fatally. A warrant was issued for Timberlake, and he was lodged in jail. Timberlake was recently released in the junior department of the Christian church for the members of the Sunshine Chorus which contributed so much to the success of the meeting held two weeks ago. On Monday night at seven o'clock the Glee Club was also delightfully entertained by a committee in charge.
