SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE CAMP HERE HAS MADE PROGRESS

Fifty-Six Farms With 7,621 Acres Now Cooperating in Program. MANY PHASES OF WORK. Erosion control operations by CCC camp near Carlisle, announced expert reports in 1936 than during any previous year in history. Mr. D. O. Williams, superintendent, announced today. The camp is operated under technical supervision of the Soil Conservation Service. Approximately 750 farms in the camp area involving more than seven thousand acres of land and twenty-one acres of agricultural land are now cooperating in the demonstration program. From a technical standpoint, the greatest achievement of the year, Mr. Williams reported, was the construction of check dams. It contained the introduction of such beneficial practices as strip cropping, contour plowing and contour strip plowing. The construction of check dams and contour strip plowing are the most important features of the program. The camp also contains a large amount of land that is being used for demonstration purposes. The camp is located on the site of the old Carlisle school building. The camp is open to the public and is a good place to see the work of the Soil Conservation Service.
