THIS THAT AND TOTHER
A PAGE FROM THE HEART OF A COUNTY EYE

(Reproduced by request from the issue of September 20, 1934.)

It's a queer business and a very old one in this part of the world. I have mentioned to you before that I had a very good idea of how the condemned man must feel and wonder how it is that such a man can be so brave. I had a very good idea of how the condemned man must feel and wonder how it is that such a man can be so brave.

What is the yardstick for a cigarette...

The mildness for one thing—how does it measure up for mildness? Checkers are milder—not fat or insipid, of course, but with a pleasing flavor.

They take taste for another thing—does it have plenty of taste? Checkers taste better—not strong, but right.

In other words, they satisfy—they're yardstick for a cigarette.
