JUNE IS PERFORMING

(Baltimore Sun)

June is performing her own lovely way
With fruit in her orchards and harvests of hay;
Wild grapes in blossom and the fragrance of locust trees
As warm and as sweet as the hearts of our friends.

Here lilies are lifting their heads to the sun,
And roses are rich in the beauty they've won.
The birds are responding so gay and so clear,
And the sky is so blue and it leans down so near.

Bridal wreaths woven of daisies and dew,
Gardens in glory and eyes burning true
June is performing with all her rare grace,
And love walks the world with a dream on her face.
