Edward Abdicates Throne In Favor Of His Brother

tion most fully pondered over them.

"But my mind is made up. Moreover further delay cannot but be most injurious to the peoples whom I have tried to serve as Prince of Wales and as King and whose future happiness and prosperity are the constant wish of my heart."

"I have taken leave of them in the confident hope that the course which I have thought it right to follow is that which is best for the stability of the throne and empire, and the happiness of my peoples.

"I am deeply sensible of the consideration which they always have extended me, both before and after my accession to the throne, and which I know they will extend in full measure to my successor.

"I am most anxious there should be no delay of any kind in giving effect to the instrument which I have executed, and that all necessary steps should be taken immediately to secure that my lawful successor, my brother, His Royal Highness the Duke of York, should ascend the throne.

"Signed) "Edward, R. I."

Edward's action is without precedent. He is the first of all the long line of British monarchs to abdicate voluntarily. There have been many so-called abdications before, but they were all more or less ousters rather than abdications.

Extremely popular with his subjects, Edward had reigned for less than a year, having been proclaimed king upon the death of his father, King George V, last January.

Britain's new monarch, the former Duke of York, is known as a practical, home-loving man, serious and conservative, without being a scholar. He was married to Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyons, April 26, 1923. The new queen is extremely popular throughout England. They are parents of two daughters, Princess Alexandrina Mary, born April 21, 1925, and Princess Margaret Rose, born August 21, 1930.

As the Duke of Windsor, Edward left England Saturday morning and is now in Austria. He has been invited by a German-Austrian surgeon for an operation of the ear, which has troubled him for years.

Dispatches from Austria Thursday described Edward as morosely disheartened and suddenly aging since the swift march of events which cost him his throne for the love of Wallis Simpson.

Another dispatch from London described the former King as "a broken man." He reportedly asked many from his mother, Queen Mary, to finance his flight to Austria. After he had arranged for transportation for himself and his small staff to Vienna, he had very little ready cash in his pockets. The bulk of his resources consisted of $750,000 worth of jewelry, which is in the possession of Mrs. Simpson.

Speculators Have Reaped Profit From Purchases

A number of tobacco growers in Nicholas county, it is reported, sold their tobacco crops to speculators before the opening of the markets at prices ranging from 25 to 30 cents per pound, and in practically every instance reported the farmer, as usual, has been "gone" on the transaction since the opening of the market, few sales have been made, it is said.

Almost any kind of a tobacco crop will bring 25 cents per pound this year, and many in this county have averaged from 25 to 40 cents. This splendid prices is being reflected in business, merchants say, with gone money being put into circulation.

Purchase of tobacco by speculators is the old story. Usually the speculator has some advance information which the farmer can not obtain concerning the price of tobacco. In nearly every instance where a sale is made to a speculator, the farmer loses out.

Leaf Truck Drivers Asked To Co-operate

Cooperation of tobacco truckers in preventing traffic accidents during the tobacco selling season by reason of heavy night traffic in from farms to market have received by the state department of safety.

Operators of tobacco trucks that are not equipped with glaring lights and tail lights were urged by the department to carry lanterns on the side of the trucks and to burn a light at the rear. Many trucks hauling tobacco from farms to market have neither clearance nor tail lights as required by law, Col. Ed Hurt, superintendent of police, stated.

Three-Cent Postage Seems To Be Permanent

Three-cent letter postage, credited with keeping the Postoffice Department "out of the red," now seems to be a permanent fixture, according to postal officials in Washington.

The three-cent law expires next summer, but Roy M. North, Deputy Third Assistant Postmaster General, said he sees no possibility of an immediate return to the two-cent rate.

"The extra cent has meant between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 to our balance sheet annually," North said.

A golden stream of $18,747,176, flowing at the rate of $2,000,000 a day, has gone into the pockets of tobacco growers in the burley belt in the state during the first two weeks of the biggest tobacco boom market since 1919. The statewide average now stands at $39.34, and with sustained sales this week will probably go to $40.

Auctions in nine selling days on the twenty-one burley markets of the state have disposed of 47,651,552 pounds of the 1936 crop. The price is about double the farm value estimated by growers and warehousemen at the beginning of the season.

The gains have been unprecedented in the history of the market. Last week's averages climbed more than $1 a hundred pounds daily, and at the end of the week stood $6.28 higher than on Monday. Weeks averages climbed above the level for the peak year of 1919 at many markets.

The Lexington market last week sold 8,288,852 pounds for an average of $47.18, and reached the first million dollar day in the history of the market on Friday when 2,820,825 pounds sold over the breaks for a total of $1,022,941.50, an average of $46.47. Up until the end of sales, 11,385,552 pounds had been sold at Lexington for an average of $41.21.

Paris continued to lead all markets in the state for the average paid with total sales for the season of 2,262,876 pounds for an average of $44.90.

The ten principal markets in Central Kentucky have sold 34,684,857 pounds during the selling season for an average of $38.91, according to figures compiled Saturday night. The average on these same markets for the first two weeks of 1935 was $29.25 for 35,267,386 pounds sold.

Work Is Started On Water Works Lake

Crew Of Men Put To Work Clearing Site For New Dam And Lake

Preliminary work was started Monday on the construction of a dam for the creation of a new lake for the Carlisle water works when a small force of men was put to work by the Works Progress Administration. More workers will be added from time to time.

The WPA project calls for the removal of all trees, timber and other obstructions on the lake site, and for the construction of a fence around the tract. The stone fences will be piled and the stone used for a facing for the earth dam when it is completed. The project will provide work for a large number of men for several weeks.

When the WPA project has been completed the city council will advertise for bids for the construction of the dam, and it is hoped that it can be awarded this spring.

When completed the new lake will have almost the same capacity as the present lake and should be filled with always a plentiful supply of water even in drouth periods.

Considerable water has been pumped into the lake during the past two weeks and Joe Clay, water works superintendent, reports that there will be an adequate supply. The lake is usually filled by winter rains and snows.

Donald Toadvine Shows Best Crop

Nicholas Boy Sells 222 Pounds Of Tobacco At 4-H Club Show For $149

Donald Toadvine, 12-year-old son of Mr and Mrs. J. T. Toadvine of the Headquarters section, had the highest average crop of tobacco in the district 4-H Club tobacco show held at Lexington Saturday, but because of his age was not eligible to receive first prize, a free trip to the national 4-H club meeting in Chicago next summer. Club boys under 13 years old are not eligible for the trip.

Donald's five shock baskets of tobacco weighed 202 pounds and brought an average of $2.20 per hundredweight, or $149 for one other basket of red leaf, which was given an extra $25 for 65 cents, bringing the crop total to $174 for 222 pounds.

The 222 pounds, grown by young Toadvine on one-fourth acre, was the 4-H Club record for bags in the crop brought 90 cents per pound, the second highest basket in the sale. His flyings brought $73; trash $25; bright $25; red leaf $26.

Two hundred and forty-seven boys and members from 42 counties participated in the show. A total of 5,000 pounds was sold. Bobby Montgomery, of Woodford county, established an all-time high price by bringing $1.25 per pound.

Fifteen prizes were given in each county contest. Donald Toadvine was first in Nicholas county, Fairy Stevens was second and Glen S. Curran third.

Young Toadvine is a student at the Headquarters school and a member of the Headquarters 4-H club. He has been an outstanding 4 free trip to Junior Week at Lexington in June for his tobacco crop at Lexington.

State Can Withhold Truck License Funds

Assistant Attorney General Guy H. Herdman Wednesday advised Robert Humphreys, commissioner of highways, that the state highway department is justified in withholding truck license funds from counties indebted to it.

Several years ago officials of Perry county deposited in local banks, which later failed, funds belonging to the county. A court decree awarded to Leatha Stamper that recision, compared to sum was ordered paid from the county treasury.

Boyle County Girl Missing Two Weeks

Concern for the safety of Miss Nancy Overstreet, 20, daughter of Mrs. Jesse W. Overstreet, Boyle county sheriff, was expressed by friends and relatives as efforts to locate the girl, missing since December 12, met with no success.

Miss Overstreet, a junior at Western State Teachers College, left Bowling Green for Louisville on a train at 1 a. m. on December 12, and since that time nothing has been heard by her family of her whereabouts.

Schoolmates at Bowling Green reported that she said she was going to her home in Perryville for the week-end.

When last seen, she was wearing a brown hat, a tan spring coat and brown shoes, and carried a brown gladstone bag.

Only a few more days in which to purchase Christmas Seals! People are entering into the Christmas spirit and, for the most part, are responding generously. Seals are now being sold in the lobby of the post office so that everyone who has not already purchased seals may have an opportunity to do so.

About one hundred twenty-five dollars worth have been sold up to this time. Some few have not yet reported. A complete report of the sale will be published next week.

The Parent-Teacher Association appreciates the loyal cooperation of the citizens of Nicholas county in his work.

E. and Frank, sold 215,094 pounds for an average of $47.75 a hundred pounds. The crop netted the owners $99,588.84 after expenses of selling were deducted. The huge crop was grown on 200 acres of land. It is said the crop cost the brothers $37,000 to produce.

Youth Dies From Injuries In Wreck

Owen Rawlings Succumbs At Lexington Hospital As Result Of Injuries

Owen Rawlings, 18 years old, of the Buzzard Roost section of the county, died at St. Joseph's hospital in Lexington at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident on the night of December 12.

Rawlings was injured when an automobile in which he and Horace Rawlings and Everett Planck were riding left the road and overturned near Bethel. The three men were brought to the Johnson Memorial hospital here and Rawlings later was taken to the Lexington hospital. He sustained a fractured vertebra and a fractured skull. No hope had been held for him.

The parents of Rawlings both died of influenza in 1918 when Rawlings was only about ten days old. His uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lyons, took him to their home and reared him, and he had spent all of his life with them. He was said to have been an industrious and splendid young man.

Rawlings is survived by several brothers and sisters. Funeral services were held at Bethel Tuesday afternoon and burial followed in the Bethel cemetery.

Kookendoffer and Planck, who were with Rawlings at the time of the fatal accident, are recovering from their injuries. Neither was seriously injured.

Clark County Man Fatally Wounds Pair Who Attempted To Get In His Car

Leslie J. Hon, 30, and John Shepherd, 28, both of Mt. Sterling, were shot and killed when the Clearview Tourist camp on the Midland Trail, four miles from Mt. Sterling, at 3 o'clock Sunday morning.
