I LIKE JAM

If, at forty, I must keep
Young and very slim and sleek;
If, at forty I must be
All these things unnaturally
Just to keep you true to me,
Life looks rather bleak.

I like liver of the goose,
Sup of crimson tomato juice.
Unlike crepes Burnette with jam
Why should I, for any man,
Live on pineapple and bran?
I like maple mousse.

If, at forty, all I am
Is a kind of clergyman
Straight lines here and curves ones there,
If that's really all you care,
Here's your bust, fat and there's the stair
I like currant jam.
