CAPOTAL COMMENTS

(By David M. Porter)

On January 19, we announced a poll among the readers of the papers who run Capitol Comments. On February 26 we published the results in this and the various candidates for Governor.

The astounding thing to the politicians at Frankfort was that the poll was 97.8 per cent accurate as far back as February. I know that the people who are the readers of this column are citizens whose opinions coincide with that of most Kentuckians, and the results of the election which agrees with the poll verifies my belief.

Students of music and art in the various grades of our public schools may be without text books on the subjects because of the shortage.

Many of the schools in the state have been teaching music and art and as a result should not, and some do not teach these subjects, but high powered text books are used to teach these books as the state pays for them.

The state, on the money it has is furnishing all books to students through the seventh grade. If they didn't have to pay for books through the seventh grade they could supply many of the books through the eighth grade.

The law requires the children have to be furnished to the grades mentioned, that is all the books of have to be supplied to 6th grade by the state, and the parents furnish for another grade. The Superintendent of Public Instruction wants a ruling on this, as the money spent on art and music books would supply the books and furnish many books to the eighth grade students.

Defense Program Speeded As Fear Of War Grows

President Roosevelt's multi-billion dollar National defense program is being speeded up as fears rise due to increasing tension in Europe. It was started Monday.

It was disclosed that the Army and Navy high commands are making a detailed examination of defense preparations, including the status of battleship construction and the training and procuring of industry to meet war needs. Officials also are studying sale, personnel, and other problems.

Results of the survey are expected to be reported to the Office War Resources Board, which holds its second meeting Wednesday.

Heading the group, which is directing the nation's all-out industrial mobilization in event of war, is Harry Hopkins, chairman of the Board of the United States Steel Corporation. He is in close conference with Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson and Acting Secretary of the Navy, Charles Edison.

The State Department meanwhile was busy maintaining constant contact with European capitals and keeping President Roosevelt apprised of developments. The President is aboard the cruiser Tuscaloosa in the Atlantic.

It also was learned that the tripartite monetary agreement between the United States, Great Britain and France probably will be announced soon after the European signatories are involved in war.

The agreement was signed in 1936 and is designed to enable the three countries to maintain a stable relationship among their currencies, to prevent the event of war, France and Great Britain would not be forced to enter into exact exchange control regulations, probably causing some restrictions on international trade. It would, in effect, be extending powerful financial aid to the two democracies.

$30,000 Is State's Share In Public Health Fund

Kentucky's share in the recent public health appropriations of Congress will amount to more than $30,000, Dr. Joe McCormick, State Health Commissioner, said Friday. He will bring the total Federal appropriations for the year to approximately $250,000.

"Congress should have appropriated twice as much as it did for its national health program," Dr. McCormick said. "The need, I manage on what we've got."

The Health Commissioner will return to Washington Tuesday to confer with officials on the Surgeon General and State Health Commissioners.

Home-Made Furnace For Tobacco Curing

In curing tobacco, James Bray, Pulaski county, uses a home-made furnace constructed of brick, the brooder fired by chicken raisers, air duct that is extended along the floor 20 to 25 feet. County Agent Jack S. Kidd describes the furnace as being built of heavy roofing in an arc shape, with the edges fastened to the ground with metal pins. The affair is made air-tight and fire-proof by plastering the edges with clay mud. An ordinary stove-pipe is used to carry off the smoke. Either coal or wood is burned. Two furnaces were used in an acre barn last year, and the tobacco brought 30 cents a pound.

Kentucky, Indiana Guards Break Camp

Some 7,000 officers and enlisted men of the Kentucky and Indiana National Guard broke camp at Fort Knox Sunday and prepared to return to civil life after completing their annual 15-day summer training course.

Brig. Gen. Ellerbe W. Carter of Louisville, and Brig. Gen. D. Wray DeVyer of Indianapolis, who commanded opposing armies in a limited war that highlighted the training session, commended the "spirit and performance" of their troops.

Officers spent most of the final day around conference tables with 92 Regular Army instructors who made up the board of umpires for the sham war. Critiques of the "war" were discussed in detail with the instructors pointing out mistakes and commending meritorious action.

The instructors saw the maneuvers generally were "highly successful."

Covington Police Probe Death Of Girl Found Nude

Police sought Tuesday to determine how Anna May Bishop, 22, was killed. Her nude body—a bullet wound in the head—was found in her bed by her father, Herman Bishop.

Coroner James P. Riffe, with a verdict pending completion of an investigation by Detectives Leroy Hall and Albert Setter. At 2 p. m. Dr. Riffe supplied the information that he had fallen on an electric light plate, but he said closer examination disclosed cuts and welts, which made by a lash, on her back and bruises on her shoulder and other parts of her body.

Bishop, a hairdresser, operates a small store at the home and said he had another room in the house. He said he left the house at noon Saturday for Brooksville and returned at noon Tuesday to find his daughter dead, with both doors to the building were locked when he returned.

Following several deaths from drinking "Bed Bugle," also known as "Tony Wine," the Government of Ireland has started an investigation of the drink. The Irish drink being barred from the country.

Room Bureaus Set-Up For New York Fair

NEW YORK (Special)—Two Kentucky cities have been set up in New York City to insure World's Fair visitors' getting living accommodations at a most reasonable price.

One is the Mayor's Official World's Fair Bureau, Inc., with headquarters in the Chanin Building, 122 East 42d Street, set up by Mayor LaGuardia to locate rooms for private citizens at private homes and dwellings.

The other is the Hotel Room Information Bureau of the Hotel Association of New York City, representing 180 hotels with a total capacity of 80,000 rooms. The bureau is at associates headquarters, 221 West 57th street.

Both agencies function without any charge to the visitor in finding him clean and comfortable accommodations at a price within his means. Rooms in private dwellings range in price from $1 per night per person upward, with the average per person $1.50.

Every Western Union and Postal Telegraph office is equipped to handle requests for rooms in connection with the Housing Bureau's operations. Every policeman in New York City is familiar with the plan and is equipped to give visitors first hand information as to methods of obtaining registered and sponsored rooms.

On making the application per a room the visitor pays a deposit of 50 cents per night per person for which he receives a receipt. The receipt may be presented by the landlord in lieu of cash as part payment for the room.

Low Feed Costs Help Poultrymen

Although egg and poultry prices are low the poultry department at the Kentucky State Fair is optimistic considering the situation encouraging because feed prices in relation between the two feed and egg prices has been favorable for quite some time. Heavy holdings of poultry products are high, and production is continuing large. However, prices of wheat, corn and soybeans have declined and are expected to stay at a relatively low level which will help to offset poor poultry prices.

Holland Is Out As Reform School Head

S. K. Holland, whose resignation as Superintendent of the Kentucky Home of Reform, Greenbaum, was effective Monday, left the institution and turned the keys over to Norman Braden, Assistant Welfare Commissioner, who will be in charge until a new Superintendent is appointed.

Also to be filled is the post of Assistant Superintendent, formerly held by John R. Crolley, Lexington. When Miss Wolf asked both Holland and Crolley to resign, Holland complied, but Crolley declined to quit and was dismissed. He said he had refused to resign because he feared it might be taken as an admission of wrong doing, whereas he considered he had performed his duties satisfactorily, and would welcome an investigation of his record.
