GRASS!

(Lexington Herald)

It seems that if Marie Antoinette had had the advice of a scientist appearing recently before the American Chemical Society she might with greater profit to herself milkmaster, and her subjects at the time have remarked upon that historic occasion: "Let them eat grass."

The scientist guilty of this curious proposal is Dr. B. C. Schnabel, of Kansas City, Kan. He says he says the people will not eat grass as do the cows. They are human food will be composed of cereal grasses, such as wheat, rye and barley. The human animal will not be turned out to graze, nor will he become an eater of hay for many ages yet to come, he a lotus eater, but he will in fact long grass in its natural state or dried and distributed as bales. The Kansas doctor says that the young grass of the cereals will be gathered and ground into meal. A pound of it will have a food value of from 206 to 500 per cent greater than that of spinach, carrots, lettuce and other vegetables.

But even in the good doctor's optimism there is no prospect that its front was will become our future food supply. There is, it seems, a catch. It is a fact with scientists. They will go as far in their imaginative predictions, but will go no further. In suggesting a meal on grass they have a ready gone too far!

THE CARLISLE MERCURY

VOLUME LXXIX. ESTABLISHED 1867 CARLISLE, NICHOLAS COUNTY, KY., THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1935 PUBLISHED WEEKLY NUMBER 21

"FOREST RETREAT" IS BEING RESTORED TO ORIGINAL STATE

Dr. And Mrs. Edie Asbury Repairing Old Home of Governor Metcalfe

WILL BE SHOW PLACE

"Forest Retreat," the old home of Governor Thomas Metcalfe on the Maysville and Lexington road at the intersection of the Carlisle road is being restored to its original state by Dr. and Mrs. Edie Asbury, of Cincinnati, who purchased the property at the commissioner's sale of the estate of the late Atty. Wiggins several months ago.

A large crew of carpenters, painters and other mechanics are at work on the property and the owners will spend several thousand dollars in restoring the property to its original condition. No expense will be spared by the owners in making this one of the show places of the county.

The entire interior is being done over and partitions that do not belong in the mansion as it was built are being removed. The beautiful old wide floors and carved mantels in the building are in excellent condition as is most of the wood work. Old plaster is being removed from the walls and new plaster is being put on.

The old front porch has been removed and a beautiful entrance is being built which is a replica of the original entrance. Dr. and Mrs. Asbury have secured a picture of the original home and an architect who is supervising the work having restored in every detail.

Dr. Asbury's father, Dr. W. F. Asbury, of Campbellsburg, is a native of Nicholas county, a brother of T. C. Asbury and Emery Asbury, of this county, and Dr. Asbury has frequently visited Carlisle in the past.

Dr. and Mrs. Asbury plan to make a summer home at "Forest Retreat" and are to be commended upon preserving this landmark. The home was built by Thomas M. Metcalfe more than 100 years ago. He constructed much of the home with his own hands. Thomas M. Metcalfe was probably the most distinguished citizen ever produced by Nicholas county. In early life he was given the soubriquet of "Stone Hammer," because of his fondness for using a stone mason.

Thomas, "Old Stone Hammer" Metcalfe became Kentucky's ninth governor in 1839, climaxing a career of public service that started in 1812 when he was a lieutenant under the state house of representatives.

Born March 20, 1780, in Nicholas county, Va., of poor and humble parents, he migrated to Kentucky at an early age and settled in Nicholas county. He attended only a short time and at the age of 16 was apprenticed to an older brother to learn the trade of a stone mason. After working hours he pursued his studies diligently and became a prodigious reader and grasped into memory a large number of volumes of law. He was commissioned as a captain in the militia and took part in the battle of Fort Meigs. While absent on the campaign, he was reelected to the state legislature, receiving the vote of all but 13 voters in his district.

From 1818 to 1827, Metcalfe served in the national congress, resigning from office to run for governor on the National Republican ticket. At the expiration of his term as governor he retired to his farm in Nicholas county, but soon was recalled to public life and in 1834 was elected to the state senate. In 1840 he was appointed president of the board of internal improvements, and in 1841 was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Senator Crittenden in the United States senate.

During all his public life, Metcalfe boasted of his service as a stone mason, and delighted in being called "Old Stone Hammer." He died at his farm in Nicholas county August 18, 1855.

No Ruling Made On State Liquor Act

Without ruling on the validity of the 1934 state alcoholic control act, under which Kentucky already has collected approximately $500,000 in license taxes, the court of appeals Friday dismissed an appeal from judgment of Mercer circuit court invalidating the act.

The appellate court, in an opinion written by Judge James Stites, declared it lacked jurisdiction in the case because the ruling of the lower court was "purely interlocutory and not final."

"The trial court sustained a demurrer to the petition and then proceeded to make a declaration of rights" Judge Stites wrote. "The plaintiff did not decline to plead further nor was the petition dismissed."

REFUSES TO BUY TAG

Dog Owner Arrested After Testimony Before Grand Jury

The entire session of the Nicholas county grand jury was taken up Tuesday, with investigation of dog owners who have failed to obtain licenses. It is said almost how many indictments were returned.

Clay Hatfield, who resides on the Clay Pierce near Myers, was arrested after he is said to have appeared before the grand jury, admitted having a dog and refused to buy a license. It is said Hatfield told the sheriff he could come and get the dog, but that he would do no such thing, and Hatfield will be tried in county court here before Judge D. M. Curry next Monday.

Up until noon Wednesday, Sheriff J. Clarke Leer had issued a total of 1,259 licenses. Sheriff Leer has announced that he will prosecute all persons found unlicensed dogs, as required by law.

Kentucky Allotted Seven Million For Road Work

Holding closer to a prearranged chart, President Roosevelt's 22-man program of relief and work has taken another step toward the goal of spending $4,115,546,500 to set them going.

The project covered a wide range of types in hundreds of localities and covered over the country.

Immediately after the White House announcement, the administrative chief, read an outline of projects in the following:

Bureau of public roads—$200,000,000 for highway, road and street construction; $200,000,000 for grade crossing elimination, and $100,000,000 to carry out previously incurred obligations.

The distribution of $500,000,000 for road work included $7,368,658 for Kentucky, distributed as follows: $3,726,271 for highways, roads and streets; $3,642,387 for grade crossing elimination and protection.

Veterans Urged To Observe Poppy Day

"Honor the dead and serve the living" is the message which the memorial poppies will bring to the people of Nicholas county on Poppy Day, May 25.

The distribution of poppies has been placed in the hands of those loyal, patriotic women of the American Legion Auxiliary. Through their volunteer efforts they will not only provide the inspiring services of the men who died in the poppy fields fields of France and Belgium. They also raise funds for the Legion and Auxiliary welfare work among those not called upon to die, but to sacrifice strength and health in the nation's defense, the disabled veterans, and for the families of the dead and disabled.

Every veteran and every patriotic citizen should buy a poppy on Saturday, May 25.

WORK RELIEF WAGES TO RANGE FROM $21 TO $42 MONTH HERE

General Work Week Of 40 Hours Per Week Set By President

WORKERS HERE BENEFIT

By executive order, President Roosevelt Monday night established wage rates under the $4,000,000,000 work program from a low of $19 to a high of $94, and ordered a general work week of 40 hours on an eight-hour basis.

The country was divided into four regions for wage purposes, with monthly earnings—which the President said would be "in the nature of a salary"—varying in each according to population density. Labor itself was divided into five types—unskilled, inffmentadic, skilled and professional and technical work.

Kentucky was placed in the third region, with Louisville, Cincinnati, Kentucky, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas and Virginia. Rates of pay in the third region are higher than in those states included in regions 1 and 2, but higher than in region 4, which includes seven southern states. In addition, pay rates will be higher in the rural regions than in the cities containing larger cities.

The executive order said that preference in the employment of workers shall be given to persons on relief rolls. It further said no person under 18 years would be employed.

Brief clients in Nicholas county who obtain employment under the new plan will receive an average of almost twice the amount they are receiving now, according to the schedule. Under the new schedule the monthly earnings of relief clients in this county would average as follows: Bath, $21; Boone, $21; intermediate and technical work, $42; Campbell, $21; Kenton, $21; professional and technical work, $42. The average monthly earnings of workers on relief rolls in Nicholas county at present is $11.95. Relief workers are now paid 30 cents per hour in this county.

Bowman Sentenced Upheld: Is Likened To Dillinger

Kentucky's court of appeals Friday upheld a sentence of death upon Curtis Bowman, 22-year-old Ohio desperado, holding it was not excessive, one for his predicament except hope.

A Mercer county circuit court jury had convicted and sentenced Bowman for killing Conner Franklin, 17, so he could use "speed."

Bowman has thirty days in which to petition for a rehearing. Should he not appeal or should the court reject his plea it will be on the date on which he must die in the electric chair.

Bowman, an escaped inmate of the Lima, Ohio, State Hospital for the criminal insane, committed several patent evidence was permitted in his trial and that the presence of armed guards prejudiced his case.

But the appellate court likened him to John Dillinger, and held he was a dangerous person, entitled to a dollar and a half and another person whose name tops the list.

Vague reports of someone in a distant town receiving hundreds of letters with dimes or dollars in them have been hinted, but, so far as we can learn, no one in Carlisle has become enriched by continuing the plan.

The chain letter craze is probably the latest which have been conceived by many Carlisle people during the past few weeks, the dollar letter made its appearance here during the past week and found, according to reports, a number of "suckers."

The dollar chain letter differs from the dime letter in that in the latter the sender requests that the letter personally "sells" the idea to another person, collects a dollar and mails it to another person whose name tops the list.

Two Cynthiana Youths Drown

High School Boys Lose Lives When Boat Capsizes And Sinks In Licking

Two Cynthiana youths were drowned late Saturday afternoon in a whirlpool below the Terry dam on Licking river at Cynthiana when their boat was caught by the treacherous undertow and capsized.

Our Palas, Jr., 17, and Martin Hunt, 18, who had left their homes a short time before with the expectation that they planned to go for a ride on the river, were the victims of the tragedy.

A negro woman who was walking on the dam heard the youths start screaming for help as the current caught their boat and started it whirling about the pool beneath the dam. The two youths drowned in water less than six feet deep, being pulled to their deaths in the undertow created by a sheet of falling water pouring over the dam into the pool below.

The bodies of both youths were recovered Sunday. Burial of both took place at Cynthiana Tuesday.

Palas, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Palas, Cynthiana restaurant owners, was a junior in the Cynthiana high school and was manager of the high school basketball team the past season.

Hunt was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hunt, of Cynthiana, and was a member of the Graduating class of the Cynthiana high school.

Clarence Pumphrey was awarded the contract to construct the new consolidated school building at Kiltsville upon his bid of $7,414 by the Nicholas county board of education, when bids for construction of the building were opened Saturday. Several bids were submitted, ranging from $11,313.65 to Mr. Pumphrey's bid, which was the lowest submitted. The new building will be constructed on the site of the present building. It will be of brick veneer and will contain four school rooms and auditorium.

The building will be ready for occupancy when schools open in September. The small one-room school will be eliminated as a result of the consolidation.

Dr. Morrison's address will climax the program of the day. The ladies of the Millersburg church will serve a delightful lunch to those present. The meeting will convene at 9:30 a. m.

Dollar Chain Letters Now Going The Rounds

Not content with the dime chain letter racket which have been operated by many Carlisle people during the past few weeks, the dollar letter made its appearance here during the past week and found, according to reports, a number of "suckers."

The dollar chain letter differs from the dime letter in that in the latter the sender requests that the letter personally "sells" the idea to another person, collects a dollar and mails it to another person whose name tops the list.

Vague reports of someone in a distant town receiving hundreds of letters with dimes or dollars in them have been hinted, but, so far as we can learn, no one in Carlisle has become enriched by continuing the plan.

The chain letter craze is probably the latest which have been conceived by many Carlisle people during the past few weeks, the dollar letter made its appearance here during the past week and found, according to reports, a number of "suckers."

Bowman Sentenced Upheld: Is Likened To Dillinger

Kentucky's court of appeals Friday upheld a sentence of death upon Curtis Bowman, 22-year-old Ohio desperado, holding it was not excessive, one for his predicament except hope.

A Mercer county circuit court jury had convicted and sentenced Bowman for killing Conner Franklin, 17, so he could use "speed."

Bowman has thirty days in which to petition for a rehearing. Should he not appeal or should the court reject his plea it will be on the date on which he must die in the electric chair.

Bowman, an escaped inmate of the Lima, Ohio, State Hospital for the criminal insane, committed several patent evidence was permitted in his trial and that the presence of armed guards prejudiced his case.

But the appellate court likened him to John Dillinger, and held he was a dangerous person, entitled to a dollar and a half and another person whose name tops the list.
