THIS, THAT AND THER

A PAGE FROM THE DIARY OF A COUNTRY EDITOR

On a night of final sleep bedridden by cholera, I thought of the old days when I was a boy...

And how I missed it these autumn days when I see the leaves falling from the trees...

What a lot of the old folks, bent and bowed, are still around here...

It is Up To The Grower In This Section. As the Mercury says it, whether Carville has a tobacco market or not depends upon the desire of tobacco growers...

Help A Worthy Cause. The Mercury reminds us that Mrs. P. B. Van Biber, a former resident of this country...

'Shoes And Ships And Sealing Wax And Cabbages And Kings'

When I was a student at old Kentucky University near Transylvania I was once favored to read a letter from the famous humorist...

It is a little piece I like by the author of the 'Shoes and Ships' column...

THE CENTRAL BURGLAR. I have laid down some rules for the burglar...

Life. Under the title of 'Life' I have laid down some rules for the burglar...

My grandpa, wearing his house on his back, was a very old man...
