Floris Of Fleshants Float Down The Rivers

The most important pioneer home from great West is the second to history on The River Road.

In the beginning England claimed the eastern part of this country and even beyond Hudson Bay. Spain claimed both Florida and the Mississippi Valley. Settlements were made from England through the Atlantic colonies of Cabot. France through the explorations of La Salle.

The thirteen colonies were hemmed in between the Atlantic Ocean and the Allegheny mountains. Beyond these mountains was a mystery land. The Indians were there and they were a fierce, blood conquered. Both nations were alert to find a way to possess it.

The beautiful Ohio River was the gateway avenue provided by Nature to open up this country. Its very name has been a most prominent interest. Flowing to the westward, it discovered and named by the Iroquois nation and it was a great, beckoned men of adventure and colonists from both nations.

Almost started a rat was found crawling guard over her three dead kittens among the ruins of a burned building at Montreal.

Fred Gorse, forestry worker of Fenton, Mich., rescues snakes and mosses out of snakeskins and sold postage stamps.

CHRISTIAN CONSECRATION

LESSON TEXT—Romans 12:1-8; I Corinthians 6:19, 20; Ephesians 5:1-21; I Peter 2:9-12; I John 3:1-3.
GOLDEN TEXT—Present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, unto God.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Our Best Friend.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Always Helped Others.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Christian Consecration.

Consecration is one of the words expressing Christian truth which has been sadly misused in many ways. It has been used sometimes as a "consecration service" which meant nothing to those present except the fulfilling of a certain formula or program. The purpose of the meeting was excellent, but beside many it became a sad formality.

Many people know nothing of any theory of consecration. He flew a certain kind of life which involved abandonment of self to Christ and to those in need. Frequently such a statement in words—it was his life.

Paul was in the month and region of studies in the Christian life. He had spent a year in Arabia considering "Christian Belongs," for no one can live a Christian life until he has first made Christ Lord. He had labored together God's grace in Damascus and Tarsus, teaching and encouraging with his own. All this was under the power of the Holy Spirit. Then he came to Antioch to set others to Christ in glad and willing service.

Men give themselves first to the Lord and then to His service. This is the secret of a joyful as well as successful life. We should not be conformed to this world but be transformed by the renewing of our minds. Only then can we prove what is the good and acceptable and perfect will of God. We are to be holy, for God is holy.

I. "What Then?" (v. 1).

Paul was most moved for the good of the church. Therefore he could be made the very guards who were appointed by God to be bound into ministrations of the cross. He knew each one was to be given a stated period of service and said that all of us are to be used in the whole practical world and to all men (Gal. 6:10).

Then, some of the Christian associates taking advantage of the fact that he was imprisoned went out to preach just to show that they were as good as he. They made their very preaching an expression of their envy of his popularity and hoped to heap more sorrow upon him. But he got angry and bitterly fight back! No, he thanked God that Christ was preached. We need more of that spirit in our day.

II. "In Christ" (v. 5).

One of the glaring fallacies of human thinking is the idea that at some favorable time in the future we shall be able to enjoy life, do mighty deeds or serve the Lord. For example parents fail to enjoy their children because they are always looking forward to the next stage of their development. The time to enjoy and help our children is now. The time to serve the Lord Jesus is now. The day will come when we shall be glorified with him, but it will then be too late to speak to our neighbors about Christ.

III. "To Live Is Christ and to Die Is Gain" (v. 21).

Humanly speaking when a matter is one of "life or death" it is a question whether we shall or not live forever. The hope of death may be to depart and be with Christ, which is far better, but to abide in the flesh is more needful. How different from Paul! He rightly points out that to a Christian death means entering into perfect fellowship with Christ and unlimited service for him. Every human limitation will then be put aside—knowledge, service, communion, will all be perfect and complete.

He would not, however, turn away from his present privilege and duty. Since it is God's will that he should abide in the flesh he will do it in such a way as to make it literally true that to him "to live is Christ." Every life has a purpose and that ruling passion which controls and directs a life is what should be written into the sentence, "To me to live is ——." What is it—money, position, pleasure, sin? Or is it Christ? If he is your life, then you enter into the New Year with the assurance that it will be full and satisfying, and gloriously useful.

Spiteful Words

A spiteful word cuts both ways. A slander hurts the man or woman who spreads it in a more deadly, though unseen, way than it hurts its intended victim. Victor Hugo nobly says, "Every sword has two edges, and the man who wounds with one, wounds himself with the other."

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY

Rivers indeed and how they have appealed to the imagination of the pioneers! Rivers are the highways of the world—of a running brook. The lure of the stream has been felt by all of us. For the adventurous, it is an invitation to explore. To fishers it means to the source or the mouth, has furnished excitement to many a boy. The force of running water has been a great factor in the development of civilization. Rivers are one of the main features of mystery, awe, and reverence. The picturesque region of the Rockcastle River, like that of the Hudson and the Rhine, is a constant delight for the lovers of the beautiful and perhaps Rockcastle county furnishes one of the most picturesque streams of the west for the lover of the beautiful. Especially is this true of streams and other ground drainage. The presence of the "castle rocks and picturesque palisades of the narrow gorge gave the river and country their names. This little share of 310 square miles was created by the Rockcastle River, Roaring Fork, Fourth Creek, Hansford Creek and Negro Creek.

The beautiful scenery has thrilled the poet, the painter and the passing tourist as they follow U. S. Highway 25 and the "Dixie" Way. The first use of the Rockcastle River was for water travel. For the early settlers found it a ready means for the transportation of their products. Though this river was comparatively slow and tedious, its valley soon provided the only means of travel through trackless forest, as was the case of the Rockcastle River when it influenced the first settlement of Rockcastle county. The Wilderness Trail that leads from Cumberland Gap to Boonesboro. The narrow gorge of the river has prevented the building up of wide plains as its banks are confined and compressed by lateral swing. Practically all of the county is marked by numerous sprouts and streams which empty into the river. Among the largest of these are Roundstone Creek
