Cincinnati Terminal Has Many Diversions

It will be possible to spend a whole day visiting the Cincinnati Union Terminal after its dedication late this month without any lack of entertainment.

There will be a movie theater, a restaurant, a cafeteria, a soda fountain, toy shops book store, barber shops, a drug store and a post office for men and women, a main dining-room, several smaller dining-rooms and a lunch room.

The theater will seat 118 people and there will be a show on the hour and on hour at a time, but they will be "talkies" and not vaudeville shows and other short features, so that the railroad passenger who rushes away from a train will not be left wondering how the story came out.

VINSON AND BROWN ENGAGE IN VERBAL TILT IN THE HOUSE

Brown Charges Colleague's Speech Printed At Cost Of $225 To Taxpayers

ARGUMENT OVER VOTE

Two fiery-tongued Kentucky Democrats—Fred Vinson, of Ashland, and John Young Brown, of Hopkinsville—tangled in their debate in the House Monday over their votes on the administration economy bill and use of the Congressional Record for extension of their remarks.

House members were surprised but amused at the attacks and counter-attacks Speaker Rainey, "why the troubles of Kentucky should be aired here."

"Monday is wash day," Representative Vinson (R. Minn.) interjected to break the tension and cause members to laugh at the exchange between Democrat Representative Byrns, Tennessee, Democratic leader, made no effort to curb the debate.

The verbal bout followed a move by Representative Snell, of New York, Republican leader, to get an unanimous consent to put all extraneous matter from the Congressional Record. Byrns agreed to the request with the exception of that relating to the "Apple Sprays for the Home Orchard."

Brown said Vinson had inserted a five-page speech in the record at the expense of further time on the economy bill.

"I won't yield to the gentleman from Kentucky," Brown shouted.

"I am not going to ask you to yield," Vinson replied, going down into the well of the chamber to ask Speaker Rainey for time to answer.

Brown sponsored the Browning amendment to the economy bill, cutting savings to veterans to 25 per cent in the Democratic caucus, but after the measure was brought to the floor made a speech in favor of the original bill.

Referring to Vinson's remarks in the record, Brown said:

"He had a right to disclose what went on in the caucus."

Again Mr. Vinson took the floor and turned toward Brown to say: "I want to inform the gentleman from Kentucky that I am not going to cost the taxpayers a cent to get my remarks to the voters in my district."

Brown had charged Vinson with having had two speeches.

"His head is so big and his brain works so slow that he can't speak the language of the English language," Vinson said.

Inspector Files Report On Nicholas County

Nicholas county owns $130,000 in road and bridge bonds and $28,000 which are borrowed, a total bonded revenue, according to a report on the county's finances now with Doc Ruby Ladson by Nat B. Bewell, state inspector and examiner.

The county has cash of $54,800 in the sinking fund, has sold no bonds since July 1, 1932, has not defaulted in meeting any of its obligations and operates under a budget system. It pays the county official's salaries totaling $7,680 a year.

Mr. Bewell collected $3 from Paul D. Darnall, county judge; $4 from Hardy Myers, police judge, and reported $4.18 due from Mrs. Bertha Westfall, county clerk.

WASTE OF MONEY

(Jay Jay in Lexington Leader)

Two Democratic members from one congressmen! John Y. accuses Fred of wasting $225 of the taxpayers' money by having his remarks extended through five pages of the Congressional Record. Yes, and how much did it cost the taxpayers to keep the usual 433 members of the house idle while Fred and John Y. bitterly discussed Kentucky politics for 40 minutes? And how much, at $45 a page, did it cost to print their argument in the Record?

Mrs. Catherine Palmer, of Cincinnati, celebrated her own hundredth birthday by laundering her own linen.

500 Bushels Of Seed Potatoes

Garden Seed To Be Distributed Through Local Relief Committee As Part Of Relief Program

Approximately five hundred bushels of seed potatoes were received by the Nicholas county relief committee on Friday to be distributed as part of the relief work being done in this county through funds furnished by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Saturday, 13,800 pounds of fertilizer and a sufficient quantity of corrosive sublimate to treat the seed potatoes arrived here.

The potatoes will be distributed through local organizations formed in various sections of the county. Each family will be allotted fifty pounds of seed potatoes and sufficient fertilizer to grow them.

Other garden seed will probably arrive this week and will be distributed among the various centers. Only those families who are unable to purchase seed will be given the seed, and it will not be given out until the ground has been properly prepared.

There will be all probability be enough seed of all kinds for everyone who has registered with the relief relief committee and agreed to take a garden.

Two Candidates For Magistrate

George D. McLean Announces For Reelection In Second; Joe E. Whaley In Third

There has been little activity so far in the campaign for office, but two candidates having announced, both of them candidates for Magistrate.

A lively contest is promised for the office of magistrate in the third district, four having already announced, and the end of the week is announced in the Second district. Both Myers and George D. McLean are the present Magistrates who have announced for re-election.

Announcement is expected from the First, Fourth and Fifth districts.

Rumors have been current during the past week that several other candidates are considering entering various races, and before the campaign is over a probable that every office will be sought by more than one candidate.

In this issue George D. McLean makes his formal announcement for a candidate for the Democratic nomination for re-election as Magistrate in the Second Magisterial district.

Mr. McLean is serving his second term as Magistrate, and is one of the most faithful member of the fiscal court. He has been particularly active in caring for the needs of his district in the matter of roads and bridges, through his untiring efforts many of the roads in his district have been improved.

If nominated and re-elected Mr. McLean will no doubt continue to render the same efficient service that he has rendered in the past, and his long experience renders him a valuable member of the court.

Joe E. Whaley in this issue announces as a candidate for the office of Magistrate in the Third Magisterial district.

Mr. Whaley is too well known to the citizens of the Third district to need introduction. He is a veteran politician and one of the leading democrats of that section.

Mr. Whaley served several terms as Magistrate from that district, and has had wide experience as a member of the fiscal court. Twelve years ago he retired as Magistrate from this district to enter the race for the Democratic nomination for County Judge and was defeated for the nomination by a narrow margin.

During his long service as a member of the fiscal court, Mr. Whaley has looked upon as one of the most conservative members of the court, and has especially watchful of the county's financial affairs. He was always in favor of good roads in his district. He is a farmer and live stock dealer.

It was while he was serving as a member of the fiscal court that the first state aid roads were built. In Nicholas county and he is thoroughly familiar with the road problems of the county. If elected to the office Mr. Whaley promises the voters to render the best service in his power. If nominated and elected he will no doubt render satisfactory service to the voters of his district.

PAY CUT OF 15 PER CENT ORDERED FOR FEDERAL EMPLOYES

President Orders Slash To Become Effective Saturday, Approve Forest Crops

WILL SAVE $30,000,000

A flat 15 per cent cut in salaries of government employes and officers, administration permitted under the recent economy bill, was ordered Tuesday by President Roosevelt Tuesday to begin next Saturday. It is to continue until June 30, the end of the present fiscal year. What action will be taken at that time will depend on whatever change has taken place in the cost of living. The pay cut, made to aid the government in balancing the budget, was estimated to save $30,000,000 the remainder of this fiscal year, or an annual total of $120,000,000.

In ordering the new salary slash, the President automatically did away with the promise about by the furlough system put in force by the Hoover administration, and the slash results in 6 2-3 per cent reduction from the present pay of federal employes.

President Roosevelt's bill to put men to work in the forests passed through the Senate Tuesday without even the formality of a record vote and now goes to the House, where leaders forecast its approval. The Senate then prepared to tap the second part of the President's broad unemployment relief program, with a $500,000,000 fund for direct grants to states.

Passage of the Roosevelt reforestation measure marked the fourth of the President's emergency measures to get through the Senate this session. The others were the economy, banking and beer bills.

Under the terms of the bill passed Tuesday, 250,000 men, mostly recruited from the larger cities, will be given work on reforestation and other national improvement projects for one year. Applications will be made on the other days of the week.

The Reforestation Committee is composed of Arthur Mullikin, chairman; E. B. Kendall and O. R. Gaffin.

Bogus Economy Hit By Richmond

State Superintendent Says Selfish Interests Would Destroy State School System

"I accept the challenge of the selfish interests that are attempting to destroy the system of public education in Kentucky," said James H. Richmond, state superintendent of public instruction and chairman of the Kentucky Educational Commission, in an address at Richmond Friday before the county school superintendents assembled at Eastern State Teachers College in a conference on "The Crisis Facing Rural Education in Kentucky." Mr. Richmond's audience which included the student body of the college and many visiting educators filled the auditorium.

Speaking on what he termed "bogus economies," Mr. Richmond declared, "The real issue confronting the people of Kentucky versus retrenchment, but economy versus bogus economy. The issue is whether or not the policy of economy that restricts public education, ignores public welfare, and curtails the fundamental social agencies necessary to a well being of the people."

"The tremendous expansion in public school service in the past 30 years has been at the behest of the people, and wisely so, and it is unfair for the people to be robbed of temporary financial distress to destroy the work of a generation and remove from society the one agency capable of saving it."

"Selfish groups supported by some ignorant people are studious planning to cripple public education, subsidized newspapers and other publications are conniving in this movement." In this connection Mr. Richmond called particular attention to the Saturday Evening Post as one periodict contributing to this movement.

"Even some shortsighted, so-called educational leaders are aiding and abetting this sinister plan. As Superintendent of Public Instruction of Commonwealth of Kentucky, I hereby serve notice on such groups in this Commonwealth that their efforts will be fought and their selfish purposes will be foiled and run down the gauntlet and, speaking for the people of Kentucky, I declare that, we accept the challenge and accept it on behalf of the 700,000 school children in Kentucky who must be educated and must not be made the innocent victims of the stupidity of governmental and industrial leaders that have brought us upon these evil days. Today's children must be educated today or they cannot be a normation in education."

8,000,000 Gallons Oil 6,500 Carloads Of Stone

Requisition for 8,000,000 gallons of road oil and 6,500 carloads of crushed stone to be used in highway maintenance this year has been made by the State Highway Commission, according to Chairman Ben Johnson.

There are now 5,580 miles of road in the State Highway system, maintenance of which is the responsibility of the Highway Commission. Of this total of 2,360,403.64 was spent in 1932 in keeping these roads in serviceable condition.

There was completed in 1932 a total of 2,394 miles of road of various types. Construction was started and is now approximately complete on a varying degree on a total of 1,252.5 miles of road.

Expenditure for construction of roads in 1932 totalled $9,175,879.79. Of this total $6,776,476.15 was paid to highway contractors for construction, and $2,399,403.64 was spent for "force account" reconstruction. "Force account" construction is that done by state highway commission personnel with its own equipment.

It was pointed out that critics of the "force account" system have failed to assert that the commission is spending money unwisely or extravagantly in "force account" work. Fifteen dollars that of a total road building expenditure of $9,175,879.79 was spent for "force account" activity.

Mr. Knight gave many performances in the little interesting former productions as "Macbeth," "Holiday," "Let Us Be Gay," "A Doll's House" and "The Stoops to Conquer," in which last-named play he carried the leading role. He has a resonant voice and expressive countenance and those of Dominate Guignol patrons who witnessed his performance in "Once-in-a-Lifetime" will be glad to know of an equally clever characterization in "Death Takes a Holiday."
