WHO SELLS ELECTRICITY CHEAPER? Government Insurance Report That Commercial Power Companies Offer Lower Rates

A GOOD many people honestly believe that present ownership of electric power plants (especially municipal ownership) offers the public many advantages...

Maybe you are such a believer. Maybe not. But as a taxpayer (and you are!) you will be interested in the following facts:

The United States Bureau of the Census reports after a nationwide survey that municipally owned plants collect more on an average price of 3 cents a kilowatt-hour, while commercial power companies including our own group get an average price of only 27 cents a kilowatt-hour.

And the Federal Power Commission reports after a nationwide survey that municipally owned electric plants are "extremely profitable" for proportion except from taxation and capital charges.

That which commercial power companies pay from 12 per cent to 18 per cent of their gross earnings in taxes and must claim a far return on their investment, almost all municipal plants wholly or partly owned these things.

That, in spite of this differential in their favor, the municipally owned plants collect more per kilowatt-hour for their service than commercial electric companies receive.
