$15,000,000 Gift Made By Alfred P. Sloan, Jr.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of the General Motors Corporation, announced Monday the donation of $15,000,000 in securities as an endowment to an economic research foundation in memory of his mother.

The foundation was organized to study the causes of business depressions in the automotive industry, devised plans for its operation and financing.

Mr. Sloan said more than 10,000 shares of General Motors common stock were involved, but the trustees of the foundation were entirely free to do with them as they saw fit, no matter having "nothing whatever to do with General Motors Corporation or any official or its relationship with same."

He said the foundation was not planned to concentrate on the prevention of a wider knowledge of basic economic principles which are accepted as such by authorities of economic research and as often confirmed by experience, as well as the application of these principles to some problems in which we are today so greatly involved and on the way to one so important as unemployment.

Taking Count of Unemployed

As millions of questionnaire cards poured in on Washington, the gigantic task of computing the number of unemployed men and women in the United States in order to aid them more effectively was undertaken by government workers. Lester Polat is shown at the assorting machine at the census bureau.

Four Good Feeds

FEED FOR YOUR POULTRY
FEED FOR YOUR COWS
FEED FOR YOUR HOGS
FEED FOR YOUR HORSES

And we didn't have to stretch the blanket when we told you of their merits. They have been on the market so long and we have been selling them so long, that we know what they will do. Other feeds come and go, but have stood the test near three score years. On account of the quality of their ingredients and the scientific blending of same, always with the view of obtaining maximum results, they have grown in popularity until now, as for years in the past, they are the favorite of most all discriminating feeders.

TUXEDO FEEDS

Safe in a treasure chest of steel

A CHEERFUL goodbye wave—the vestibule door swings shut—and the family's away—visiting on the L & N. And as their Home Sweet Home on Rails glides off, you know the most precious of all your valuables are safe in a treasure chest of steel.

Along the right-of-way and on the train itself, millions of dollars worth of automatic signals and safety devices guard them. Thousands of efficient employees are always on the job—alert to extend the 20-year record of no passenger fatalities in a train accident. This peace of mind for you—this safety for them—isn't it the greatest of all transportation bargains at 2 to 3 cents a mile?

Every foot of the way, Friendly Service surrounds them. They relax in air-conditioned comfort, sleep in deep restful berths, dine on foods so tempting that our Southern Chefs are asked how they are prepared.

When the family leaves on the L & N—they're just over at the neighbor's. Won't you drop in too, Neighbor, next trip you make out of town?

THE MAGIC OF CHRISTMAS

Over A Less
North and east, where the fierce
Winds blow
Over the lakes the evergreen
Forests rise
Where the heart may
Be more silence, and drifting
Snow
Is the magic of Christmas
Time when
Is the magic of Christmas
Time when
Is the magic of Christmas
Time when
