State Farmers Favor Federal Corn-Hog Pact

Kentucky farmers, by an overwhelming majority, have voted for a continuation of the federal corn-hog program for 1935, and by a wide margin, although not so great as decisive, have voted in favor of a one-contract-per-farm adjustment program dealing with grains and livestock to become effective in 1936.

Of the approximately 24,000 crop-hog contract signers in Kentucky, 8,867 voted in the referendum on the program for 1935. Of this number 8,313 voted for a continuance of the program, and 654 voted against the continuation.

A total of 8,217 votes were cast by contract signers on the question of the single contract for all grains and livestock, with 6,857 favoring the one-contract plan, and 1,360 opposing.

THE FARM AND HOME

Sort out all cut and bruised potatoes, store them separately, and use them first. It pays to handle potatoes carefully, especially where they are to be stored for a long time. Storage ventilation is important, particularly for sweetpotatoes.

If milk is available, see that the laying pullets and hens have an abundance of it. Milk or meaty products should be fed in addition to corn or wheat, ovstershell or limestone, and grit. Lice or mites prove to be comparatively good this year.

Bean tips may be harboring millions of blue mold spores and cucumber mosaic virus may carry diseases that will live over to make gardening difficult next year. Many people now burn the remains of all old crops, and wreaths around the edges of the garden.

Long winter evenings are good times to make "the man of the house" help remodel and upholster stools, chairs, cushes and other furniture. There is much old furniture that could be reworked into beautiful pieces. See a home demonstration agent for suggestions.

All exterior metal parts of buildings made of materials which are subject to corrosion, such as gutters downspouts, tin roofs, flashings and exterior hardware, should be kept covered with a protective coating of paint.

Apples contain vitamins A, B, and C, and the minerals, calcium, phosphorus and iron, which are necessary for healthy red and white blood. They are high in cellulose they have laxative qualities and are easily digested. There is then really something to the old adage 'An apple a day keeps the doctor away.'

Crystal Star

By EARLE BOOK

WNU Service.

HIS name was Crystal Star. A very strange name, but I assure you the name was correct.

I had stopped for gasoline at Vesta, on my way to Los Angeles from Santa Barbara. As I was preparing to leave the station, I was approached by a queer looking individual. He was a tall, thin man with a pale face and a weird husky shock of hair which seemed to stand straight up. After his hair you noticed his steely gray, penetrating eyes, set in a rugged face. The face looked sad. You didn't know whether it was a happy one or a sad one. It still has me fooled. And his age: he might have been twenty-five or forty-five. Your guess is as good as mine. His clothes were very ordinary, but across most hitching-ers he carried several books under his arm. I knew what was coming, and prepared myself for a refusal, when he spoke.

"If it pleases you, sir, may I have the pleasure of enjoying with you the journey to Los Angeles?"

I looked at him. He opened the door, and started on my way with my strange companion. It was fully fifteen minutes before he spoke.

"May I introduce myself? My name is Crystal Star."

I acknowledged the introduction, adding: "This is very pleasant. Have not your real name?"

"Yes, sir, but since I shall ever have it on in a new world with a new life—"

"But why such a peculiar one?" I interrupted.

"Peculiar? You must think so, my father gave it to me in a moment of inspiration. He said I was going to be a star. Hence 'Crystal Star.'"

"You say you are in a new world? I should have understood it."

"I am a Russian. I have been in this country only five years."

"Only two years!" I said, puzzled. "But how do you speak English so well?"

"I have studied. I have worked very hard. I have been to night school here." His eyes were luminescent as he spoke, and his face was firm. I was enjoying with him his success. "I have taken a great kindred interest of your Northwest that I was too small. But he was small only when I was in mind. Then put me in your home and you said that I was only the means of support; yet I have never seen you. Why is that, sir?" I told them about my friends, they said I was spreading propaganda. But I was willing to return my knowledge for the knowledge they had of your country. They put me on a work job to break my spirit, but that only increased my will to learn. Then I went to Texas, who lives in the hearts of their friends. Everybody was kind to me. I labored and he turned to me. "For this reason I took the name about me."

I'm sorry. I must be humble in your sight."

"On the contrary, I am deeply impressed," I said.

Another fifteen minutes elapsed, and then he spoke.

"May I ask what are all those books that you have under your arm? You seem to treasure them dearly."

"These books are knowledge of women, children and animals," he said. WIFE AND FATHER OF STOLL KIDNAPER ARE HELD IN JAIL

Wife Says She Is Afraid Of Fugitive Husband Who Is Hunted

THINK CAPTURE NEAR

Mrs. Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., indicted for the robbery of Mrs. Alice Speed S.ll, Monday night announced that she preferred prison to freedom and appeals to her estranged husband, also wanted for the crime, as she awaited arraignment in federal court at Louisville Tuesday.

Mrs. Robinson is being held in the Jefferson county jail in default of $50,000 bond. Saying no effort would be made to have the bail reduced, Clem W. Huggins, attorney for Mrs. Robinson, said "she is safer in jail." He explained his client feared death at the hands of her fugitive husband.

Mrs. Robinson's father-in-law, Thomas H. Robinson, of Nashville, Tenn. was also indicted in connection with the kidnaping of Jake Stoll and was released at Nashville on $25,000 bond. Both will be tried in federal court.

October 20 has been tentatively set as the date for the trial of Mrs. Robinson and her father-in-law.

Pretrial sparring for the grand jury week have staged a battle-wide man hunt for Thomas J. Robinson, Jr. who kidnaped Mrs Stoll and held her in Indianapolis for six days. He is now enjoying with him his recent bride, the former great banker daughter of your Northwest that I was too small. But he was small only who is small in mind. Then put me in your home and you said that I was only the means of support; yet I have never seen you. Why is that, sir?" I told them about my friends, they said I was spreading propaganda. "Pretty Boy" Floyd Slain By Officers

Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, terrorized by the federal government as Public Enemy No. 1 since the death of Dillinger, was shot and killed on the farm of Ruby Coleman Conkle late Monday as he fled from a group of federal agents, commanded by Melvin H. Purvis. The agents were cruising through the woods searching for Floyd when they observed the desperado talking to two farmers. Floyd leaped from a car, with a revolver in his hands, but was shot down.

Floyd and Adam Richetti, another desperado, were surrounded by federal agents near Wellsville, Ohio, Saturday. Richetti was captured but Floyd escaped after being wounded.

Floyd, a native of Oklahoma, was one of the most notorious outlaws of the Southwest. He was charged with at least seven murders and more than a score of bank robberies and kidnapings. Upon several occasions he had narrow escapes from death at Floyd during running gun battles, but he only laughed and spoke of them. "The law'll never be able to be even a bullet-proof vest.

Melvin O. Purvis, the slim 31-year-old department of justice agent who killed Floyd, laid the trap and participated in the slaying of Dillinger. He is now engaged in tracking down the Hamm, Robinson, kidnaper of Mrs. Stoll in Louisville.

To Announce Plans Soon For 1935 Corn-Hog Signup

Following an approval of the corn-hog program by farmers throughout the nation voting in the recent poll, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced that it will make public its 1935 plan about November 1.

The High Cost Of Fishing In The U. S.

An estimated $115,266,370 was the amount that disciples of Izaak Walton spent on the sport of fishing during 1932, or an average of $12.14 for licenses, boats, transportation, guides, boat hire, live bait, boots, or hotel accommodations and lodging, according to a report to the Louisville district office of the United States Department of Commerce. Of this amount it is estimated that each fisherman contributed approximately $1.50 each for tackle, rods, lines, reels, flies, plugs, spinners, landing nets, baskets, minnow-seines and other equipment. About $1,775,370 was contributed by the 178 fishermen as fees for fishing licenses. Transportation, boat hire, guides, live bait, boots, etc., hotel accommodations and lodgings account for another large expenditure estimated at $10,000,000, or $10.33 per angler per angler.

Seventeen of the 82 known chemical elements have not yet been found in the free state.

Health Officer Assumes Duties

Dr. E. W. Atherton, of Hardinburg, Breckinridge county, arrived here last week to assume his duties as director of the Nicholas county health department.

Dr. Atherton will succeed Dr. J. C. McGuire, who resigned several weeks ago to accept the position as director of the health department of Pulaski county. Since the resignation of Dr. McGuire, Miss Mabel Whitehead, public health nurse has been in charge of the health department.

Dr. Atherton is a native of Livermore, McLean county, but had practiced his profession at Hardinburg since graduation of the medical college of the University of Tennessee at Memphis.

Local Care For Needy Is Hinted By Wilcox

The federal government soon will expect local communities to care for persons who are on relief rolls and who are not able to work, it was indicated by Thornton Wilcox, Louisville state administrator for the FERA, in a conference with Lexington and Fayette county officials Friday.

The state administrator advised authorities that "federal funds are intended for unemployment relief, but there are many on relief rolls who do not represent unemployment cases."

"In 120 counties of Kentucky there are persons who cannot work but who are on federal relief rolls. Such persons will be cared for out of relief cases in the state," he said.

Mr. Wilcox announced that he was not going to be arbitrary about the matter, but told the officials that he wanted to submit the problem to them and that he hoped that by November 1 they would work out some plan whereby the city or county or both would handle the relief cases not classified as unemployment cases.

If the local governments do not work out some plan to handle the problem by November 1, the federal government will cut off relief from the unemployment cases on that date, he further said, but continue relief to the employables.

Mr. Wilcox explained that there were many persons who, as a result of advanced age, disease, deformity or other handicaps, were unable to work. "Most of the indigent cases of this type have not been affected by the depression," he said. "By and large these cases constitute a traditional dependent class not affected by economic depressions."

Barkley Will Make Long Campaign Tour

Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, has been drafted by the Democratic National Committee to take the brunt of speaking engagements during the closing of the congressional senatorial campaign.

His tour, beginning this week, probably will carry him through Vermont, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and possibly Michigan, after which he will make several speeches in Kentucky.

The National Committee had asked the Senator also to speak in Illinois, Nebraska, Missouri and New Mexico, but having just recovered from a severe attack of illness, the Senator felt that the itinerary should be curtailed.

The most striking item on the proposed schedule is that showing Vermont as Democratic campaigning territory. For the first time, Democratic leaders have set out to try to elect a Senator in that granite-Republican State.

Water Found At Blue Licks Has Some Medicinal Value, State Chemist Says

That the water from the well recently drilled at the Blue Lick Battleground State Park is "a mild alkaline, saline, sulphureted mineral water which should possess some medicinal properties when used for drinking purposes" is the conclusion reached by Agricultural Experiment Station chemists following analysis of a 5-gallon sample of the water, sent in by W. J. Curtis, custodian of the park.

Following, in the first column, is the analysis as made by chemists at the Experiment Station:

	Grains per Gallon	Parts per Million
Silica	0.43	7.35
Iron oxide	0.01	0.17
Alumina	0.00	0.00
Calcium carbonate	6.54	18.56
Magnesium carbonate	0.51	1.33
Barium carbonate	.72
Potassium chloride	1.99	10.85
Lithium chloride	1.40	.95
Sodium carbonate	7.90	83
Sodium chloride	65.69	967.25

Up n receipt of this analysis The Mercury secured an analysis of the water of the Lower Blue Lick Spring in Nicholas county, made in 1877 by Robert and A. M. Peter, chemists at the State College, from a sample obtained from Messrs. Hamilton, Gray & Co., of Maysville and shipped to Lexington in a barrel. The analysis in the second column above are from this report and show the old water to be stronger, particularly in salt, sodium chloride, though in the same column the new water shows a higher content in particular constituents.

Elements contained in the new water were found to be bromine, iodine, copper, zinc, boron, manganese and hydrogen sulfide.

Since the drilling of the well at the park, owners of the old spring property have brought in a well across the pike from the hotel, which is also a mineral water well, but has since weakened. As a fresh water vein was struck early in the sinking of the well, it is thought that this is shutting off the mineral water. Rather than go to the trouble of attempting to case off the fresh water, Mr. Grigsby informed The Mercury last Saturday that a new well would be drilled in his week and the fresh water, when struck would be at once cased off.

Striking of these two veins has led to the belief that eventually the vein of genuine strength Blue Lick, so long lost, will be discovered. That the waters already struck are of excellent medicinal value numbers of people who have flocked to the Blue Licks with jars, jugs and all manner of containers are willing to testify. Discovery of the full strength wa.er, there can be no doubt, would make of these springs one of the most famous wa.ering places in America.

That the well drillers are on the "scent" of the old vein seems certain. A representative of The Mercury was permitted this week to read a letter from D. E. Conner, civil and mining engineer, of Covington, who wrote Col. Robert Howe, in May 1886, in part as follows:

"The veins must and do run with the primitive rock formations (which is northeasterly and southwesterly excep. in such unusual cases where cross fifts lead them across the primitive formation, which are exceptions to the general rule. You can easily ascertain the bed rock surfaces nearby, one is prominent, and lengthy seams in the bed rock of Licking River and the cliffs and walls of rock in the neighborhood, then take the same course and direction and you will be sure to have the course of the lost vein. ... It might be a better plan to find the old vein at a point back from the spring before it reached the spring. It is evidently in reach of the bed rock surfaces nearby, one is right not have burst up across the river. ... Without some intervening accidental and hidden cause, the new spring should be northeasterly from the old."

Both the well in the park and that across from the hotel are in a northeasterly direction from the old spring.

MAPLE STREET WILL BE OPENED LATTER PART OF THIS WEEK

Three Blocks Of Main Street From Maple To Sycamore, Have Been Paved

MAIN STREET CLOSED

Favorable weather during the past week has enabled the Wilgore Paving Company to make much headway in the paving of Main street. The last concrete was poured on Maple street last Thursday afternoon and this street will probably be opened to traffic Thursday or Friday or at the latest on Saturday.

All of Main street has been paved from Maple to Sycamore, except one side of Main from Sycamore to the city limits is now being laid. Paving has been delayed somewhat during the past week by reason of the steam shovel not having arriving completed and installation of sewers and curbing.

The Carlisle-Millersburg road was opened to traffic on the bridge and traffic on this road has been heavy. Great difficulty has been experienced this week in coming into Carlisle from Main street. West Main street is closed to traffic, and traffic from here and other vehicles coming to Carlisle must go out Maple to Pleasant, Fourth road for about a mile and a half, thence to Main street at the Upper Jacksotown pike and come into town on Elm street. It has not been decided whether Wes. Main will be opened to traffic after one side is laid or paved on both sides and kept closed until completed.

End Main street will be closed to traffic because of the laying of Maple street. However access to Carlisle can be gained with little difficulty by using Eastern avenue and other streets. With the opening of Maple street so that traffic can cross the street, the closing of East Main will cause little inconvenience.

Million In State Warranti Called

Interest bearing warrants in the amount of $1,067,057.43 which were issued in the fall of 1927, have been called for redemption by State Treasurer Lee Huddleston, effective on the warrants will cease November 1.

Retirement of the warrants will be the first step in the 1935 program set on more than a million dollars. The call is for the issued block of warrants to be retired in the present administration.

CHURCH CONVENTION

There will be a one-day convention of the Maysville Christian church on Friday, November 16, beginning at 9 a. m. and closing at 9 p. m. The program will be announced later. Fleming, Lewis, Mason, Nicholas, Robertson and Bowan counties are expected to send delegates. Nationally known speakers of the Christian church will attend to promote the advancement of Christian unity in education, fellowship and missions.

TOBACCO CHECKS ON RENTAL PAYMENTS ARRIVED LAST WEEK

587 Nicholas County Farmers Receive Checks For Around $50,000

TOTAL IS OVER $100,000

Checks totaling approximately $50,000 were received by County Agent R. J. Matson last week for distribution among 5587 of the 870 Nicholas county farmers who signed tobacco production control contracts. The checks were sent here from the Louisville office and the remainder are expected within a short time.

County Agent Matson said he would notify farmers by card immediately upon the arrival of their check, thereby relieving farmers of the necessity of calling at his office until the checks have arrived.

The checks received last week were in addition to the $43,308 in rental benefit checks sent to contract signers last May.

Total checks totaling approximately $10,000 were also received by farmers of this county so far to more than $100,000.

The adjustment payment made to tobacco farmers is in addition to or one-half reduction in acreage and poundage for 1935 under the grower choosing between the two ranges of control. Ten per cent was allowed on the one-third plan and fifteen per cent on the one-half reduction plan.

Ross Is Elevated By State Masons

Local Man Named Grand Senior Warden At Annual Meeting Of Grand Lodge

Innes B. Ross, Carlisle, was automatically elevated to the post of Grand Senior Warden of the Kentucky Masonic Grand Lodge at the annual communication in Louisville last week. Mr. Ross had served as Grand Junior Warden for the past year and in 1936 will become Grand Master of the Grand Lodge.

Dr. C. P. Alderson, of Russellville, was elected Grand Junior Warden, the office which is always contested. Other officers elected were Hugh Moore, Danville, Deputy Grand Master; Judge James Garnett, Louisville, Grand Treasurer; Fred W. Hardwick, Louisville, Grand Secretary.

Thought to have eaten buckeyes, two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Hughes, of Springdale, Adams county, are seriously ill from poisoning. The girls, 3 and 10 years old became ill Sunday night and were taken to Maysville for treatment Monday. Although they are now much better, both are still seriously ill.

Tax May Bring County $23,200

Figures Compiled By Tax Reduction Association Based On Revenue Of $17,000,000

One-third of the total revenue derived from the sales tax goes to the counties in quarterly payments beginning November 15, 1934. Pending the issuance of an official tabulation by the Sales Tax Commission, the Kentucky Tax Reduction Association has prepared a table showing the estimated amount of money each county will receive out of the total distribution of $4,000,000, assuming the total collections during the tax year to be $12,000,000 a year. The association estimates that the total amount of revenue raised in the state for the year will be twelve million dollars.

According to the estimate Nicholas county will receive $23,200, or 58 cents out of each dollar distributed. The 58 cents distribution out of each $100 collected is constant and does not depend upon the amount collected. It is derived from the following distribution, arrangement stated in the law: (a) One-third on the basis of area; (b) one-third on the basis of population; (c) one-third equally to each of the 120 counties.

The purpose for which this money shall be used is directed by law to be: (1) Principal and interest on road and bridge bonds; (2) Sinking fund incidents incurred in the construction of and maintenance of roads and bridges; (3) Construction and maintenance of roads.

The fiscal court in each county is authorized to direct the expenditure of money subject to the re-a.rictions set out in the law.

Many counties will receive more money from the sales tax than the total amount of revenue derived from local sources.

Merchants Donate Pure-Bred Gilts

Four Duroc-Jerseys To Be Given Outstanding Members Of Future Farmers Club

Four pure-bred Duroc-Jersey gilts will be given to outstanding members of the Future Farmers Organization through gifts made by Carlisle business men and river counties, it was according to plans completed by G. B. Leonard, teacher of vocational agriculture in the city school.

The gilts will be purchased from Mr. D. Hall, Harrodsburg, and will weigh between 175 and 200 pounds. They will probably be brought here this week.

Under the plan worked out, the boys who receive the gilts will turn back to the club chapter during the next year a pig of about the same size as that given him. By this method, each year there will be four gilts to distribute to the outstanding boy in the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes of the Future Farmers Organization.

The Future Farmers have inaugurated a magazine and newspaper subscription contest, and the boy in each class making the most subscriptions will receive a gift. The contest is now in progress. The magazines for which subscriptions are being solicited are the Saturday Evening Post, Country Gentleman and Ladies Home Journal, and The Carlisle Mercury.

The gilts will cost $15 each, and the following local concerns, contributed for their purchase: Carlisle banks, $15; Carlisle Lions Club, $15; Carlisle Bottling Works, $7.50; Mahan's Pole & Co., $7.50; Carlisle Mercury, $7.50; R. T. Kirkland & Co., $3.75; McQuitty Bros. & Simms Garage, $3.75.

This is a new plan here, and should create more interest among the boys in the production of better hogs. DAMAGES OF $19,175 AGAINST WAREHOUSE CO. SOUGHT BY DAY

Former Manager Of Warehouses Alleges Warehouse Company Broke Contract

MADE MARKET, CLAIM

Suit asking damages of a total of $19,175 has been filed in the Nicholas circuit cour, by J. A. Day, of Paloncbura during the Farmers Tobacco Warehouse Company, alleging breach of contract by the warehouse company.

The plaintiff, in his petition alleges that the warehouse company leased to him the tobacco warehouse here for a period of five years, with an option of five more years, beginning October 8, 1932. An obligation of the contract was that Day have representatives of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company and other leading buyers on the market here for the Burley selling season, the contract to be void upon his failure to do so. The petition alleges that Day made an unsuccessful effort to obtain buyers from these companies and informed the board of directors before the opening of the season, and that the board agreed to waive that clause of the contract.

The petition sets out that Day operated the warehouse here successfully and established a profitable market in 1932-33, and that he had every reason to believe that the market in 1933-34 would be more successful and that he spent considerable time in arranging for the market. He alleges that the warehouse company broke the contract.

It is alleged that Day would have made a profit of $4,000 by operation of the warehouses in 1933-34, which amount he seks as damages. He also saks an additional sum of $2,000 for each year covered by the contract, making a total of $15,000, and $175 for expenses incurred in soliciting tobacco.

The petition asks that the defendant company be ordered to fulfill the contract by turning over to him the warehouse property here and that up to their failure to do so he be paid $2,000 per year for each year of the contract.

A. H. Barker and Conley & Mc-Cartney are attorneys for the plaintiff.
