Receipts from the gasoline tax were 3.3 per cent less the first four months this year than in the same period last year, while consumption increased in the first six months declined 5.7 per cent as compared with 1931, according to information given out by Seldon R. Glenn, of the state tax commission.

Collections from the gasoline tax were $54,615.7 more in the first four-month period of 1931, yet with the decrease, revenue totaled $1,-178.34 as compared with $2,491,023.51. Revenue collected from motor licenses totaled $4,600,014.69, the first six months of 1932, which was $245,-266.29 less than receipts from this source the preceding year when the aggregate collections reached $4,245,-310.98.

A reduction in revenues from the gasoline tax and motor licenses is expected," said Commissioner Glenn. "It is gratifying that the decrease is no greater than had been anticipated. I regard it as remarkable that the tax has remained as high as it has when tax collections from this source reached the record peak it did. It indicates that general economic conditions in the state are not as bad as some may think."

The highway construction program, which is financed primarily by these revenues, will not be adversely affected unless there is a substantial, possibility of a curtailment in income was taken into consideration.

COLONELS ARE COSTLY

Democrats To Fight For Republican States Vote

Democracy will concentrate main forces in big state this fall on certain states that have gone Republican in recent years, Democratic National Chairman Farley announced today.

Frequently in Democratic campaigns in the past the electoral votes of such states have been conceded to the enemy, and all the campaign fire has been directed to the doubtful states which for more than a decade have been safely Democratic.

Chairman A. Farley national chairman, made it clear Saturday, however, that strategy will not be followed this time.

States in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Southern Michigan and New Hampshire, which rarely go Democratic in presidential contests will receive just as much attention as any others, he said.

Lions Club Speaker Says We Have No Depression

J. B. Napier, national organizer, who installed the local Lions Club, addressed the club at their weekly meeting Tuesday night.

Mr. Napier has been organizing in Georgia for the last six months and assured local Lions that was true in a region particularly blessed during the depression. He said evidences of this would be found in the prosperity by those living where he had been working very evident to the traveler as soon as he reached Berea in coming up from the South.

Conditions in the South, where folk are dependent upon cotton mainly, are such as to make people in this section admit, could they visit in that section, that we have had no hard time here, he said. Mr. Napier disclosed activities of the Lions Club throughout the South to foster a back-to-the-soil movement which the speaker said he believed was the only means of stabilizing conditions getting the farm people who rushed to the cities attracted by high wages a few years ago, back to the farm, where they may become self-supporting.

Mr. Napier left Wednesday for Flemingsburg where he hopes to organize a Lions Club.

Cost Of Government Has Grown From $2 To $38.60

The necessity of carrying out the provisions of the Democratic democratic platform, which advocates a drastic reduction in annual expenditures to effect a saving of not less than 25 per cent is emphasized by figures showing the cost of government presented by Representative John W. Flannagan, Jr., of the Fifth District of Virginia.

The figures are as follows:

In 1800 our population was 5,308,-483 and the ordinary expenses of Government $10,786,673, which is approximately $2.03 per person.

In 1820 our population was 11,-128,328 and the ordinary expenses of Government $13,837,229, which is approximately $1.42 per person.

In 1850 our population was 23,191,-876 and the ordinary expenses of Government $39,943 as Rockcastle county is the result of being bitten by a copperhead snake.

BIBLICAL TREES IN FLEMING

R. W. Helphenstine, of Goddard, Fleming county, has on his farm a grove of Biblical trees, "Balm of Gilead." These trees are not long lived, but grow quickly and leave seedlings from which other trees grow. The buds of the trees are said to have a curative and soothing effect and are used for salves for household remedies, being an effective cure for boils. Mr. Helphenstine can not remember when the trees were not on the place, nor does he know from whence the original trees came.

Red Cross Assistance Will Be Slight In Winter

Because of required treasury economies the funds to be appropriated by congress for the Red Cross will be greatly reduced, and the organization will not be able to do as much relief work as in the past, Chairman Payne announced today.

Payne said he expected the Red Cross would be able to provide enough funds to meet the needs of the unemployed in the winter of 1932-33, but that the organization would not have enough money to provide for the unemployed and the drought victims as it did last winter.

Payne said he would ask congress for $10,000,000 for the Red Cross next winter.

Both Parties To Participate In Primary To Select Nine Nominees

MANY ON THE BALLOT

Voters of Kentucky next Saturday will have the novel opportunity to select all of the nine nominees for congress instead of voting only for the candidates in their district. Both Democrats and Republicans will participate in the primary.

The nominees of candidates for Congress from the state at large was made necessary because of the fact that the redistricting act passed by the last legislature was declared void by three federal judges.

There will be twenty-seven Democratic candidates and twenty-two Republican candidates who will appear on the candidates for Congress, the Democratic ballot will contain the names of three candidates for United States Senator, nine candidates for United States Senator as Allen W. Barkley, incumbent, George B. Martin, of Middlesburg, and Dr. J. F. Wright, of Russell.

Congressman Fred M. Vinson, who was unopposed in this district for re-election, has drawn his chance with the other candidates, and it will be necessary for the Nicholas and other counties in his district to run a heavy vote for him in order to insure his nomination.

In order to prevent more than one candidate from a particular district being nominated, a provision has been proposed, as a result of conferences of legislators last week, which the present members of Congress would be supported by party leaders. The present Democratic members of congress are Virgil V. Gregory, Mayfield, First district; Emmett O'Neal, Louisville, Second district; Cap Carden, Munfordville, Fourth district; Glover H. Cary, Thomas, Fifth district; Virgil M. Chapman, Paris, Sixth district; Fred M. Vinson, Ashland, Seventh district; A. J. May, Prestonsburg, Eighth district. The new Ninth district which contains Louisville, and the new Ninth district, which contains many mountain Republican counties and the counties of Bell, Harlan and Gibraltar, at the present time have Republican candidates.

No, more than nine candidates for Congress must be voted for on either the Democratic or Republican ballot, as a vote for more than nine on either ballot will spoil the ballot.

Nicholas county citizens should go to the polls and help select a ticket which will no doubt all be carried to victory in the November election.

Mrs Bertha Westfall, County Clerk, Saturday morning received from Miss Sarah Mahan, Secretary of State, a certified list of candidates which will be placed on the ballot.

Democratic congressional candidates are: Ben Bannon, Louisville; John Young Brown, Lexington; Gregory Bare, Pineville; C. H. Carden, Munfordville; Glover H. Carr, Owensboro; Carol H. Crecelius, Paducah; Virgil Chapman, Paris; Frank D. Good, Shelbyville; Virgil Gregory, Mayfield; Finley Hamilton, London; A. J. May, Prestonsburg; B. Mason Riddell, Paul Meredith, Leitchfield; Sam D. Morris, Frankfort; Charles H. Morris, Frankfort; Richard C. Northcutt, Grayson; W. Pfeiffer, Louisville; J. P. (Granny) Reed, Pineville; N. Gray Rockwell, Louisville; Benjamin H. Rowe, Louisville; W. O. Smith, Central City; Brent Spence, Ft. Thomas; R. Leland Taylor, Louisville; Dr. L. L. Terrell, Corbin; Fred M. Vinson, Ashland, and Logan C. Wright, Corbin.

Republican congressional candidates are: B. B. Adams, Mayfield; Hugh H. Asher, Wasiolo; Robert Blackburn, Lexington; Dr. Ben L. Bruner, Lexington; W. K. Elliott, Pikeville; George P. Hinton, Ashland; S. C. Ferguson, Prestonsburg; Adolph Graves, Lexington; William Lewis, London; Bamford M. Manning, Cynthiana; Dr. B. Bruce Mahan, Louisville; D. E. McClure, Elizabethtown; J. Lincoln Peak, Pretonsburg; George Rummans, Middlesboro; Walter L. Phillips, Louisville; Walter T. Prince, Frankfort; Ben Russell, Bowling Green; Frank Rust, Louisville; Hillard Smith, Hindman; Trumbo Snedegar, Gwinnsville; Marion B. Thatcher, Louisville, and J. B. Wise, Brandenburg.

The secretary of state certified the following candidates for the democratic nomination: Governor: W. Barkley, Paducah, incumbent; George B. Martin, Middlesburg, and Dr. J. F. Wright, Russell.

BIBLICAL TREES IN FLEMING

R. W. Helphenstine, of Goddard, Fleming county, has on his farm a grove of Biblical trees, "Balm of Gilead." These trees are not long lived, but grow quickly and leave seedlings from which other trees grow. The buds of the trees are said to have a curative and soothing effect and are used for salves for household remedies, being an effective cure for boils. Mr. Helphenstine can not remember when the trees were not on the place, nor does he know from whence the original trees came.

BARKLEY MERITS OUR VOTES

(An Editorial)

This newspaper has a long record of party loyalty, a record certainly unbroken under the present management.

No one will question that fact, we think, nor do we believe our endorsement of a candidate in the democratic primary in this instance will weaken the faith which Nicholas county Democrats rightly hold that this newspaper will support the party nominees, whatever may be the result of the primary.

In urging Democrats of Nicholas county to vote for Alben W. Barkley, we have no criticism to make of his opponents. Both are good Democrats and excellent gentlemen. But The Mercury believes that the nomination of Senator Barkley is for the best interests of the party, in Kentucky and in the Nation.

We have the highest regard for Senator Barkley; we are impressed by the fact that he is nationally recognized for his ability, as evidenced by his selection to deliver the keynote speech at Chicago. We remember with sincere appreciation his tireless labors for his party in every campaign conducted in this State in recent years. We know him to be an able man, a plain man, the friend of the worker, whether in field or factory. We know he stands, as he has stood always, squarely upon the platform as declared by three federal judges.
