The Broadcast

Station CM&SC Carlisle, Ky.

The Broadcast will be "on the air" ever so often with news from the Carlisle Mill & Supply Company. Things are happening down this way which we want you to know about and we believe it will be mutually profitable to us and our patrons to give the news periodically to what we are doing, what we are offering in sales and service, with suggestions in Building, Roofing, Feeding, Planting Seeds, Fertilizer, etc.—and of course the use of our Mill products—White Rose Flour, Old Kentucky Corn Meal and Old Kentucky Mill Feed.

When we heard the fire alarm last Thursday morning we looked out our bedroom window and were thoroughly convinced it was one of our buildings, not thinking of the one located right in the center of our group. It happened to be right ablaze, with our mill in the East, the elevator South, the redryer full of wheat on the West and our lumber house due North, we are very thankful we escaped and appreciate the many expressions of our friends.

The recent heavy rains caught a great deal of wheat out in the fields, some in the shock and some stacked. Since threshing has been resumed we find most of this wheat badly damaged—mostly damp with sprouted grains —and we have not been in position to take care of much wheat of this character. However, if the weather will try to dry this wheat we will do all we can to help them find a market for it later.

While we are on the subject of wheat we want to say that we have on hands sufficient good, heavy, dry wheat to run us through the year and you will find White Rose and all other grades of our flour right up to the standard. There will never be a bushel of this inferior wheat run through our mill.

It's August now—the last month of summer—and we believe you should be thinking about your winter coal supply—and for this reason: There has been less domestic coal sold this summer than ever before. There will be a wild scramble soon and the miners will not be in position to run because they cannot dispose of the slack. Under those circumstances you will have to take an inferior preparation and pay a much higher price for it. Good block coal will be almost impossible to get. Buy your coal now at a reasonable price and get the kind you want. This is not our propaganda but is the warning of every mine we represent.

This will be the ideal season for sowing Crimson Clover. There is plenty of moisture in the ground and this is necessary for a good stand. Crimson is a wonderful legume and a splendid cover crop. Corn and tobacco will thrive after it next summer.

"Lest We Forget"

Barkley CAN and DOES do things for Kentucky, for Nicholas County, Ky. and Nicholas County needs him at Washington.

ALBEN W. BARKLEY

In a very few days the most powerful instrument for the defense of a free people of a proud State, will speak. For the privilege of hearing this voice, the people of their forefathers and it united their native lives that they and their posterity might enjoy the rich blessings of their country and to serve their liberties against the tyranny of the autocrat, the politician and the demagogue is the proper use of this critical time will determine our ability to choose between a course that has lifted us from chaos, oppression and even hunger on the acceptance of a faith that has already, in two brief years, exemplified itself in the Governor of our State, been filled with opulence and prosperity and deprivity. This instrument has distinguished us as individuals fit to select those to govern us that will now prevent us from being puppets to a high handed regime that hooks in its own glory from the plunder of its subjects. Let them only part of the truth. Ladies and Gentlemen, this instrument so dearly purchased, so jealously guarded, so necessary to a free people is that all potent ballot to be wielded by the hand of every citizen, the symbol, of his freedom, the hope of his future the cause total for which he and his forefathers have labored and prayed to possess—THE BALLOT.

We are now engaged in an important combat in the native State, testing the intelligence of every man and woman in the land of the ballot. The principals and the lieutenants of the contenders for the office of United States Senator from Kentucky, Alben W. Barkley and Albert B. Chandler, have come before us frequently during the past few weeks and referred to their respective records in public office and these in their records have asked us to judge of their ability to represent us in the greatest governing body in the world.—The United States Senate. We believe that certain issues are at stake, that the result of this election will determine whether the star of hope, which has been resplendent in 1932 in the form of the New Deal" for a benighted people of Kentucky and the Nation at large shall remain in its ascendency or whether it shall be eclipsed by an arrogant, pleasure loving, vainly ambitious aristocrat yet in his swaddling clothes as to statesmanship. So we will, in few words, attempt if elected to change the order of things in Washington, but in the end will leave us groping in doubt, forsaking his promises as issued, and following us, shorn of our "abundant life" into the lands of the Liberty League and any other league which will listen to his songs and flatter him as the famous statesman, Patrick Henry, said, "We are apt to close our eyes to the painful truth and listen to the song of the siren, until it transforms us into beasts." If we are so deceived, then friends, duty well will be done, no shame as we sell our birthright for this mess of pottage but we will deliver us into a bondage brought by our own folly. Let us analyze the issue, to separate the chaff from the wheat. A vote for Chandler will require no such reasoning, it must be actuated by sentiment only, which is poor nourishment to starving millions.

Since the contestants have invited us to consult the records, we can, without malice or prejudice, scan the tablets of the immediate past and read the inscription thereon which is as simple as to defy the most artful politician to contort or confuse. Though Time and Circumstance may have set us far from the arena of a day when the soul and body could scarcely be kept together—the days of the Life Hoover reign and an early Roosevelt administration, the records may well be consulted that we may not forget or misunderstand.

Although this is a campaign of major importance and scope, affecting both Nation and State, we should not lose sight of the local aspect as it directly touches the people of Nicholas County. Therefore, please let us consider the real benefits of the New Deal as they accrue to this County, bearing in mind that Senator Barkley, as majority leader of the Senate, was a instrumental in obtaining these benefits for us by offering the bill, steering it through the committee and finally voting on its passage.

FARMING is the principal industry of the County and tobacco is the chief money crop. So, lets we forget, in 1932 and 3 the price of Burley Tobacco was around 10c per pound, the income from the crop was $26,000,000 a year. After the Agricultural program became effective in 1934 the price jumped to 20c, the income was $56,000,000. Corn, wheat and other grains reached unprecedented levels. Hogs, sheep and cattle commanded prices which enabled the farmer to realize an appreciation in profit which prior to this program were raised at a loss. The average small land owner found himself on the New Deal side of the ledger before the end of the year. The changing hurtle and flippant personalities will be lost in the echoes of the past. But the record shall remain inviolate. We are inspired with a sacred duty and the destiny of ourselves and our government lays in the ballot of our own God. The ballot speaks, and its voice will longer from this date long after we shall have faded from the scroll of Time. The coming years will attest to our wisdom in voting for the Nation's foremost statesman and Kentucky's noblest champion of the more abundant life.—Alben W. Barkley.
