TO THE CITIZENS OF NICHOLAS COUNTY

A number of times I have been asked why I am taking so much interest in Mr. Rhea's campaign for Governor. I believe I can answer this question to the satisfaction of all.

A candidate for Governor should present to the people a constructive platform outlining the things for which he stands—telling them what he will do when elected to that office. Mr. Rhea has submitted to the people of Kentucky the most business-like program for the next four years. It is both economical and constructive.

I have always felt that a part of the business task should be spent on our site roads. In his platform, Mr. Rhea has pledged 30% of this to these roads. This has been given very little publicity by those who have conducted his campaign. A large per-cent of Nicholas County's population live on these roads, and this fact should be of vital interest to them.

We have for our Highway Commissioner a man who has already shown that he is interested and willing to serve the people of Nicholas County. He has promised that he will build three main roads in Nicholas County. One has already been started. The second will be started as soon as the Federal allotment for Nicholas County is received. This road will cross the entire County in a section where the most miserable roads are next to impassable. The third is in a section thickly populated and will reach very little if any better than the first. Think what these roads will mean not only to the people they serve but to Carlisle for many of the people living in these sections are now trading in neighboring towns solely because of road conditions.

Mr. Chandler says that he will support Mr. Rhea at once if he is elected Governor.

He has never told the voters how he expects to raise revenue, except a tax on whiskey, which would amount to very little. He has spent his time denouncing his opponent and criticizing the administration of which he is a part.

We can only judge the future by the past. In the 1923 extra session of the Legislature, Mr. Chandler favored an extra tax on real estate and tobacco. Surely both are already carrying more than their share.

I have been prompted nothing, and sensing that I have said or done in the campaign is because of my personal interest in Nicholas County. I want to see those whom I serve have all the advantages and share equally with other sections that have in the past been more favored.

Can the voters of Nicholas County afford to vote against their own interests? To my opinion, a vote against Mr. Rhea would mean just that.

LATE PLOWING

(Agnes Kendrick Gray)

In stark design against a golden sky
The plow and his master mount the hill.
Cutting the red clay furrows clean and true.
The evening air is still.

The sunset deepens into breathless light,
And while the western clouds dissolve and change,
The yellow moon at full floats up and borrows

Perhaps the plowman driving in the dusk
Is unaware of sun and moon and cloud.
Only intent that falling night shall find
The last field corner plowed.

Yet it may be he loves the sky that glows,
Like New Jerusalem's gold and pearl and rose,
I cannot read his heart—but this revealed
That he is plowing late.

Consider Rye The Best Cover Crop

Soil experts connected with the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station give rye first place among cover crops for Kentucky. It will grow on almost any soil, may be sown early or late, grows through most of the winter, and makes good winter pasture. It also is a fairly satisfactory nurse crop for young grass and clover.

Wheat and winter barley and winter oats are other small grains that make satisfactory cover crops, but generally are not considered as good as rye.

Dr. Pergrau points out that small grains intended for cover crop purposes only should be sown about a third heavier than when sown for a mixed grain and nurse crop. Lighter seedings should be heavier than early seedings.

Other crops sometimes used for cover purposes and in addition for pasture include crimson clover, hairy vetch, and the mixed grasses and legumes.

Crimson clover makes a heavy winter cover that furnishes a lot of addition to covering the soil it tends to enrich it especially when plowed under in spring.

Hairy vetch is also a soil builder and a good green manure crop.

The soils and crops areas at the Experiment Station are insistent on the value of cover crops under Kentucky conditions, to protect the soil from losses of plant nutrients by helping to control erosion and leaching.

THE CARLISLE MERCURY

VOLUME LXIX. ESTABLISHED 1867. CARLISLE, NICHOLAS CO UNTY, KY., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1935 PUBLISHED WEEKLY NUMBER 37

NICHOLAS REMAINS IN THE RHEA COLUMN BY NARROW MARGIN

Administration Man Carries County By Majority Of 82 Votes

JOHNSON EASY WINNER

Carrying ten precincts in Nicholas county, Thomas S. Rhea received a majority of 82 votes in the county, making a net loss of 411 votes of the popularity received in the August 3 primary. Mr. Rhea received forty-six votes more than were cast for him in the August primary.

While A. B. Chandler carried but seven precincts in the county and tied in another, he made considerable gains in the county, receiving a total of 1,036 votes, 411 more than received in the August primary. Mr. Chandler lacked but thirty-seven votes receiving as many votes as were cast for him and Frederick A. Wallis combined in the August primary.

Myers Station was the banner precinct for Mr. Rhea. In this precinct he received 91 votes to 42 for Chandler. This was ten votes more than received by Mr. Rhea in August, and one more for Chandler than he received in August. Other precincts carried by Mr. Rhea were Headquarters, Taylor's Store, Moorefield, Wilson, Bonnieville, Mt. Auburn, Nicholas Shop No. 1, City Building and Mayor's Office.

Mr. Chandler's banner precinct was the Fourth Ward, which cast 107 votes to 29 for Mr. Rhea. Other precincts which Mr. Chandler received a majority were Barterville, Beechland, Morning Glory, Rafferty's Store, Buzzard Roost, Prestonville, Mathias Shop No. 2, Sims Store, Myers and Carlisle No. 2.

The biggest turnover in any precinct was at Headquarters, the primary Saturday. Chandler received a majority of 42 votes in the August primary. Rhea carried this precinct by 26 votes.

Keen Johnson, popular Richmond editor, received the greatest support of any candidate in the county, polling 1,116 votes while his opponent, J. E. Wise, received but 694 votes. Mr. Johnson a majority of 726 votes.

Other candidates for minor offices in the county received the following majorities: Arnett, 317; Burke, 246; Mahan, 125; O'Connell, 263.

Counting of the ballots in this county was started at 10 o'clock Monday morning and thirteen precincts were tallied before the counting stopped at four o'clock. The remainder of the precincts were counted by noon Tuesday.

Chandler carried Bourbon county by a majority of 727 votes, and received the following majorities in other counties in this section: Montgomery 277, Harrison, 833, Robertson 117, Fleming, 1,120, Bracken, 178, Clark, 396, Scott, 1,044. Rhea carried, by three troops were sent Saturday, gave Chandler a majority of 4,720 votes.

A total of 2,196 votes were cast in Nicholas county on the ballots that were cast in the August 3 primary. The vote in this county was light throughout the state was surprisingly large. It had been generally predicted by leaders of both sides in Nicholas that the vote would not exceed that 45 to 75 per cent as great as that cast at the August primary.

Despite the large vote cast in the county, the balloting was unusually quiet and orderly and the disorders of any nature were reported from any of the precincts.

In most of the precincts of the county, a light rain, was in evidence, while in others the figure was approximately the same as in the August primary. Hafferty's Store, City Building, Bonnieville, Myers and the Mayor's Office showed the largest losses.

Corpse Of Junius Russell Taken From Licking At Camp Black Hawk Sunday

The body of Junius Russell, 21, who was drowned on Monday afternoon of last week, was recovered from the river Sunday afternoon by the undertakers after a search of several days.

The body of the young man was seen floating down the river by Wilburn Kenney, Clayton Kenney and James Crawford, of Myers, and they obtained a boat and brought the body to shore. Coroner N. H. McKinney was called and ordered the body turned over to the undertakers.

The body was brought to the undertaking establishment of Mahaffey, Potts & Company in Carlisle and because of its condition burial took place in the Mt. Zion cemetery Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock with short services at the grave.

Young Russell lost his life when he fell from a water gap into a swollen stream which he was attempting to cross near his home in the Milltown section. The swift water carried him into Licking river and a continuous search had been made for the body.

Russell was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell, of Milltown. Besides his parents he is survived by three brothers and one sister.

MAYSVILLE YOUTH IS ACCUSED OF SLAYING JESSE FINCH IN 1934

Harlan Howe Lodged In Jail 18 Months After Local Boy's Death

MONEY, CHAIN FOUND

After eighteen months investigation into the death of his son, Ollie Finch, of Oakland, Tom Howard, swore out a warrant charging Harlan Howe, 23, of Maysville, with the murder of Jesse Finch, 30, of Carlisle, who was found dead in a wooded in the home of Robert Mattingly in Maysville on the night of March 7, 1934.

Howe, upon whose testimony as the only witness to the shooting a coroner's verdict of suicide was returned, was placed in jail at Maysville without bond.

Finch died at the Haywood hospital in Maysville a few hours after he was found by a hunting party who stumbled the right side of the head with a revolver. The body was found lodged in the wall of the kitchen of the Mattingly home. According to the story told authorities by Howe, the two had been sitting in the kitchen together when Finch suddenly pulled a revolver out of his pocket and fired a bullet into his brain. It was claimed Finch killed himself over a love entanglement affair.

An examination of Finch's clothing after his death disclosed no money or jewelry and his father and officers believe that robbery was the motive for the slaying. Howe's father has conducted an intensive investigation since the death, refusing to believe his son had killed himself.

On the day of his death, Jesse Finch left his home in Carlisle with $65 which his father had given him with which to purchase horses in Maysville. The fact that all of this money and his jewelry was gone led his father to believe he had been murdered and robbed.

Several weeks ago Maysville police found a new thriller bill with the name of Jesse Finch written across one end with red ink in his own handwriting. The father, Ollie Finch, identified this bill as a keepsake which had been given to his son by an uncle, Morgan Finch, deceased. According to Mr. Finch, this bill was given to the proprietor of a restaurant in Maysville by the wife of Howe.

Recently, Allie Craycraft, of Carlisle, turned over to Mr. Finch a watch chain said to have belonged to Jesse Finch and which he was said to have been wearing at the time of his death. Craycraft said this watch chain had been given him by Howe.

Use Of Guardsmen As Peace Officers Legal

National Guardsmen, when acting as peace officers and cooperating with local authorities, have the right to enter any county in the state, Judge Gus Thomas, of the Kentucky court of appeals held on Tuesday in motivating a restraining order granted Sheriff T. B. Middleton in the Harlan circuit court to prevent National Guardsmen from acting in Harlan county.

The opinion was given in the appeal of Adjutant General H. H. Denhardt from an order made by Judge Ben Golden restraining the use of troops in Harlan county without the knowledge or consent of local authorities.

This Year's Rains In State Breaks Record

Mrs. Albin B. Kinkead, U. S. Weather Bureau observer at Lexington said that all Lexington rainfall records had been broken with the precipitation. Lexington has had more than eleven inches above normal and unofficial reports indicate records remaining before the weather records can be closed.

Not since records were started in 1872 has the Bluegrass experienced a dry week. The year's rainfall record at 7 a. m. Thursday was 34.96 inches. Normal for the entire year's rainfall is but 43.35 inches for Lexington. In 1890, a total of 61.26 inches of rain fell during the entire year, but only 49.37 inches had fallen up to September.

Wound Fatal To Walter Harris

Walker Williams, Colored, Charged With Killing Walter Harris

Wednesday Night

Walter S. "Free" Harris, colored, about 40 years old, was fatally injured about 8 o'clock Wednesday night when he was struck by a bullet from a 22 calibre rifle alleged to have been fired by Walker "Sandy" Williams, colored. Williams was arrested and lodged in jail in connection with the shooting.

According to a story told by Williams, he heard some one in a wooded lot near his home and fired a shot in the direction. He said he did not know whether or not he struck anyone, but that he heard sounds as if persons running from the woods.

At an inquest conducted by Dr. N. H. McKinney, Coroner, Thursday, Mrs. Harris, wife of the dead man identified this ball as a keepsake which had been given to his son by an uncle, Morgan Finch, deceased. According to Mr. Finch, this bill was given to the proprietor of a restaurant in Maysville by the wife of Howe.

Recently, Allie Craycraft, of Carlisle, turned over to Mr. Finch a watch chain said to have belonged to Jesse Finch and which he was said to have been wearing at the time of his death. Craycraft said this watch chain had been given him by Howe.
