THANKFUL FOR LAFFOON

(Licking Valley Courier)

When we begin to understand thoroughly the danger of public debt to democratic government, we can appreciate and be thankful for the fact that Judge Ruby Laffoon, Democratic nominee for governor, has not only declared that if he is elected the state all true Democrats will rejoice that their nominee for governor has given government will live within its income, but that he will try to pay off the present state debt during his term of office.

At least twenty nations will be represented at the international film congress in Brussels next June.

Angleworms Dote On Bread And Molasses

Angleworms have a sweet tooth, according to Richard B. Bilhook, "angleworm king of California," who has just shipped five bait this summer from his address at Alhambra to fishermen in many parts of the country. He and other methods of raising worms farms were compiled recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture from the benefit of anglers wishing to raise worms for recreation.

A successful diet for the earthworms was found to include molasses as well as powdered bread crumbs and crumbled hard-boiled eggs. A sunny sack smeared with the molasses is placed sticky side down on the surface of the worm bed, then sprinkled with water.

An ordinary wooden box about 18 inches deep makes a good bed for the worm crop, the bulletin states. It should be filled with rich, moist soil and should be buried in shaded ground two or three inches below the surrounding level, and almost filled with rich, dark loam.

"Wild" worms placed in the box will prove to be possible if properly treated. The sexes may be known by the set of eggs in tiny capsules in the "collar" between the body and the first or five segments.

Amateur worm farmers are warned that while the worm beds should be kept quite moist, water standing in them should never be wet. Earthworms seem on top of the ground after a heavy rain do not come up because they like water but because they do not, the bulletin indicates.

Worm farms have sprung up in many parts of the country, but those who prefer live bait but live in cities where angleworms are difficult to find, can

Constitution League Formed At Frankfort

Advocates of a constitutional convention organized a state-wide Constitutional Convention League at Frankfort Wednesday with Samuel M. Wilson, of Lexington as chairman. The purpose of the organization, which is non-partisan, is to obtain a favorable vote at the November 3 election on the proposition of calling a convention next year.

Dr. Gilbert Bailey of Lexington, was named chairman of the executive committee and was authorized to raise $5,000 to finance the league's campaign this fall. J. C. Bates, of Hopkinsville, was named secretary of the organization. Dr. Frank Tuttle, of Louisville, chairman of the committee on organization, and Mrs. Anna Pennebaker, of Louisville, chairman of the speakers bureau.

Mr. Wilson and committee chairmen were empowered to serve as an executive committee.

Slow Down On Bouns Pleas, Harbord Urges

Consideration of relief plans at the American Legion's unemployment conference at Washington Monday was interrupted by a decision that all demands should be slowed down.

It came from Gen. J. G. Harbord, chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America, former chief of staff of the American Expeditionary Forces in France in the War.

Referring to the Legion convention at Detroit next week, Harbord said: "You can not get at that convention with a program of relief in one hand and a tin cup in the other and expect to get anywhere."

Howard P. Savage, chairman of the Legion's employment committee, in addition, replied to Harbord that "we have no thought of slowing down." No proper answer will result.

Before Harbord spoke, plans for relief ranging from legislation of four billion dollars to discount of commercial pa
