Sports

(By John Parker Rose)

The Cynthiana Bulldogs handed the Musketeers one of the worst goings over they have had in many a moon last Friday at Leiss Field in Cynthiana when the Cynthiana team passed, ran and drove over the Green hombre from Carlisle to the tune of 56 to 0. Ten plays after the opening kickoff the Cynthiana team had thrown first blood; they must have his on arrery, when Turner passed to Taylor 40 yards who completed with a 10 yard run after the catch, resulted in a touchdown. Shortly after the teams had regained their breath Lail, of Cynthiana, circled his own left end on a double reverse 35 yards for another marker. A pass Turner to Ravenscraft, accounted for 15 yards once and then a pass Turner to Taylor for 30 yards accounted for the fourth score of the game. A returned punt for 40 yards by Turner accounted for the fifth touchdown of the monsters in the sixth and last score in the first half was made by Taylor, who took a pass from Turner for 20 yards. Early in the third period a pass from Turner to Taylor for 45 yards placed the ball on the 2 yard line where two line plays netted Cynthiana another score. Shortly after Carlisle suffered a safety when Red pointed to the three yard line, a Cynthiana man touched the ball before it crossed the goal line, recovered it and suffered himself to be tackled by Kendall in the end zone for a safety and 2 points for Carlisle. Cynthiana on the third play after the kickoff intercepted a Carlisle pass and raced 45 yards for another score. Carlisle's ends were responsible for all of their scoring, for Goins intercepted a Cynthiana lateral and raced 70 yards for a touchdown. Red hit center for the extra point. The curtain went down on the scoring when Taylor circled his own right end on a double reverse 20 yards for the last marker. Score Cynthiana 56, Carlisle 0.

Cynthiana made ten first downs to five for Carlisle.

Umpire: Doak (Pitt).

Headlineman: Thomason (Go-town).

We are not given to handing out eerbobs promiscuously but we must comment on the conduct and playing of Buntin, a little fellow starting his first game. The lad played like a veteran, and not only that, he played like he wanted to. He and Conley also starting his first game, gave a good account of themselves, and we hope that the team of next year, of which they will be experienced members, will imbibe some of their spirit.

On Friday afternoon the Lawrenceburg team will be here for a game, the last home game of the current season. It will be the swan song for several of the Big Green, and regardless of how many games they have won or lost I will be there to witness their Omega. Will you?

New Law Affects Growers Of Hemp

The University of Kentucky College of Agriculture has been notified that, under provisions of the Marihuana Tax Act, effective October 1, 1937, farmers growing hemp are required to register with the Collector of Internal Revenue.

Hemp, once an important crop in Kentucky, is still grown in a few counties, mostly in the Bluegrass region. The 1935 agricultural census reported only a few hundred acres in the state.

To Make Varnish And Paint Remover

The Kentucky College of Agriculture offers the following formula for a homemade paint and varnish remover. Use a gallon of denatured alcohol, a gallon of wood alcohol, a fourth of a pound of paraffine. Shave the paraffine into the benzol and let stand over night. Add the alcohol in the morning. Make and use away from fire.

Apply the remover to a small area. Allow the finish to soften. Scrape off softened finish with a putty knife or steel scraper. Repeat until the finish is removed. Wipe with crushed paper or cloth. Rinse with alcohol or gasoline. Dry and sand.

Lesson for October 31

THE MORAL ISSUE IN THE DRUNK PROBLEM

LESSON TEXT—Proverbs 23:19-35; I Corinthians 6:9-11; Galatians 5:19-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh.—Galatians 5:16.

PRIMARY TOPIC—My Neighbors.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Lessons for Living.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why It Pays to Shun Alcoholic Beverages.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Moral Issue in the Drink Problem.

The title for our lesson is well-chosen—"The Moral Issue in the Drink Problem."

First, let it be clear that there is an issue. There have business, social, or political connections with the liquor traffic would like to have us believe that the repeal of prohibition settled the matter once for all. But let us be sure of this fact—the liquor problem is very much with us today.

Second, let it be clear what the issue is. Do we think that the matter of drunkenness is a social, political, or even a physical problem? Has it any moral implications whatever? But those who are informed know that even the supposedly innocent beer is practically tied up with vice and crime. A prisoner in a federal penitentiary writing before prohibition was repealed said, "Crime rode hard with delight . . . the return of liquor via the beer route and the greater license that the return of the saloon will inevitably bring. With the return of beer will come open prostitution and gambling." His words were true.

I. Drunkenness Is a Work of Darkness (Prov. 23:19-34).

Just as there are darkness and daylight in the physical universe, so there are two contrasting spiritual realms, of darkness and light.

Men "loved darkness rather than light because their deeds were evil," according to the Lord Jesus. (See John 3:19.) This spiritual realm of darkness is directed by "rulers of the darkness of this world" (Eph. 6:12), and their purpose is "spiritual wickedness." With the "works of darkness" the believer is to "have no fellowship" (Eph. 5:11), but rather to "reprove them," and bring them into the light where their true nature is made manifest (Eph. 5:13).

"God is light, and in him is no darkness at all," and those who have fellowship with him "walk in the light" (1 John 1:5-7).

Drunkenness is a work of darkness. It separates man from God and makes him fear the glorious light of his countenance. The solution for that awful condition is revealed in v. 14. "Put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ."

II. Drunkenness Is a Work of Unrighteousness (1 Cor. 6:9-11).

No drunkard "shall inherit the kingdom of God" (v. 10), and the man who takes his first drink has put his foot on the path that leads to the drunkard's grave. Of course no man plans to go that far, but the fact is that such is the tragic conclusion for hundreds of thousands of men and women—damned for time and eternity by drink.

Again in this passage we have the answer to our problem. Not reformation, not education, not culture is desirable and useful though we recognize these things to be), but being "washed," "sanctified," and "justified" in "the name of the Lord Jesus and in the Spirit of God." Try that on your town drunkard. Thank God, it works!

III. Drunkenness Is a Work of the Flesh (Gal. 5:16-24).

The flesh—that is our bodies ruled over by self-will as opposed to God's will—is revealed in the Scriptures to be thoroughly bad, and in opposition to God. Consider the appalling list of the works of the flesh in verses 19 and 20. And note that in the midst of them stands drunkenness.

It is the lowest in man that responds to intoxicants. Little wonder that the Brewers' Journal came out right after the election of 1932 with the statement that "not one tenth of one-per cent of American youths know the taste of real beer." We must emphasize that, in other words the normal taste of an intelligent person goes to revolt at the stuff, but once give it a chance to stir the lusts of the flesh" and the victim is caught.

Once more note the antidote—living in the power of the Holy Spirit, and the flesh with its lusts is crucified (v. 24). How shall we have the Holy Spirit and his power in our lives? By taking the Lord Jesus Christ as personal Saviour.

Words Without Action

Few men suspect how much more talk fritters away spiritual energy —that which should be spent in action, spends itself in words.

Killing Time

People partial to this crime of killing time might be pardoned if they'll only kill their own.

Kindness

Kindness is a language the dumb can speak, and the deaf can hear and understand.—Bovee.

KENTUCKY COUNTIES ON PARADE

BELL.

Virginia has its Jamestown and Massachusetts has its Plymouth Rock. Kentucky has its Cumberland Gap, the gateway to the Blue Grass State and the first stop in Kentucky on the Wilderness Trail. Through this gateway and through this region which later became the mother subdivision of the state known as Bell country poured a stream of early pioneers who came not to seek fortunes, but to make homes. Most went on to the Blue Grass plains of the central region, but settled along the more sheltered valleys and on hillside slopes.

On Kentucky soil these Anglo Saxons were transformed, and united to form one state and one people. Thus the original Kentuckian was a composite of the best there was in the Americans blood and training. Several streams of national tendencies were here united to form the commonwealth of Kentucky. The state became great because in her history and institutions the characters of Pennsylvania, Virginia, and the Carolinas were plainly written. Nature as well as man contributed to make Kentucky great. With the great water way of the Ohio river and its many tributary valleys, reaching almost to the Virginia line on the Eastern Kentucky, Kentucky offered a roadway and waterway of entrance into the state. With natural resources of soil, water, and forest unsurpassed, and probably unequaled by any other common-wealth, Kentucky was bountiful- ly endowed with nature's gifts. Situated midway between the Atlantic states and those farther west, Kentucky lay directly in the path of the westward movement, and she reaped the benefits as the natural gateway to the great West.

If you look at a map of the U. S. you will see that Kentucky is one of the smaller states with a land surface of 40,598 square miles or one-seventeenth of the whole nation, or about one-fort- ieth one-hundredth part of the earth's land area. If you look at the map of Kentucky, you will note that Bell county is one of the 120 counties whose average size is about 320 square miles. Three states, Texas, Georgia, and Virginia surpass Kentucky in the number of counties. Kentucky ranks forty-seventh in the list in the size of its counties, being surpassed by all the states save Rhode Island.

Beautiful Bell county, the first of counties in this parade is situated in the extreme southeastern corner of the state. It has an area of 361 square miles, and a population estimated at 40,000. It ranks fortieth in area among Kentucky counties and twelfth in population. The density of population is 100, while the average for the state is about 40. The census gives the general appearance of an irregular quadrangle, Virginia forms the base, and the apex is some twenty or five miles northward. It was created in 1867 when the state was seventy-five years old, out of Knox and Harlan counties. A portion of Whitley county was added later. This county was named after a brilliant Kentucky lawyer, Joshua Fry Bell, and for many years it was called Josh Bell County.

Bulletin Tells How Land May Be "Anchored"

How farmlands in the Ohio Valley may be anchored is the subject of a U. S. Department of Agriculture bulletin just received at the Carlisle CCC Camp, office of the Soil Conservation Service. The bulletin, prepared with the assistance of members of the regional staff, is the first written especially for the region.

Written in popular style, the bulletin offers suggestions for conserving soil and moisture. Such soil-saving measures as farm re planning, improved crop rotations, use of cover crops, fertilizing and liming, contour cultivation, contour strip cropping, terracing, use of vegetated waterways, improvement of permanent pastures, gully control, establishment of permanent woodlands, and wildlife conservation are discussed. All recommendations are based upon experience of the Service and follow closely those made by the University of Kentucky Extension Service.

"Farmlands often seem as stable as the Rock of Gibraltar," the bulletin states in the preface. "Yet within the memory of men now living, land in the Ohio Valley Region has been eroded, silted, ruined by erosion, and abandoned."

"If the United States is to remain a productive agricultural Nation we must anchor our soil and protect it against the ravages of rain and wind. Already we have lost untold billions of tons from millions of acres. The task that lies before us is to check the further advance of erosion and carefully conserve the abundant supply of fertile soil that remains."

The text of the pamphlet contains concrete suggestions for controlling soil erosion. Copies may be obtained free of charge from the office of D. O. Williams, superintendent of CCC Camp Carlisle.

Treat Sheep Now Suggests Miller

A little time and expense in treating the flock of sheep for worms at this time will save trouble and lost later suggests Richard C. Miller of the Kentucky College of Agriculture. While sheep under Kentucky conditions should be treated for stomach worms monthly during the grazing season, the import- ance of a late October or early November treatment before the sheep go into the winter cannot be over emphasized, he says. The worm eggs do not finish out during cold weather and if the sheep are free from worms when they go into the winter they will not reinfect the pastures when warm weather comes in the spring. While some stomach worms may apparently live through a severe Kentucky winter and hatch out when warm weather comes the prevention is no doubt that the farmer who treats his flock in the late fall can expect much less trouble from worms than would be the case if the flock carried worms through the winter to re- infect the pastures.

Furthermore, customers Mr. Miller sheep that are infested with parasites do not make the best use of feed during the winter season. It requires little time and expense to rid the flock of worms, and we work with the flock at this time will pay well for the labor and cost required.

Either the thiocyanate, combined thiocyanate and "Black Leaf 40," or the tetrachlorethylene treatment is satisfactory. Information on methods of administering these treatments can be had from county farm agents or from Extension Circular No. 152, Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Progress toward civilization of natives should be treated for tasts of the Dutch East Indies, who formerly were cannibals, given to eating enemies taken in war as well as old people of their own tribe. Now, it is said, they have forsaken that primitive custom, and eat dogs instead.

ELECTRIC COOKING
Is Always Very Much Cleaner

No fuel or smoke or soot or ashes to mix up the place . . . No greasy deposits on woodwork and walls to spot up the . . .

ELECTRIC cooking saves you time and spares you much labor in the preparation of meals. It assures more satisfactory results in baking pies and cakes. It preserves all nourishing elements and savory flavors in meats and vegetables. And it is really economical.

More than a million and a quarter American housewives today use electric cooking. Most of them are people in moderate circumstances, living thriftily. You, too, can afford electric cooking in your home.

Come in tomorrow for a free demonstration of Hotpoint and Westinghouse Ranges, which we sell. Let us show you the advantages of electric cooking and explain why you can readily enjoy them.

PROGRESS

THE PROSPERITY of a community is not measured by population, but by its civic and commercial progress.

A handful of workers achieve more than a city full of drones.

Team work is what counts in everything. A prominent football coach recently said: "Give me a team of average ability who will work together each with the other and all for the team and I will win over any team made up solely of individual stars."

Individual ability makes great men—shining lights, but it is mass co-operation of energetic men of civic spirit, home pride and community enterprise that builds a town's progress and prosperity.

Men of this community, be ye more than mere residents -- be citizens.

The shirker says: "Let George do it." The worker says: "Let me help."
