D. W. Booth For Magistrate

In this issue D. W. Booth announces as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for re-election as Magistrate from the Fourth Magisterial district.

Mr. Booth is completing his third term as Magistrate from the district, and has been elected by large majorities each term. He has devoted much time to the duties of the office and has been one of the most faithful members of the fiscal court. During his terms of office much road work has been completed in his district, especially during the past year of "Roadless" in the surbasement booster for good roads.

A landowner and taxpayer himself, Mr. Booth is especially watchful of the county's finances, and although progressive in his views, has always opposed what he believed unnecessary expenditures of the county's funds.

He is one of the leading Democrats of his precinct and is always a worker for his party at every election.

His long experience as a member of the court renders him a valuable member and if nominated and reelected he will not doubt continue to render the same faithful service that he has in the past.

R. H. Hamilton For Magistrate

In this issue Robert H. Hamilton formally announces as a candidate for re-election as Magistrate from the Fifth Magisterial District.

Mr. Hamilton has served as a Magistrate of the fiscal court for the past nine years, having been appointed to fill out the unexpired term caused by the death of the late Hunston Huntsfeller, and has been re-elected for two terms.

Mr. Hamilton is one of the most extensive and most progressive farmers in the county, and the business methods used in conducting a success of farming have been employed in his services as a member of the fiscal court. He is one of the most capable members of the present fiscal court, and will be greatly missed when termed one of the best in the history of the court.

His long service as a member of the court renders him a valuable member and if nominated and reelected he will no doubt continue to render the same faithful service that he has in the past.
