The Heart of Hollywood

By THAYER WALDO

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

THE arc lamps circled and the music played and twelve thousand people seethed around. Half an hour still before the picture would begin; thirty minutes more of glare and blare and babble, then another Garnheim's Arabian theatre premiere would be history. I stood on the fringe of the crowd, watching and listening to it all.

Out in front of the forecourt there was suddenly a commotion. Into the hanging microphone the voice of the announcer near me cries:

"Here it is, ladies and gentlemen—the big moment everyone's been waiting for. Miss Sylvia Malvern, the lovely star of tonight's picture, is just arriving. In a minute we'll have her here to say a few words to you."

Up the narrow cleared passage from the curb Sylvia made her glittering way. Jewels, fur, and her flashing smile created a picture of dazzling, if overdone, charm. As she passed a few feet from me I became aware of someone at my elbow, squirming and pushing forward. I glanced sideways with a scowl—and hardly stifled an explosion of mirth at what I saw.

There beside me stood a short, squat man whose face was the most absurd concoction of features I have ever looked upon.

I'd just gotten the full startling impression when, to my further astonishment, he grinned and waved at Sylvia Malvern. Moreover, she returned it with a gracious nod. Then she had passed on and I became aware that the fellow was regarding me, his blissful smirk still active.

"Gosh!" he exclaimed in a gurgling voice. "Ain't she grand?"

"Sure is!" I agreed heartily. "Do you know her?"

He bobbed assent and the pop eyes rolled happily.

"Oh, yeah—she's my best friend, really. 'Course I only met her couple o' weeks ago, but now it seems almost like we'd known each other always."

The perfect satisfaction in his tone decided me. I told him:

"That's certainly fine! I've wished for years I could meet her myself. How did you manage it?"

"Well, guess I was just kinda lucky. But it was awful important to me; maybe that helped. I think y' get 'most anythin' y' want bad enough."

"I went to movies a lot 'cause it was dark in the theaters and—well, I liked 'em. One day 'bout a year ago I first saw Sylvia—Miss Malvern, that is—and right off I was crazy about her. Her face was so pretty and [illegible]

FATE OF HAUPTMANN IN HANDS OF JURY AS LONG TRIAL ENDS

Closing Arguments Made By Attorneys Tuesday After Six Weeks Trial

HIGHLIGHTS ARE GIVEN

Closing arguments in the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, charged with the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., on the night of March 1, 1932, were made Tuesday and the case was given to the jury late Tuesday afternoon after a trial lasting six weeks.

Following are the highlights in the trial:

First week, Jan. to 4—Colonel Lindbergh identified Hauptmann's voice as one he heard in cemetery ransom meeting; Anne Morrow Lindbergh identified the sleeping suit her baby wore when he was stolen from her crib.

Second Week, Jan. 7 to 11—Dr. Albert S. Osborn, state expert, declared all 14 ransom notes in Hauptmann's handwriting. Dr. John F. "Jafsie" Condon, declared it was Hauptmann who received ransom; a taxi driver picked Hauptmann as the sender of a note to Dr. Condon.

Third Week, Jan. 14 to 18—Corroboration of Dr. Osborn's handwriting testimony came from seven more prosecution experts; a model declared she saw Hauptmann trailing Dr. Condon while the ransom deal was on.

Fourth Week, Jan. 21 to 25—Arthur J. Koehler, wood expert, asserted material in kidnap ladder came from a lumber yard where Hauptmann once worked and from the attic of Hauptmann's Bronx home; Hauptmann entered general and specific denials on his own behalf after state rested and defense testimony opened.

Fifth Week, Jan. 28 to Feb. 1—Hauptmann's wife and three other alibi witnesses testified he was in the Bronx the night the Lindbergh baby was stolen; John M. Trendley, defense expert, stated the ransom notes were not in Hauptmann's handwriting; Peter H. Sommer testified he saw a man and woman resembling Isador Fisch and Violet Sharpe, the Morrow maid who killed herself, with blanket-wrapped baby at the Jersey ferry on the night of the kidnaping.

Sixth Week, Feb. 4 to 9—Defense introduced further alibi testimony and Hauptmann wood experts attacked a state contention that his tools were used in ladder construction and that part of the ladder came from his attic; a defense witness asserted she saw a woman resembling Violet Sharpe with a blanket on evening of kidnaping night. Another said he saw a man who looked like Fisch leap from ransom cemetery wall on night of payment; state and defense rested after prosecution rebuttal included testimony of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow to clear name of Violet Sharpe, one-time maid in Morrow home.

Income Tax Man Here On Feb. 20

Deputy Revenue Collector To Be Here To Assist Income Tax Payers

Collector of Internal Revenue, S. R. Glenn, announces that a deputy from his office will visit Carlisle, Ky., on February 20, 1935, for the purpose of assisting individual income taxpayers in preparing their return. Mr. Glenn says that the Revenue Act passed in May 1934 is in many particulars, different from the laws previously in effect, and that the base has been so broadened as to require many persons not heretofore filing returns to file this year. The exemption for single persons for 1934 is $1000.00 and married persons having an income of $2500.00 for 1934 are required to file a return also. He also calls attention to the fact that under most former laws the credit for dependents was based on the status on the last day of the year. Under the new Act the credit is allocated according to the number of months the dependency actually existed. Attention is especially called to the earned income credit under the Act of 1934. This in many instances is a great benefit to the taxpayer.

The Collector says that the many changes made cannot be explained in a short notice but that his deputy is familiar with the new law and is being sent here to be of real service to the taxpaying public. The service is absolutely free. Collector Glenn urges the taxpayers of this county to see the deputy and let him help them with their income tax problems.

2 WATCHES STOLEN AS THIEVES SMASH WINDOW AT PITMAN

Several Other Articles Of Jewelry Overlooked In Robbery Early Monday

$50 VALUE OF WATCHES

Thieves smashed a plate glass window in the jewelry store of J. M. Pitman on Main street about 2 o'clock Monday morning and escaped with two wrist watches, valued at $50. Several gold bracelets, compacts and other articles were left by the thief or thieves.

Night Policeman Leonard Cassity was attracted to the East Main street about two o'clock by two shots. When he went to that section to investigate, the window was smashed. When he found no one in the vicinity from which the shots were fired, and heard an automobile leave the public square, Mr. Cassity became suspicious and made an investigation, discovering the theft.

A local transfer company truck pulled out of Harper's Garage about the time the window was smashed, and it is believed the thieves became frightened and fled before other articles could be taken from the window.

Mr. Pitman carried no burglar insurance on his stock of goods.

Paris Child Is Shot To Death By Her Brother

Virginia Mae Hilke, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hilke, of Paris, was accidentally killed at her home late Monday night when a rifle which her 12-year-old brother, Richard Hilke, was handling accidentally discharged. Mr. and Mrs. Hilke, who were attending a picture show, found the body of Virginia in a bath tub when they returned. Richard had disappeared.

Richard was found Tuesday morning at the home of Walker Kiser on the Peacock road near Paris with a slight bullet wound in his left side. Mr. Hilke said the boy told him the gun went off accidentally. Frightened and grief stricken, the boy said he went into the kitchen and tried to kill himself, but the bullet struck a rib, causing only a flesh wound. After wounding himself, the boy ran from the house.

Mr. Hilke is connected with the Thomas Monument Works in Paris and is well known in Carlisle, where he has frequently visited on business

GOLD HOARDINGS

During the past year mattresses, tree stumps, and other caches have yielded enough hoarded gold to decrease the sum total of $35,000,000 to $35,134, according to Department of Justice figures.

At present there are 22 cases of hoarding under investigation or prosecution.

Laffoon To Urge Run-Off Primary

Governor's Announcement Follows Ruling Of Court Of Appeals That Session Is Legal

Governor Ruby Laffoon said Tuesday night he is in favor of a run-off primary election for the nomination of candidates for state offices and will insist that the Kentucky general assembly, meeting in extraordinary session, enact such a law. The statement of the Governor was made after the court of appeals had held that his order revoking the call for the special session was invalid.

The Governor said he was in favor of having the initial primary held in May and the run-off during the latter part of June. The two candidates obtaining the greatest number of votes in the original balloting would be the only candidates in the run-off. By such a method, the Governor said, a minority of the voters participating in a primary election could not nominate a candidate.

Informed of the Governor's plan, Lieut. Governor Chandler, who called the special session while acting Governor, said he favored a "wide open primary" and would not comment on Laffoon's plan until he could see the bill proposed by the Governor. Chandler said he had a bill ready which calls for the nomination of candidates of all parties in the regular August primary.

Tobacco Markets Close This Week

Practically All Markets, Except Lexington, To End With Sales Friday

Practically all of the burley tobacco markets of Kentucky will close at the end of the tenth week of sales Friday, with the exception of the Lexington market, which will probably remain open for two weeks or longer.

The Paris and Cynthiana markets closed Wednesday, Harrodsburg, Danville, Mt. Sterling and some of the other smaller markets of the state closed last Friday.

Sales on all markets last week were small, and the leaf sold brought an average of $15.55.

Sales reports show that during the nine weeks of sales, the ten leading burley markets of the state have sold a total of 134,715,177 pounds of tobacco for an average of $18.10. The same markets last winter sold slightly more than two hundred million pounds for an average of around 11 cents.

Two Men Escape In 100-Foot Fall

Joe Bishop And L. H. Sparks Have Narrow Escape When Machine Backs Into River

Joe Bishop and Lon H. Sparks had a miraculous escape from death Saturday about noon when the automobile in which they were riding backed over an embankment and plunged into Licking river near Parks Ferry.

The accident occurred at the new bridge over Licking river. Mr. Bishop, who was driving the car, had come off the side road near the bridge and stopped. When he started the motor, he attempted to put the motor in low gear but instead put it in reverse and the car backed over the bluff. The distance from the bluff to the river is probably more than 100 feet, and the car turned over several times in its rapid descent. The machine, a practically new Ford, was demolished.

Two women living near the scene ran to the river and assisted the two injured men to get out. Both were badly cut and bruised, but neither was seriously injured.

Mr. Bishop and Mr. Sparks were brought to Carlisle by S. T. Cameron, who conducts a store nearby, and were treated at the office of a local physician, after which they were able to return to their homes.

One of the largest gatherings of world war veterans ever held in Carlisle is planned for Saturday night, February 16, when a number of state officers of the American Legion and district officers will pay a visit to Nicholas Post No. 17, American Legion.

The meeting will be held in the Legion hall over the Farmers Bank and all members of the organization have been invited to be present.

The visitors who will attend are Mike Callas, Owensboro, state commander of the American Legion; Tom Hayden, Louisville, state adjutant; John R. Settle, Louisville, state promotional directors; Cecil N. Florence, Louisville, state contact officer; Hugh Lewis, Louisville, representative of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board, and Ratliff Baird, Mt. Sterling, district commander of the Legion.

The state officers will remain in Carlisle Saturday night and will attend a district meeting to be held at Flemingsburg on Sunday, February 17.

Pool Asks Opinions As To Sale Of Wool

The Kentucky Wool Growers' Cooperative Association has issued a request that the members express themselves as to whether they want to sell the pool's wool on the present depressed market or to hold it for a possible rise in prices. In previous years the association has sold all wool within the year in which the clip was shorn, but as a result of the decline in the market the 1934 clip has not been sold.

In a letter sent to the county agents, the association explains the situation and requests that its members announce what they want to do. The initial payment on the 1934 clip was made by the association several months ago when its members drew approximately 20 cents. Julian Adair, secretary of the association, says that if the pooled wool was sold now the members would receive a net price of approximately 25 cents. This figure would include the initial payment.

ESTILL TUCKER IS KILLED WHEN AUTO SKIDS, TURNS OVER

Clyde Hamm Injured In Accident Near Ellisville Early Saturday Morning

HAD ATTENDED DANCE

Estill Tucker, 22 years old, well known young farmer of the Blue Licks section, was killed, and Clyde Hamm, 22, of the same section, was injured when the automobile in which they were riding overturned on the Maysville and Lexington road about 2 o'clock Saturday morning. The accident occurred near the home of Estill Soper, known as the old McClanahan home.

The automobile, a Model A Ford touring car, turned over almost in the middle of the road. Hamm, who was driving, was unable to account for the accident. He said that he was driving at a fairly rapid rate of speed when without warning the car skidded. It turned over so quickly that he was unable to tell what had happened. Hamm said he either struck a rock in the road, a tire blew out or the steering apparatus became loose.

Tucker was thrown through the windshield of the car and his face and head was crushed. He died while being brought to the local hospital.

Hamm was brought to the Johnson Memorial hospital for treatment. He received numerous cuts and bruises about the face and head and his left shoulder was injured. His injuries are not serious.

The two young men, driving in Hamm's car, were returning from a neighborhood dance.

Tucker was a member of the local national guard unit and was an industrious young man of good habits. He was popular among the members of the local guard organization and in his community. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Royse Ball, and his step-father, Royse Ball, with whom he made his home.

Hamm is also a member of the local guard unit and is a young man of splendid character.

Funeral services for Tucker were held at the home Sunday afternoon and burial followed in the Mt. Tabor cemetery in Fleming county.

Dr. N. H. McKinney, Coroner, was called to the scene of the accident and conducted an investigation. The Coroner said he would hold a formal inquest later when Hamm is able to appear.

Two Flemingsburg Men Killed In Accident

Patrick McGill, 37 years old, garage mechanic, and Clarence Jones, 24, former employe of the State Highway Commission, both of Flemingsburg, were killed about 1:30 o'clock Friday morning when a wrecker in which they were returning to Flemingsburg plunged over a 15-foot embankment and overturned on the Fields Highway near Flemingsburg.

The men, employes of the Arnold Auto Company in Flemingsburg, had gone to repair a damaged truck and were returning to the garage when the truck overturned. Both were pinned under the car and badly crushed.

McGill went to Flemingsburg seven years ago from Butler. He is survived by his wife and a 14-year-old daughter. Jones is survived by his wife and a one-year-old daughter.

Youth Abducted, Robbed, Freed

Russell Honaker Forced Into Machine, Robbed, Taken To Fleming County And Freed

Russell Honaker, about 21 years old, farmer of the Upper Licks section of the county, reported to Sheriff J. Clarke Leer Saturday morning that he had been held up, abducted and robbed of $6.50 by two unknown men Friday night.

Honaker said he was walking along the road near Myers when he passed an automobile parked in a lane. A man was standing beside the parked car and asked him for a match, Honaker said. He gave the man a match, and was asked by the man to "stake me to a dime." Honaker told the man he had no money and started walking down the road. Another man backed the machine out of the road and the two men overtook Honaker, forcing him to enter the car at the point of a revolver. Honaker said he was robbed of $6.50 and taken to a point near Tunnel Hill in Fleming county, several miles away, where he was released.

Honaker was unabe to furnish Sheriff Leer with an accurate description of the men, as he said it was dark and he did not obtain a good view of either of them. They were driving a Chrysler coupe, he said.

EXHIBITS OLD ARTICLES

An exhibit of articles of wearing apparel, some of them probably 100 years old, in the window of Tureman's Pharmacy, has attracted considerable attention this week.

The exhibit includes articles such as were sold by the late Joseph F. Tureman, grandfather of J. C. Tureman, present proprietor of the store, when the elder Tureman started a store here in 1817. One of the most interesting of the articles is a tall silk hat of the style worn from 1800 and up. A pair of child's shoes, made of leather, but resembling the style of Dutch wooden shoes; a pair of women's shoes, made on a straight last, high tops and lined with kid, and a pair of leather boots complete the exhibit.

The articles were found in an attic of the store recently. Joseph F. Tureman started a general merchandise and drug store in 1817 in a building on the lot where the present Tureman store stands. The store has continued in operation continuously since that time in the hands of members of the Tureman family.

Airship Macon Falls Into Ocean

All But Two Of Crew Of 83 Are Rescued. Is Fourth U. S. Dirigible To Fall

The United States Navy dirigible Macon lurched out of control in mid-air about 8:15 o'clock Tuesday night, plunged 2,500 feet and sank in the Pacific ocean off the coast of San Francisco. 81 of the 83 navy men aboard the ship were saved.

Lieutenant Commander Herbert V. Wiley, skipper of the ship and one of the three survivors of the Akron tragedy off the coast of New Jersey, was among the 81 men picked up by rescue ships which were on maneuvers with the dirigible.

A sudden unknown disaster, possibly an explosion or disabled gear, sent the pride of the Navy's air forces into a sickening plunge into the fog-cloaked waters.

The giant cruiser was 785 feet long and was built at a cost of $4,000,000. It had spent 900 hours in the air.

This was the fourth dirigible of the United States to fall. On April 2, 1933, the U. S. Navy dirigible Akron crashed in an electrical storm off the New Jersey coast. 73 persons were killed and three survived. On September 3, 1925, the U. S. dirigible Shenandoah, wrecked in a storm in Ohio and 14 were killed. On February 21, 1922, the U. S. dirigible Roma, bought by the United States from Italy, crashed in flames near Hampton Roads army base and 34 were killed.

Sentence Of Two Probated

Woman Convicted Of Stealing Turkeys And Youth Convicted Of Larceny Released

Sentences of two persons convicted by juries in the Nicholas circuit court last week after they had entered pleas of guilty were probated by Circuit Judge James C. Dedman, acting under the provisions of a law passed by the 1934 general assembly, which provides that persons never before convicted may be paroled by circuit judges, except upon conviction for certain offenses.

Mrs. Nettie Dotson, of Paris, who was given the minimum penalty of one year in the Frankfort reformatory following her plea of guilty to a charge of complicity in the theft of four turkeys from the farm of O. C. Rankin last December was given a probated sentence. Mrs. Dotson's companions in the theft, Raymond Caswell and Jesse Smith, both of Paris, were given sentences of three years each and they were taken to Frankfort last week to begin serving their sentences.

Judge Dedman also probated the sentence of Allen Wilkins, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of breaking into residence of W. L. Hunter and taking several articles. Wilkins was given a sentence of two years in the state reformatory. Wilkins was a member of transient camp at Blue Licks state park.

Conway Smith, negro youth, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of stealing flour from the Carlisle Mill and Supply Company, and was given a sentence of sixty days in jail.

A jury trying Horine Ball, negro, charged with the theft of 96 furs from Roscoe Rule, was unable to agree and was discharged.

Court was recessed last Wednesday afternoon until Wednesday of this week, when Judge Dedman returned to hear several civil cases. The petit jury will return next Tuesday, February 19.

School trustees must visit schools within their jurisdiction under mandatory provisions of the school laws, Assistant Attorney General William R. Attkisson Tuesday informed P. W. Reynolds, of Phillipsburg.

COURT OF APPEALS HOLDS LEGISLATURE IS IN LEGAL SESSION

High Tribunal Holds Laffoon Had No Authority To Revoke Chandler's Call

PRIMARY LAW PURPOSE

The court of appeals late Tuesday upheld the decision of Judge H. Church Ford, of the Franklin circuit court, who held the legislature convened by Acting Governor A. B. Chandler is in legal session. By agreement among the judges, the vote by which the decision was reached will not be announced, at least for the time being.

The court of appeals held that the Governor lacked authority to revoke the special call issued by Chandler while acting as Governor, that members were entitled to mileage and per diem, and that the legislature was legally in session. Following the decision, Lieutenant Governor Chandler said the sole purpose of the session is to pass a compulsory primary law and when this measure is enacted or defeated the legislature will be adjourned.

Members of the legislature of both factions crowded to Frankfort Wednesday to attend the sessions.

The most stirring drama enacted in Frankfort since the turbulent session of the legislature which was climaxed by the assassination of Governor Goebel in 1900, has been staged during the past week.

While Governor Laffoon was in Washington last week to confer with officials concerning federal funds, Lieutenant Governor A. B. Chandler late last Wednesday afternoon issued a call for a special session of the legislature to convene at noon Friday for the purpose of passing a compulsory primary law.

Governor Laffoon, hurrying back from Washington, revoked the call as he entered the state Thursday morning, sending telegrams to all members of the House and Senate.

Despite the Governor's orders, a large number of Representatives and Senators, most of them antagonistic to Governor Laffoon, gathered at Frankfort and the legislature was called to order as per schedule.

Court proceedings were immediately instituted to test the validity of Governor Laffoon's revokation, and in the Franklin circuit court Monday, Judge H. Church Ford held that Governor Laffoon acted beyond his authority in revoking the order of Acting Governor Chandler.

Judge Ford's decision, announced two hours after arguments had been completed in the suit brought to untangle the most complicated political mixup in recent decades in Kentucky, was immediately appealed to the court of appeals.

Twelve Senators and 36 Representatives attended the three disputed sessions of the legislature.

Prize Taking Auto Is From Flemingsburg

A Metz automobile of the vintage of 1913, that chug-chugged many a time over Flemingsburg streets and Fleming roads, frightening horses and causing pedestrians to jump for their lives, won a trophy at the Philadelphia automobile show last month.

The car, which was the property of the Mrs. Emily K. Henderson family, was exhibited at the show by J. R. Henderson of Salisbury, Md. Mr. Henderson drove the car 200 miles to enter the show and was awarded the Philadelphia Record cup for driving an antique car the greatest distance.
