DON'T LIME TOBACCO LAND

Applying lime directly to tobacco land probably will do no good and may even decrease the yield and lower the quality, points out W. C. Johnstone of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Lime when used in connection with the growing of legumes in the rotation three to five years previous to tobacco will so improve the physical fertility of the soil, that improvement may be expected in the tobacco he says.

Lesson for April 11

THE SIN OF ADAM AND EVE

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 3:1-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—The soul that sinneth, it shall die.—Ezek. 18:4.
PRIMARY TOPIC—In the Garden of Eden.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Trying to Hide From God.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Sin Is and Does.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Consequences of Sin.

"One of the curiosities of the British Museum is a brick from the walls of ancient Babylon which bears the imprint of one of Babylon's mighty kings. Right over the center of the royal seal is deeply impressed the footprint of a 'pariah' dog which apparently trod upon it when it was soft and plastic. Long ages have passed; the king's supperscription is visible but defaced; the footprint of the dog is clear and sharply defined.

"Human nature is like that brick.

Man originally was made in the image of God, but over the royal beauty of the Divine likeness there has been superimposed the dirty disfigurement of the Devil's imprint" (D. E. Hart-Davies).

Last Sunday we saw the heavens and earth, the animals, yea, the entire creation crowned by man himself, as it had come from the hand of God—"and behold it was very good" (1:31). But, sadly enough, it did not long remain so, for sin which had already entered the universe soon found its way into the world.

God created Adam in his own likeness and image, gave him "a helpmeet unto him," and placed him in perfect surroundings. He gave him congenial employment, and above all the inestimable privilege of fellowship with Him.

But because man was not a mere automaton—a toy in the hands of a superior being—God gave him the power of moral choice, the opportunity to exercise his God-given personality in making that choice. Obedience is the underlying moral principle of the universe.

Today we go with Eve and Adam into that catachumic experience which we call "the Fall of Man," for as we read in Romans 5:12, "by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned."

I. Temptation (vv. 1-5).

Satan is not a cloven-hoofed monstrosity with a forked tail and a trident in his hand. No, indeed, he is more subtle than anything in creation. We read that he is "transformed into an angel of light" (II Cor. 11:14). His approach in our day is as smooth, and cultured as it was in the garden of Eden. An example is the insidious liquor advertising of our day. Another is his use of the man who stands behind the pulpit or sits in the professor's chair and destroys the Christian faith of young men and women. Now the five steps in the fall of man:

1. Listening to a slander against God (Satan lied about God).
2. Doubting God's Word and love (If we trust God we will obey him).
3. Looking at that which God has forbidden (The eye will betray us unless we guard it).
4. Lusting after what God has prohibited (Compare Genesis 3:6 with I John 2:6).
5. Disobedience to God's command.

II. Sin (v. 6).

Sin is deliberate transgression, not a natural weakness, nor a necessity. It moved itself on its own light when it at once reached out and dragged down another. We do not sin alone for very long.

III. Consequences (vv. 7-13, also 16-19).

1. The serpent is cursed.
2. Sin, death and condemnation enter the world.
3. Sorrow is linked with motherhood.
4. Irresponsibility and headship is given to man.
5. The ground is cursed and the burden of labor introduced.

IV. Redemption (v. 15).

Here we have the first promise of redemption, and the scarlet thread of redemptive truth thus runs from this point at the Bible's beginning to its very last chapter. Even in judging the first Adam for his sin God promises the coming of the second Adam who is to redeem the race. You are in the family of the first Adam by natural birth. Have you entered the family of the second Adam by supernatural rebirth? (I Cor. 15:21, 22, 45.)

Employing Character

A good character when established should not be rested in as an end, but only employed as a means of doing still further good. —Atterbury.

KEEP FORESTS GOING

(Louisville Times)

Farm woodlands furnish Kentucky farmers their fifth largest cash crop, the United States Forest Service says. The value of all farm forest products in Kentucky in 1934 was $3,321,000.

Of 200,000 farm families in the state, 109,949 were benefited by forest products.

If farmers should protect their woodlands by keeping livestock and fire out of them, farm forest products would increase without one tree being planted.

A tablespoon of sugar in the water in which cauliflower is cooked will keep it white.

Taxpayers Required To List Their Property

Income taxpayers are required to list their sources of income, including ownership of property, the Department of Revenue stated Tuesday in a prepared statement.

Property is required to be listed with county tax commissioners for state and local tax purposes, and the Department of Revenue, in an effort to locate omitted property expects to check income tax returns with assessment lists.

The recently enacted back tax bill provides that omitted property may be listed on or before May 18, 1937, with the Department of Revenue by paying tax and 6 per cent interest. After May 18, property may be listed with the department by paying tax and interest plus 100 per cent penalty. If it is necessary for the department to force the listing of omitted property by suit, an additional 20 per cent penalty is charged.
