W. J. Curtis Seeking Indian Relics, Artifacts

(Cynthiana Democrat)

W. J. Curtis, of Pippa, Robertson county, was here Saturday to see some Indian relics which had been gathered by the late Emmet Webber. Mr. Curtis is an archaeologist of some note and has one of the most interesting collections in Kentucky. He has opened Indian mounds and burials in Robertson and Mason county and has some rare specimens of Indian skill. A few of the artifacts he had with him Saturday included three pipes, one in the form of a dove, another of an owl and, the third, an ordinary shaped affair; ceremonial stones, highly polished and a serpentine stone ceremonial, said to be one of two in existence and has a high market value. A plummet made of hematite was as perfect as the machine manufactured ones of today. Mr. Curtis is going to present his collection to the state for display in the museum at Blue Lick. Indian artifacts are being sought from every county in the state and any one having a collection which they would like to donate to the museum can communicate with Mr. Curtis.

FLEMS DIFFICULTIES

(Cynthiana Democrat)

Governor Ruthcford has his financial difficulties at the door of poor pay while holding public offices. He entered public office in 1911 and now, 20 years later, stepped in debt, the whines of his condition. At no time in the twenty years did an office seek him. He did not have to campaign for one. He simply resigned his practice of law when he wished. He was one of the most favored men by had he seen fit to resume his profession four years ago. However, he chose to be a candidate for President of the United States and now he comes to office to the extent of damaging his reputation and character to the extent that Gov. Flem saw his debts mounting and refused to add to them. He made no resolution to quit office and his unembarrassed effort began pursuant of his colleagues.

"POLITICAL RELIEF"

(Maysville Independent)

We had just as well put it in our place and make it even if it does not be late or small good, but it is a fact that is going to do us the most good before election is over. That sort of a policy did not solve the problem last winter and will not solve it this winter if the committee adheres to it. The committee can't even set up a fair political relief unless that relief is in line with the views of Governor Ruby Laffoon. If it does not stick to it, it will fail. If it sets up a Democratic committee instead of a committee of thunder to be used in next years presidential race, it will fail and should fail. All political experiences have been turned into political and party thunder, and have strained him to the elastic snapping point. It will not be effective again, for the promises have been so often turned into any substitute for results, but have created a condition that now exists and fail, and what committee was appointed to correct it is exercising every power to make it substantially in any such way.

There is not a man or woman in Mason county who does not know what they want, or can fairly comprehend with those they know. Five persons on personal grabb on that score. Just how far the promise of economy made of the millions who are now feeling the touch of need at the very break of winter is an outstanding that it is going to be kept, or the people will know.

Governor Laffoon's policy is to pass the burden to the states with the full need of advice to relate from the state to the National Government. We say to the states, can indirectly establish the need of anything else that will do the job. Washington must never employ every policy of the administration.

NO HOMES FOR RATS!

Don't waste time and money trying to clean up rubbish that may harbor rats. Remove the harm of these pests now—and you will avoid damage to stored grain and food this fall and winter. Rats are costly nuisances. Reports from experts agree on concentration in destroying them on all the infested farms in a community at the same time. Simultaneous action—not scattered efforts—is the way to get rid of rats. Start the drive on the same day on all infested farms. To exterminate rats, poison flour is a potent deadly to rats and more but other substances may be safe for dogs and other animals—one of the best is squill powder. Red squill powder is a most cheaper, is an extraordinary rat killer but this purpose. Mus. scrulla, which has recently been put out for the same purpose. Mus. scrulla, which has similar properties, is also good. Directions for using these poisons are simple and can be obtained from any druggist. Poisoned baits should be placed where children and stock cannot get to them. Full directions for using poisons are given in Farmers' Bulletin 1,618, which may be obtained free upon request to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

When I consider how my light is spent
Ere half my days in this dark world and wide,
And that one talent which is death to hide
Lodged with me useless, though my soul more best
To serve therewith my Maker, and
Doth God exact day-labor, light denied?
I fondly ask. But Patience, to prevent
That murmur, soon replies, "God doth not need
Either man's work or his own gifts.
Who best
Bear his mild yoke, they serve Him best. His state
Is kingly: thousands at his bidding speed
And post over land and ocean without rest;
They also serve who only stand and wait."
