and crippled children. Ask them if they had any fault to find with the law which put $21,000,000 in cash into the pockets of Kentucky growers of Burley tobacco, a law which enabled them to realize twice as much for their 1935 crop of tobacco as they received for that of 1934 and which brought them three times as much for their leaf as they were paid for it in 1931.

You might point out who are against us in this race—the Liberty League, which doesn't care which party wins so long as they get theirs. You might tell where the forces of privilege stand in this fight—the Mellons, the Ogden Mills, all the host of the rich and powerful who have fattened at the public crib and through the control of the government by graft for special privilege. You know what they did before we threw them out in 1932 and the people may reasonably assume that if entrusted with power again they will do the same thing.

This means that land upon which there has been a crop failure may be reclassified as soil conserving provided a soil conserving crop is seeded on it before September 1, and also that any idle cropland may be considered as soil-conserving if soil-conserving crops are seeded before September 1.

There also has been a reclassification of crops whereby small seeded oats, barley and buckwheat or spring-seeded grain mixtures grown in combination with or immediately followed by a legume will be considered soil-conserving during the year 1936.

State Fair Entries In All Departments Large

Kentucky's show window will mirror the panorama of Kentucky's agricultural and industrial life when the Kentucky State Fair and Exposition begins its sixteenth annual session in Louisville September 12th and continues through the week, it was announced here today by Secretary Ben Williamson. Entries in practically all departments are larger and better list of entries than all ever before have been received, it was noted in many years. In addition to the World Grand Champion Stake twelve other rich events, for saddle horses, harness horses and roadsters will be featured.

Five stock and other farm exhibits are expected to be received in the history of the Fair. Indications are that the attendance and participation throughout the Fair will be the largest and most successful since 1930.

Improved and redecorated grounds and buildings will greet Fair visitors this year. Several buildings have been made more attractive than ever, and many novel and unique exhibitions have been planned.

The admission price has been reduced to 25c for adults, and 10c for children under 12 years of age.

It is believed that the reduced state admission will do much to swell attendance figures this year. Season tickets which are good for the duration of the Fair will sell for only $1.00.

25c PENSION APPLICATIONS

Approximately 250 applications for old age pensions were filed with the local office up to Wednesday. All cases must be investigated, so no checks are expected here this week.

SO I'D like to finish the story of Lucky Lou. Remember? He opened up a hash joint on Fifty-fourth street? And he's got some come up and bet twenty dollars on an eight-to-one shot that Lucky Lou was going to win, an' they beat him for a hundred and sixty bucks, which is his life savin's bankroll. THE CARLISLE MERCURY

VOLUME LXX. ESTABLISHED 1867 CARLISLE, NICHOLAS COUNTY, KY., THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 1936 PUBLISHED WEEKLY NUMBER 34

LOCAL GUARD UNIT IS COMMENDED FOR WORK AT FORT KNOX

Is One Of The Five Units Cited For Efficiency In Big Maneuvers

CAME HOME SATURDAY

Tanned by the torrid rays of 104 Sol, the three officers and 75 enlisted men of Headquarters Corp any 129th Infantry returned early Saturday morning from Camp Knox where they participated in the gigantic maneuvers of the Second Army during the annual fifteen days field training period.

More than three thousand men in the war games in the greatest concentration of troops since the World War. The men spent the first week of camp in the maneuvers, with four days and nights in the field, bivouacked from the remnants of a tent city in shelter tents and being fed from field kitchens. The second week was devoted to garrison camp duties, parades and exercises.

The local organization won praise from all echelon during the maneuvers and was commended by the high army officials and other officers from the division and corps headquarters. The second battalion, formerly the Carlisle unit, was cited by the battalion commander for its efficiency in the battalion problem and the third battalion, formerly the Paris unit, was cited by the battalion commander for its efficiency, alertness and ability to put its weapons into action rapidly. The remainder of the regiment was commended by Capt. G. G. Cogswell, personnel with regimental headquarters during the games and were highly praised for the reinforcements to the platoons.

The war games were made unusually interesting by the fitting in of many problems in the mechanized cavalry regiment at Fort Knox formed the enemy forces.

A. H. Denton, of Sharpsburg, drove the truck, and a total of 1,200 miles was traveled by the party spent some nights in tourist camps and other nights in homes they stopped.

Members of the party were Mr. Leonard, James Neal Wood, Charles Wood, Clay Mann, Lloyd Mann, Hamilton Boyd Wood, Spencer, Jack Rankin, Marion Donoghue Morris, Cecil Frank Wood, Jamestown, Yorktown, Williamsburg, Richmond.

Future Farmers Home From Trip

Mr. Leonard And Twenty-Two Boys Return After Week's Trip To Coast

Mr. C. H. Leonard, head of the vocational agriculture department of the Carlisle high school and twenty-two members of the Future Farmers Organization returned to Carlisle early Friday after a trip to the East in which they visited Washington and other points of interest.

At Lexington the party visited the Capitol, the White House, the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Department of Commerce building, Department of Commerce Administration building, Department of Justice building, Department of Agriculture building, Library of Congress, War and Navy building, Smithsonian Institute, Mount Vernon, Arlington Cemetery, U. S. Experiment Station at Arlington, Va., the party visited the Robert E. Lee shrine and other historical shrines. At Dover they visited the Du Pont powder mills and other industrial plants. At Jamestown, Yorktown, Williamsburg, Richmond.

Members of the unit were loaned to their praise of the outstanding efficiency of the mess personnel for the army. Lieut. Col. Kosse, Capt. Hamm and Cooks Grover Wade and Roger Ingram. Laboratory work was carried on at Fort Knox, the regiment never failed to have their field kitchens set up and a good hot meal awaiting the men regardless of the efficiency of this detail was especially outstanding on the first night of the maneuvers when a terrific rain, accompanied by an electrical and wind storm almost wrecked the field kitchens and water supply covered a wide range. In spite of the difficulty, the kitchen detail, by working faithfully, had their meal ready at out of the mud and water, cleaned and shined it, had it served with which to start their fires and had a hot breakfast ready at 5 o'clock the next morning.

When the war practice maneuvers ended in an armistice as opposing Red and Blue forces were battling furiously with blank ammunition over McClellan Ridge sector east of Fort Knox, the regular U. S. Army umpires declared that five organizations contributed what they termed unusual service. Three of the organizations were units from Kentucky, one of which was the 129th Infantry regiment of the 75th brigade.

Besides being declared one of the five best units in the war maneuvers, the 129th Infantry regiment under the command of Col. Roy W. Easley, of Hopkinsville, was cited for demolishing bridges over Mill Creek and the surrounding and adjacent fords.

General Malin Craig, Chief of Staff of the United States Army in commenting on the effective ness of the 129th said: "The enthusiasm and the manner in which their ambitions under conditions physically exhausting."

The 129th Infantry has a long and colorful history. Prior to the World War it was known as the Lincoln County Militia Regiment, and in 1812 it became known as the 2nd Regiment of the Kentucky Militia. It saw action in the Mexican, Civil, Spanish American and the Mexican border skirmish in 1916, during which it was known as the 2nd Infantry. It became known as fully.

100 Cars Food Sent To State

To Be Distributed Among Drouth Sufferers From District WPA Offices

Shipment of 100 carloads of AAA drouth relief food and feed to Kentucky was announced Tuesday at Washington as the state is sweltered through the second day of a new heat wave.

The consignment sent included thirty three carloads of mill feed, eleven cars of canned beef, fifty cars of flour, one car of dry skim milk, two cars of dried peas, and three cars of prunes.

Some 1,417 carloads to eighteen other states also was announced.

The shipments for the state are to be made to the headquarters of the WPA district offices in Kentucky and stored in the district warehouses, from which the products are to be parceled out to the various counties by the WPA officials. In the case of drouth sufferers not on the present relief rolls, vouchers are given to the applicants by the WPA officials, to be approved as deserving of the commodities.

Son Of Jailer Is Accused Of Theft

Allen Howe Owings Charged With Taking Money From Vault Of Circuit Clerk

Following his arrest on two charges of forgery last Friday night, Allen Howe Owings, son of Jailer Will Owings, was arrested on a charge of taking approximately $60 in cash and checks from the vault of Miss Annie Cox, Circuit Court Clerk, recently.

A finger print expert from the department of justice spent several days in Carlisle last week and took the prints of a number of county officials and other persons around the court house. Following his arrest, the prints of young Owings were taken and the finger print expert compared the prints found on the window of Miss Cox's office, which had been raised by the person who stole the money.

Entrance to the office was obtained by raising a window. The thief was evidently familiar with the combination on the door of the vault.

Owings denied taking the money. He was arraigned before Sheriff J. Clarke Leer and Deputy Sheriff L. H. Barton at the home of his brother on Little Johnson in the county on two warrants charging him with the theft of a name of his father to checks. He was released in jail to await examining trial.

Army Engineer Visits Licking

Dam Sites Studied As Projects For Government Flood Control Plans

Major Frank W. Gano, Assistant U. S. District Engineer, of Cincinnati, was in Carlisle Tuesday to the proposed site of a flood control dam and reservoir on the Licking south and at Cave Run, Ky., last week. The proposed dam is part of the flood control program for the Ohio river basin which will be completed next year by the government.

Major General Edward M. Markham, chief of the Army Engineers, has obeyed orders from President Roosevelt and approved projects ready for the "contract list" so that work can begin by Aug. 15. Only projects on which the right of way and dam clearances were obtained were included. Corps Works Progress Administration and Civilian Conservation Corps are ready to begin the work on projects when approved.—Falmouth Outlook.

No New Taxes Says Roosevelt

Revenues Exceeding Estimates And Some Levies May Be Reduced

President Roosevelt and Congressional leaders last week announced that no new taxes would be asked at the next session to meet Federal expenditures and that some existing taxes may be reduced or eliminated.

At the same time Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., informed Mr. Roosevelt that Government receipts are exceeding all estimates and forecast an early balancing of the Federal budget and reduction of the National debt. Collections in the first forty-one days of the new fiscal year ran $1,000,000 a day more than the same period last year, Treasury figures show.

The announcement of the Government's improved fiscal condition came after a White House conference attended by Mr. Roosevelt, Morgenthau, Director Lew Harrison of the Senate Finance Committee and Representative Robert L. Doughton of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Corn, Tobacco Production Down

Outlook For Barley 7 Million Pounds Less August 1 Than In 1935

Based on conditions as of August 1, the prospects for Kentucky's tobacco indicated a probable state total production of 421,000,000 lbs., 217,300,000 lbs., compared to production July 1 for 222,575,000 lbs., a production of 225,278,000 lbs. in 1935, and 362,587,000 lbs. average annual production for 1924-1932, inclusive. The August 1 prospects for the United States total tobacco production was for 1,106,861,000 lbs., compared to 1,296,810,000 lbs. total United States production last year and 1,427,174,000 lbs. average annual United States total production 1928-1932, inclusive. Types of tobacco the principal areas in Kentucky, and which therefore are of direct interest to Kentucky growers, are estimated as follows by states and areas according to state boundaries—burley 214,726,000 lbs., compared to 221,676,000 lbs. last year; Hopkinsville-Clarksville-Springfield, 4,464 fired type 28,850,000 lbs. compared to 36,800,000 lbs. last year; Paducah-Mayfield dark fired, 2,000 acres compared to 25,925,000 lbs. last year; Henderson dark fired 2,000 acres, 100,000 lbs. compared to 3,024,000 lbs. last year; one sucker 12,000,000 lbs. compared to 13,620,000 lbs. in 1935; and Green River 11,200,000 lbs. compared to 15,210,000 lbs. last year.

Probable corn production in Kentucky was forecast August 1 by the United States Department of Agriculture at 73,615,000 bus., and a crop last year of 62,238,000 bus. Two Injured In Auto Collision In Fleming Suit for $5,000 damages was filed in the Fleming circuit court Tuesday by Miss Daisy Maffett, Flemingsburg cafe operator, against James E. Soper, 68, Paris real estate salesman, arising out of an accident in which Miss Maffett and Soper were injured.

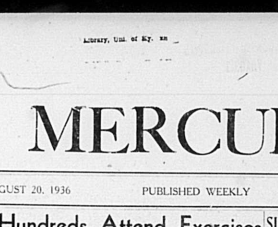
Miss Maffett and Dantie were enroute to Lexington. In the suit the plaintiff alleges that Soper backed his machine from a side road into the path of her automobile near Elizaville. Mr. Soper, who is well known here, suffered a fractured collar bone and possible fractured hip. He was taken to the hospital in Paris. Miss Maffett suffered painful cuts and bruises and was taken to the hospital in Maysville

Hundreds Attend Exercises At Blue Licks Yesterday As Memorial To Simon Kenton



Top: The memorial shaft erected to the memory of the pioneer Kentuckians who lost their lives in the Battle of Blue Licks.

With hundreds of descendants of the pioneer Kentuckians who wrested the state from the Indians present, the annual observance of the Battle of Blue Licks Wednesday was in the nature of a memorial for Simon Kenton, early pioneer of the early days of the Commonwealth.

For a number of years the anniversary of the Battle of Blue Licks, staged on August 19, 1782, and called by Theodore Roosevelt as the "last battle of the Revolution," has been observed with a program at the Blue Licks Battlefield State Park.

The program, which started at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, had not been completed when The Mercury's forms closed. The program, one of the most interesting ever arranged, was in charge of Judge Samuel M. Wilson, Lexington, Judge I. B. Ross, Carlisle, W. C. Curtis, curator of the park, and C. Frank Dunn, Lexington.

Hon. Fred M. Vinson was scheduled to deliver the principal address in the afternoon, the sub-

Program Approved For 72 Counties In State

Announcement was made Saturday by Cecil T. Williams, County Director of Rural Highways, that seventy-two counties in Kentucky have taken advantage of the Department of Highways two million dollar allotment for farm to road work.

Thirty-two other counties have submitted projects and the district engineers are now making estimates of the cost of the work. Nicholas is included in this group. Only sixteen counties in the state have not submitted a program of any kind, Mr. Williams said.

46 Counties Invited To District 4-H Fair

Forty-six counties containing more than 10,000 club boys and girls have been 'invited to participate in the district 4-H club fair to be held at Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders Association grounds in Lexington, Sept. 2-5. This is one of the largest events of its kind in America.

Departments include swine, beef cattle, dairy cattle, sheep, poultry, potatoes, garden products, home clothing, canning, foods and room improvement. Each of the 4-H club members, and similar departments for Future Farmers. There also will be athletic and recreational events.

Several thousand dollars in cash premiums will be divided among the winners in each.

The fair is being sponsored by the Fayette County 4-H Club Leaders Council, the Lexington Board of Commerce and the Man O' War Post of the American Legion.

Only members of the 4-H clubs in the 46 counties and of the Future Farmers of Fayette county may make exhibits.

Only one out of every 561 persons lives long enough to die of old age.

SUPERVISORS NAMED TO CHECK THE SOIL PROGRAM IN COUNTY

Thirteen Named To Visit Farms Where Contracts Have Been Signed

COOPERATION URGED

The Nicholas county control board last week appointed thirteen supervisors to check the compliance contracts, and the supervisors have started work in the First Magisterial district.

These men will visit each farm for which a conservation work sheet has been filled out to help the farmer determine the benefits due him under the conditions of the program. Fourteen other supervisors have been named to be called when and if needed.

Under the new program a farmer is entitled to payment as soon as a checkup has been completed by one of the supervisors approved. The county board urges farmers to assist the supervisors by having a rough sketch of their farms, showing fence lines and the crops in each field. If farmers will cooperate in this work, it was pointed out, the work can be completed more rapidly and in less expense.

Arthur Mullikin was named county supervisor, with the following district supervisors:

District 1—R. E. Kendall, O. C Rankin, Lovell Hollar, and Clay Richey.

District 2—E. R. Sampson, Charles Ishmael and Henry L. Hollar.

District 3—R. B. Brierly, H. S. Vice, C. Goodpaster and B. S. Stephenson.

District 4—Walter Shepherd.

District 5—H. T. Linton and Walter Atkinson.

Ineligibles Delaying Payment Of Pensions

Thousands of applications from "ineligible persons" were blamed by the government for the delay Tuesday for the delay in starting the flow of old age assistance funds.

Dr. A. Y. Lloyd, of Georgetown, director of the division of public assistance, and Miss Margaret Ballinger, supervisor of field agents, this week were conducting a series of regional conferences of field workers, in an effort to speed up the flow of investigated applications.

Dr. Lloyd said the principles behind the method at the meetings were to provide assistance for those in actual need, who are eligible to receive aid under the law, and to protect the interests of taxpayers by careful and thorough investigation.

Primary qualifications for public assistance are a minimum age of 65 years and actual need of the applicant.
