Across the fence neighbors discuss their health. The medicine that helped one is offered to the other. Naturally, we want to help our friends, but health advising and amateur dosing are dangerous practice. None but a physician should diagnose illness, nor medicine other than that which he prescribes be taken. He makes no haphazard guesses.

Let us supply your winter requirements with such coals as Blue Gem, Black Gold, Everglow or Great Heart, our old standbys for years.

SIGNATURE TO SUMMER

(Frederick Dright)

Southward blackbirds glisten in the stubbled field,
Pausing for brief respite from their flight,
Swelling grapes take color from the dusk's calm light,
And apple branches bend beneath their yield.

Now the distant hills are filmed with azure haze,
And gossamers float silkily upon the quiet air,
The corn is shocked; and harvest, the golden, the pure,
Is garnered from the glow.

Beyond the river mist, ascends the orange harvest moon.
