SWIFT COMPANY Produce Plant advertisement with illustration of a truck.

Daily Cash Market

Through 1932, as in former years, Swift & Company has maintained its automatic cash market for farm produce.

More than 100 Swift & Company produce plants in the West and Central West have continued to buy daily the supplies offered.

At no time, in the territories served by these plants, have producers of poultry, butterfat and eggs been without a daily cash market.

Swift & Company has not had this year—has never had—any control over prices. The farmer's price is made by what the consumer can and will pay for the butter, eggs and poultry.

Posting daily quotations at its buying plants, Swift & Company is really saying to the producer: "Consumers everywhere, through their markets, are as much for poultry, butterfat, or eggs. Costs of transportation, maintenance and selling are not a millionth of these services, even deducted, the price paid here is about the same as the price you will get at your own market."
