Louisville Man Confesses To Murder Of Sweetheart

Caught asleep in a house at Smithfield, in Henry county, James William Thomas, Jr., a jeweler, was taken to Louisville Friday and confessed, according to police, that he had shot his sweetheart, Alma Knight, former waitress and department store clerk.

The body of the 24-year-old divorcee, who went by her maiden name, was found Wednesday afternoon stuffed in a closet in Thomas' apartment in Louisville by the landlord who went to collect the rent. Thomas had not been seen since early Wednesday morning and was finally found him asleep at 4:30 a. m. Friday.

"I was crazy about her and worshipped her, but she was too fickle," Thomas told a group of police and reporters. "We were to have been married soon."

The story related that the couple were riding in his automobile on Eastern Parkway near Burnett street in Louisville and that the girl was shot in a blind rage about 1:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. He said he took the woman to his apartment after he felt "pretty sure" she was dead.

Thomas said he got Henry Carl Nickles, night manager of a garage near the apartment, to help him take the Knight upstairs to the apartment and that Nickles thought the woman was drunk and had her head in her head. Nickles had previously told the police about giving Thomas some explanation, and had been fined in $1,000 bond.

4,700,000 FAMILIES ON RELIEF

An estimate that 4,700,000 families are on the relief rolls was announced Friday by Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator. Further, he said, there are 4,600,000 a year ago and 3,000,000 in October, 1933. Just before the civil works began Hopkins said the increase since last October was not due to relief requirement, but merely showed that as time passed a greater percentage of the unemployed was listed on the rolls.

OFFICERS ATE EVIDENCE

When police officers eat the evidence in a case before the case is brought to trial there are no grounds for conviction, Judge Ben Reeves ruled in Fayette circuit court Wednesday afternoon.

As a result of the ruling a directed verdict of not guilty was returned by a jury in the case of Will Hawkins, negro, charged with chicken stealing. Testimony showed that members of the Fayette county patrol had eaten the six chickens which they had taken from the defendant when he was arrested.

FARM POPULATION HIGHEST

Despite the fact that more people left farms for cities last year than went from cities to farms, the farm population of the country is now 3 per cent more than a year ago. According to estimates by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics only 865,000 migration numbers more than 32,500,000 The increase the bureau attributes principally to an excess of births over deaths.

The number of persons who moved from cities, towns and villages to farms last year was 865,000, while more than 1,175,000 persons moved from farms to cities, towns and villages. Back in 1932 the largest number went the other way. That was the farmward movement that year totaled 1,944,000 persons. But the big boom movement 1,011
