BALD HILL

Mrs. Stewart, of Burlka, the aged mother of Mrs. G. W. Shepherd, passed away Monday morning, May 11th, aged was 91, with clear intellect and her second eyesight. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved ones.

"A. F. Ogden, continues to live alone at the home place."

Bro. Hilton, of the Christian Church, Orphan Home, at East College street, Louisville, preached at the Christian church Saturday night. He entertained the congregation with a female quartet of young girls who certainly could sing.

Mrs. O. T. Blount, of New Mexico, contemplates coming to Kentucky this summer.

Mrs. Jane Miller is rather feeble.

Tony Dotson is around again.

Allie Dotson, of Ruddell, Mill, is cutting the trees in John R. Miller's woods, getting ready for sawing this summer. The wood in front of the old church is being sawed now by Mr. Buchanan.

Decoration day is coming with no roses and the prospects are for blackberries later. The extreme cold killed all prospects of fruit with the exception of a few apples. Bald Hill has always been a great place for berry pickers, but the berries will soon be a thing of the past in this county as the briers are being destroyed along with the trees by the called progress and civilization to move on just the same, in spite of any one who obstructs their pathway.

Payment Of Bonus By June 15 Big Task

Government officials are working to get speed to deliver the soldiers' adjusted service bonus bonds to American veterans beginning June 15.

Printing of the nearly print of certificates bearing the portrait of Andrew Jackson, 7th U. S. President—are already being shipped to the Treasury Department located route from printing press to mail room.

Then the postman hands the last veteran his bond envelope—the largest registered mail order in the Nation's history will have been completed, officials say.

Approximately 2,000,000 soldiers will receive one or more bonds, Secretary Morgenthau estimated.

Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, veterans administrator, viewed the list of prospective recipients and speculated that the certificates if laid end-to-end would reach from Paris to Istanbul.

Getting the bonds off to the veterans is the task of the Treasury Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Only lengths of service and earning dates obtained on the certificates add to the complexity of the job. Each bond must be accurately printed with numbers correctly and neatly punched, and then assembled in order, so that it can be sorted easily into details through all of the 450 branch offices.

But with the majority of clerks running into odd dollars and cents, Treasury officials were checks for the odd amounts.

For the fifth consecutive year the Pershing Rifles unit of the ROTC regiment at the University of Kentucky won the competitive drill trophy, defeating 20 other units in the Fifth Corps area at Lexington Friday night.

MOUNTAIN NIGHT

Standing ..... Lee Cowan
Twelve thousand feet above the sea ..... Chorus
For thus the record of this mountain's height).
Just thought perhaps, for surely ones that fly,
But climbing folk must go on foot ..... Lee Cowan
To come this high and leave a earth-inurbed landing
For one nearer the sky—
The moon is up! And yet, cah this be night
With light so brilliant I might see to read or write.
As wondering I hung against a lofty evergreen
Where a beautiful rare peace is now hung
About this mountain ageless, yet so young!

I make my hands into a sort of cup, and shout—
My voice leaps up and down and out and far
To space, then echoes round about and back
Across the mountain range—
Then once beside I change its pitch perhaps!
In quiet fashion great stars beam down
The hoarse seems very very far away,
And it was only yesterday—

Splendid things need splendid words
And I am perhaps, too well aware that words are poor things
May never share the blithe sim plicity of beauty.
And yet I make no apology
Across the mystic distance of the years
And voiceless, thank the God of Love, for mountains!

PRATHER HALL

All who are out of Christ will be finally condemned, but the hypocrite will receive the greater punishment. The poor widow gave but two mites, but even what she had to live on. Her gift was the fruit of love and she gave expressly to show no real sacrifice. God measures the gift not by the amount we give, but by what we have left after we make our contribution, and by the measure of sacrifice involved in the gift.

I have in mind at this entire prophetic discourse of our Lord reaches down to the end of this present dispensation and the reference to His coming as the Son of man, which title indicates His relation with Israel and the Jewish people. He is coming again for the church. For the church, the body of Christ was not in existence when this discourse was delivered. But time it was to be still a secret in the mind and purposes of God. Eph. 3: 1-5. The church will believers only on Christ Jesus, will be caught away to be with the Lord in Glory before all these terrible things shall come to pass, and before these things will be fully realized in the world. We need to be watchful, prayerfully and prayer, to stand up and out for our Lord, so as to meet Him unafraid and unashamed.

The Onward Kentucky Exposition in the State Capitol Building at Frankfort on June 2nd, 3rd and 5th, 1936, will provide the opportunity for things made in Kentucky to win rich prizes and ultimately to be sold. Following this Exposition the producers of these articles will be shown how to make them in larger quantities so that they can realize on them in a substantial way, which will add to their own wealth and increase the prosperity of the state.

There are many prized pieces hidden away in Kentucky homes, and many interesting pieces of handcraft going to waste. These are products which are not being seen or appreciated or sold. It is the purpose of the Onward Kentucky Exposition to bring these out of hiding and make them known, and also to stimulate the production and sale of all that is useful and of high quality.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Harry Conway, of Louisville, two sons, Thomas H. Dallas, Carlisle, and Earl Dallas, Cincinnati, twenty grandchildren and sixteen great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. Marshall Ruddell, on East Main street Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. J. Whitehouse and Rev. C. A. Sweazy, and burial followed in the family lot in the Carlisle cemetery.
