PROGRAM

Tonight, Thursday, comes Joan Crawford in "LAUGHING BINNERS." If you want to see Miss Crawford at her best be sure and see this one. It is a good one. Also Mortolene News.

Saturday—Comes one you haven't seen for a long time, and if you want to see a sure good Western don't fail to see Buck Jones in "SHADOW RANCH." Also a comedy.

Monday—Comes Norma Shearer in "A FREE SOUL." Thrills, drama, pathos and comedy. From the book by Adela Rogers St. Johns, the best seller of the year. They taught her to live graciously. "I can take care of myself in your man's world," she said. Now if you want to see a real good picture don't fail to see this one at the

LYRIC THEATRE

A ferris wheel has been erected on the lot next to the Grocers Warehouse, where the fair is being held.

Light frosts have been reported in lowlands during the past few nights, but not damaging has been done.

Students of the rural schools and the city school will be given a holiday Friday in order that they may attend the fair.

Considerable damage to trees and telephone lines was caused by a wind and electrical storm last Friday night in the Little Rock section.

A number of local football fans will go to Lexington Saturday for the opening game of the season for the University of Kentucky Wildcats with Maryville.

The J. R. Busby farm of 195 acres, located on the Carlisle and East Union road, was offered at public auction Saturday, but was withdrawn after it had been bid to the unbelievable $400.

Mrs. Frank Powell was called to Helena, Mason county, last week on account of the illness of her mother, Mrs. Sallie Wells, who suffered a fracture of the hip in a fall at her home.

The annual election of officers of Nicholas Post No. 17, American Legion, will be held at the Legion Hall Friday night, October 2, at 7:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present at this meeting.

Herman Shannon, of the Cassidy Creek section, Saturday filed in the County Clerk's office a claim for $250 for the death of one ewe and the injury of 19 others by ravenous dogs on last Friday night.

Nicholas county farmers have practically completed cutting and housing of the tobacco crop and corn cutting will begin within a few days. Many silos throughout the county have been filled during the past week.

The address of Judge Roby LaFon will be the principal feature of the Democratic rally to be held at Bowling Green on Saturday afternoon, October 3. It will be radioed over Station WHAS, Louisville, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Grey Gifford, of Robertson county, was treated at the local hospital on Tuesday morning for cuts received when a wagon loaded with tobacco fell on him and almost cut off one of his ears. He went to his home after the treatment.

Martin Gaugh report the following sales of Cleveland cars during September: Chevrolet Coupe to Miss Ethel Dooley, Chevrolet Sedan to Frank Henry, Chevrolet Special Sedan to Matthew Kennedy, Chevrolet Truck to Jack Thaxton, Chevrolet Coach to Leonard Alexander.

Farmers report hogs as being scarce on farms in Nicholas county than at any time for several years. Many farmers are without meat hogs, in spite of the low price of corn with which to fatten hogs, porkers will probably bring a fatly good price this year at killing time because of the shortage.

Nicholas county Republicans will open their campaign here Saturday afternoon when three candidates for state office will speak at the court house. The speakers will be William B. Harrison, candidate for Governor; Mrs. Beatty H. Buckler, candidate for Secretary of State, and Charles B. Bennett, candidate for State Treasurer.

An increase of four cents per pound in the price of butter fat was announced yesterday by the operator of a local cream station in an advertisement in this issue. The price is now 28 and 31 cents per pound. This is the highest price paid for eight months. Butter fat during the early summer reached the low price of 15 cents per pound.

Rev. E. C. Crouch, pastor of the Sharpsburg Presbyterian church, is a candidate for the office of Public Judge of Sharpsburg. A petition containing the names of a large number of voters has been filed in the office of the County Clerk at Owingsville Monday asking that his name be placed on the ballot. Rev. Crouch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Crouch, of this county, and is well known here where he frequently visits.

Joe Clay, superintendent of the Carlisle water works, reports that the water in the reservoir is becoming scarce and urges Carlisle people to conserve water as much as possible. Unless the present consumption is decreased or heavy rains fall, Carlisle will be faced with another shortage soon, Mr. Clay said. The rains this spring and summer put only a small amount of water in the lake, the ground being so dry that it absorbed the water as rapidly as it fell. Into each lite some rain must fall."

TO A NEW-FOUND FRIEND

(By Anderson M. Scruggs)

You were another of multitude
Of strangers, upon time's restless stream,
Until a chance remark of yours imbued
A warm hope with life, and fired the dream
Of friendship that I deemed could never be,
And now my thoughts look backward to the time
That moment, like a flower, revealed to me
Its hidden gold, and set our hearts in rhyme.

How much of happiness lies in a glance,
Or random word, that like a sudden ember
Striking old beauty that two a golden lance,
Striking old beauty that two hearts remember.
You would have been a stranger still to me
Had not one phrase unlocked infinity.

Love that night seeks keeps free. No sorrow had come to this union, nothing to say that thought that life would not always be sunshine and brightness. Only love and confidence in themselves meant anything to them now.

The next couple we noticed were married. The woman was nearly dressed, but she had a tired, drawn expression on her face. She was pretty. She no longer expressed the confidence of youth but accepted the cold, cruel facts as a matter of course. Fortune had failed to smile on them and now they were only two millions struggling for existence.

The third was a woman whose footsteps were no longer light. The hair which in youth must have been threads of gold, had cast a tired, drawn expression on her face. She was wrinkled and old. Only the eyes which were darkest-dimly bespoke the tale. Old, faded, worn and seemingly tired of living. She looked unknown of the soul, cried out against the injury of fate which had placed her in the class that must keep on toiling because the body needs rest and comfort." She was reluctant to bend to the stern realities and seemed to be vainly crying for the days of youth to return.

And so we turned away, but the tide of life flows on, the sunshine and the shadows flitting here and there.

Longfellow expressed it beautifully when he said, "Thy fate is but the common fate of all. Into each life

BAPTIST CHURCH

W. M. Hammond, pastor

Prayer service this Wednesday 7 p. m. We were pleased with the fine attendance last Wednesday evening. Let each faithful one bring another to these mid-week services.

The B. Y. P. U. meets Saturday 2:30 p. m. for our hour, after which the children may attend the Sale. Sunday school 9:30. Subject, "Shall We Send Is to Europe?" Lesson text, Acts 16:6-15; Romans 15: 18-21. We want to see a large attendance Sunday morning for both services.

We are to have the fourth Quarterly Communion Sunday morning, and all members should be present if possible. Some who were baptized have not yet been received into the full fellowship of the church. We want them to be present Sunday morning for their first Communion after having been formally received into full fellowship. Let's make this a truly great day of rest and worship and a study of God's word.

"He thou faithful unto death and I will give thee the crown of life." Revelation 2.10. "And they washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb." Revelation 7:14. These are the morning and evening texts. The public is cordially invited to our services.
