CCC CAMP NOTES

Although football is holding the spot of sports now, Camp Carlisle had their first basketball game Wednesday night. About four men reported for practice and several showed promise of developing if this good player's before the season is over. The schedule is being completed and it is expected that the team will play approximately fifteen games this winter, many of them preliminaries to the high school contests. Practice will be three times a week until the first game is played.

On next Thursday evening the camp dramatic club will present its second play of the season. "Pete's Last Wheeze" is the name and promises to keep the audience in laughs the whole time. Curtains are being added to the stage and will greatly help in the presentation of the plays during the winter.

Mr. House, Educational Adviser, will attend the educational conference at Fort Thomas, for advisers of the Cincinnati and Lexington sectors. The conference will begin on Wednesday and last through Thursday.

Touch football has taken a firm hold in this company's activities. Since regular football is not allowed, touch football has taken its place and several groups have their teams, so games are played on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

The camp woodworking shop is gradually being put into use each day. Several articles are needed. This work shop will be a splendid thing for the boys to keep the amateur gifts and other presents. The shop is well equipped and the enlistees may make things on their own lumber.

Mr. Mike Baughn, technical foreman, has returned to camp after a two weeks stay on his vacation. He was accompanied by Mrs. Baughn and child.

Williams Makes Report On Work

It was pointed out this week by Cecil Williams, Commissioner of Rural Highways, in a report to Robert Humphreys, commissioner of highways, that no advertising of the memory of the oldest voter has been done so much for the people of this state, in the matter of road building as has Governor Rhodes' term of office, and it is for only nine months.

Hon. Robert Humphreys's Mr. Williams said his department has employed 10,394 counties and spending for rural road work $1,000,000 is giving employment to 6,500 people. Contracts amount into with the counties. Mr. Williams said, call for 2,643 miles of grade and drain and 2,681 miles of gravel surface have been completed while including all types of road work, is 5,000.

BRINGS GOOD MESSAGES

Owensboro Messenger: Congressman Fred M. Vinson, of Ashland, who spent Tuesday night in Owensboro en route to Carlisle to City to Mayson, and who is familiar with political conditions in this district, has been in the finds in his campaigning a union of labor and farm support of President Roosevelt and the New Deal. He pointed to the huge majority piled up in the 1934 primary election and predicted that No vember 3 will be a repetition of it on election day when the Democratic ticket will far exceed the normal majority.

While in Owensboro the East Kentucky congressman addressed successive terms have made his district one of the strongholds of the Democrats of the state assembly, and with local leaders to whom he brought messages of cheer. Not that any doubt had been entertained as to the outcome in Kentucky but the victory which is anticipated by the overwhelming opinion of Congressman Vinson, is due to the favor of the voters in the efficiency of the campaigners in Kentucky and Owensboro in particular. Citizens of this city have been entertained by other of his lucid and luminous addresses and it is generally agreed that prior engagements will prevent his hearing during this campaign. His political speeches are of the sledge hammer type. He is fair to not flowery and confines himself to the argumentative style in which he excels, not attempting to tickle the fancy of his audiences.

Still a young man, his friends fold him look forward to higher honors achieved as the successor either of United States senator, or in line promotion as this congressional conditions make him a representative who can truly represent the people.

$3,000,000 Outlay In W. P. A. Monthly

The W. P. A. is spending in Kentucky roughly $3,000,000 a month with an administrative cost of approximately $60,000, or 27 per cent, George H. Goodman, administrator, reported Thursday.

Sponsors of Works Progress Administration projects must kick in with governmental units contributing about $500,000 of the total monthly outlay by taking advantage of the Federal program for building permanent improvements on the report showed.

Reviewing September figures, Mr. Goodman said WPA spent $3,879,507 for materials and supplies, of which $1,679,819 came from local sponsors.

Chief items bought included: Lumber, $574,628; cement, $550,409; brick, hollow tile and clay products, $230,419; crushed road stone, $312,947; sand and gravel, $263,896; pavement and paving material and mix, $197,128; steel, $187,524; other road and steel products, $174,447; petroleum products for equipment operation, $173,520; and chemicals and explosives $101,980.

Warrant Interest Cut Plan Approved

Annual Savings Will Be $318,000 Under Plan Approved By Court Of Appeals

The court of appeals Friday approved Treasurer John E. Buckingham's plan to issue 3 per cent state warrants, and the first of the new series will begin to flow out into financial circles with the next installment of the state's school per capita.

By mid-November $1,500,000 of the 3 per cent warrants will be issued and the cash conserved in the treasury by the issuance of the warrants will be used to call for retirement $1,500,000 of the outstanding 5 per cent warrants.

Again in December the same procedure will be followed. With the year, maybe considerably less, Mr. Buckingham expects to have retired approximately $10,000,000 of 3 per cent warrants and to have redeemed an equal amount of 5 per cent obligations.

The annual interest savings, on the basis of the present amount of standing warrants, would be $318,000. This probably will be much less, because before a year is out many of the 5 per cent warrants will have been retired permanently. After March Mr. Buckingham expects to issue no more warrants available to cutting down the state debt.

Jawbone and Tooth of Mastodon is Found in Creek in Robertson County

Fine Specimen Of Bone Of Prehistoric Animal Presented To Blue Lick Park Museum

One of the most perfect specimens of prehistoric animals ever unearthed in Kentucky was found imbedded in Johnson creek in Robertson county recently by Warder Cleaver, who owns a farm near Mitchell's Mill. Mr. Cleaver found the jaw and tooth of a mastodon in the bed of the creek while he was wading in water about 12 inches deep.

The animal died close to raise the jaw and tooth with his hands, but was unable to do so because of the solid earth in which it was imbedded. He obtained a pole and pried it out. There were two teeth in the jaw, one of which was broken off and found later. Mr. Cleaver, not realizing the importance of his find, failed to take care of the loose tooth.

The jaw measures 15 to 20 inches in length and weighs about 25 pounds. Mr. Cleaver presented it to Wm. J. Curtis for the Blue Lick State Park museum. It is a valuable find and will add much to the already interesting collection of prehistoric animal bones dug up by the late T. W. Hunter at Blue Lick Springs some forty years ago and now housed in the museum.

Scientists estimate that it has been 25,000 to 30,000 years since the prehistoric mastodon lived and wandered over this region.

A number of other valuable articles have been given to the park museum in the past months and the collection is probably the most valuable in the state.

Twenty thousand years ago prehistoric Europeans were hunting these animals in France. Retreating northward with the ice, they crossed Siberia and Alaska, made a last stand in Siberia. Numbers of mastodons were found in the soft, icy marshes and were preserved in the frozen soil. They are occasionally discovered now.

No preserved bodies have ever been discovered in America, but for many years skeletons have been unearthed in the United States. Last summer Dr. Edgar B. Howard discovered evidence of a javelin point wound of prehistoric hunters. Until this find scientists had dared not believe man had been on this continent long enough to have been hunting these beasts, but the discovery of Dr. Howard, after eight years work, even the bitterest skeptic could no longer doubt the antiquity of man in America.
