Plain Words Plainly Spoken

We are now faced if this Nation cannot stand to have the unemployed that they are now moved in the world of human beings.

The last and the first indication of the high cost of living is revealed. However, it is not a new thing, it is an old one, it is the growing national debt. But now with the coming of the depression, it is more than a mere thing, it is a menace.

One of the most important things in the world is the money. Money is the lifeblood of the nation. It is the medium of exchange. It is the measure of value.
