KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

With a large number of materials for making clothing on the market this year, members of homemaking clubs in Madison county are interested in "buy wisely" information. Many women attended lectures on buying piece goods at Banks Hudson, Mercer county farmer, reports seeding 21 acres of bluegrass and red clover, 38 acres of bluegrass alone, 101 acres of bluegrass, red clover and lespedeza, and 29 acres of lespedeza on old bluegrass pasture.

Use of green manure crops, with superphosphate and 20 per cent muriate of potash, or 200 pounds superphosphate broadcast, and a small amount of complete fertilizer in the row, produced the best quality tobacco in Fleming county, according to County Agent Ben LeMaster.

J. C. Wagers, Estill county, was on the lunker and not on the fishing end when that proposition could buy from the hunter who shot them.

Mr. Herdman reiterated a former opinion of the attorney general's office to the effect that the law bought 10 ewes and a purebred ram for each county, and that the wool paid the cost of the block and the ram could be counted $107.20

McCracken county farmers are interested in the use of a cutting packer seeder. This seeder is made by adding a grass seed attachment and a wheel drill to a conventional cultipacker, making it possible to do seeding and packing in one operation.

Rabbit Limit Does Not Affect Dealers

The provision of the law that not more than 16 rabbits shall be in a person's possession at any one time applies to hunters only and not to dealers, Assistant Attorney General Guy P. Herdman advised Robert Mutters of Morehead, state game warden, this week. Mutters asked if they could do this from a number hunters as they want to buy from. There is no limit, he added to the groceryman's supply of buying and selling.

Governor Urges Safety Precautions

In a proclamation issued Friday Gov. Keen Johnson called upon every citizen to do his part in the traffic safety campaign being carried out down the huge December total. Kentucky's record last year exceeded all months with a cost of $2,000,000.

"This slaughter on our streets and highways is due," the governor said, "to the bad weather conditions and the rush and geniality of the Christmas holiday season.

"This state is willing and eager to enlist in the fight to save human lives. I call upon every citizen to do his part in this drive to stop the needless carnage by exercising unusual care during this extra hazardous season, so that this may joy shall reign untouched by sorrow."

Longer Days.

Days will soon be getting longer, and it will be a good thing. Of course, it's actually all days of the same length, but some have more sunshine than others. But it does it were not for the fact that the moistened mash is softened by the 100 hens. This is not a substitute days nights daily longer gives more for dry mash. Liberal feeding of grain keeps the pullets in good daylight.

In selecting a beef cattle sire, keep in mind a blocky, compact body, broad well-sprung ribs and deep chest. The loin should be broad, with good width throughout the length of the body, with a straight top and bottom and short straight legs.

If seventeen mua is made 3 to 21 hours before freezing and kept cold during this period, the pickle pears may be smoother and the yield greater than if the mix is frozen immediately. Shortsets in which fresh fruit juice is used should not be allowed to stand before freezing because flavor and vitamin C are out.

It is inadvisable to can meat in jars that have held such commercial products as salad dressing, peanut butter or pickles, since they usually are not adapted to safe sealing, and sometimes are not strong enough to withstand pressure.

Tests indicate that light-weight, electric irons of 1000-watt rating are more convenient, easier to use and give as good results as heavier irons. Good pressing results from heat, moisture and hard and firm movement, as well as from weight.

2,128 Kentuckians To Get First Pension Payments Soon

A total of 2,128 men and women in Kentucky will be notified shortly before Christmas that they are eligible to receive monthly old-age insurance checks for the remainder of their lives, Marshall D. Vaughn, manager of the Lexington field office of the Social Security Board, announced last week.

Approximately 250 of these persons live in Fayette and the other 19 counties included in the Lexington district of the federal agency's organization.

Recipients of the notices will be persons to whom lump sum benefits have been paid since the federal old-age insurance system was established January 1, 1937, Mr. Vaughn explained.

The amended Social Security act, Mr. Vaughn declared, "changed the date for monthly benefits two years to 1940 and makes it possible for a wage earner to qualify after he is 65 years old, even if he has already received a single cash settlement from the original law. A qualified worker could receive only a lump-sum payment equal to 3 1-2 per cent of his total wages.

"This means," said Mr. Vaughn, "that the age barrier to federal retirement insurance has been torn down. Even the man who already was 65 when the old-age insurance system was set up and who, therefore, has never been under the federal program, may now qualify for monthly benefits. To qualify for retirement insurance in 1940 a worker will be necessary for him to show that he has worked in six calendar quarters, has received wages of at least $50 in wages, and has retained employment in a regularly covered job. The man already has received a lump sum it will be deducted from the monthly payments which he will receive after January 1.

Lieut. Col. John A. Polin Appointed Adjutant General

Governor Keen Johnson announced late last Wednesday afternoon the appointment of Lieut. Col. John A. Polin, of Springfield, as Adjutant General, succeeding G. Lee McClain. The Governor named General McClain, whose home is in Bardstown, Chief of Staff, with duties to return to private business.

Colonel Polin was active in and assumed the duties of his new position today. Colonel Polin, outstanding officer of the Kentucky Army and an attorney, served as a lieutenant in the World War and is serving 21 months overseas. He has been a National Guardsman for 19 years. He is 50 years old, is married and has two children.

Adjutant McClain served as Adjutant General for four years under Governor Ruby Laffoon.

Allotments for commercial wheat growers for next year have been increased, but for commercial corn growers there is a decrease of about 12 per cent.

Next year's farm program puts added emphasis on conservation. In Kentucky, according to a state director, says particular stress is to be put on the proper soil-crop balance between the spreading of limestone, the use of legumes, phate and the seeding of grasses and legumes.

A feature of the program next year entitles a farmer to earn $30 beyond the regular soil-building allowance, by setting forest trees. Thus he may have a start in growing rapidly into fenceposts and other useful materials in this state. Seedlings may be had at low cost from the Division of Forestry at Frankfort.

K. E. A. Backs Plan For $15 Per Year Per Capita

T. V. Fortenberry, Dixon, Webster county school superintendent, was elected president of the Kentucky Education Association's Department of Superintendence at Frankfort Friday.

The department, presided over by Fortenberry, adopted a resolution also voted indorsement of the $15 per year per capita plan for which includes a suggestion that the money be used for the education of a single pupil for two years in high school.

It heard W. F. King, Louisville, executive secretary of the K. E. A., explain legislative proposals for materially provisions for education including the fair and equitable support of a Commonwealth of Kentucky and tradition do not serve better treatment."

King, finding fault with the state for its "failure to live up to the mandate from its people" to maintain an adequate school system, said the minimum education program called for by the statutes of Kentucky requiring only seven months a year with only the barest minimum of opportunity.

He also complained that schools with short terms are compelled to employ teachers with limited training and experience, and that 60 per cent of whom a college training is required, "are compelled to pay for the equivalent of a weekly wage of $12."

MONEY TALKS

Money Talks—

Moderately higher retail prices for many commodities now seem likely.

Prices of many important raw materials have gone up from five per cent to eighty per cent this year which means manufacturers are paying higher prices for materials which go into finished goods. Labor costs have also increased. All this is reflected first in higher wholesale prices and eventually in higher retail prices. It is foolish to believe that manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers will absorb increased costs. A goodly percentage of this increase, as always, will be passed on to the consumer.

Great Britain and France have opened buying offices in New York City, and they are already asking our manufacturers for bids on shoes, clothing, and certain foodstuffs as well as raw materials. Our own government is increasing its purchases of goods for our army and navy. Such new demand is bound to be reflected in higher prices for some commodities.

Several weeks ago I said I did not look for any violent rise in prices as occurred in the last war. This still holds true factor which should prevent violent price advances are large surpluses of raw materials stored in this country, increased productivity of factories and farms, the decline of population to keep prices at their present level and the watchful eye of the government. The most powerful weapon against unwarranted price advances is the control of credit which ceases to buy when he thinks prices have gone high.

Legitimate price advances of as much as five per cent to fifteen per cent in many lines are bound to come, and when they arrive how should save you some money. At present there are no signs of any price concessions on retailers are now buying for fall and clothing, and such goods. A five per cent to ten per cent saving is not to be taken lightly, it will help the budget later on

Burley Average $16.47 In First Week Of Sales

Average $2.59 Less Than Last Year's Average In Heavy Sales Last Week

FOURTH OF CROP SOLD

Nearly one-fourth of the estimated 1939 burley tobacco crop was sold over the auction floors of warehouses in five states, the bulk of it in Kentucky, during the first sales days of the season last Monday.

Figures compiled by the Courier-Journal show that Kentucky tobacco growers sold 66,422,231 pounds of tobacco for $10,939,514.86, an average of $16.47. The average was $2.59 less than last year's season average of $19.06.

According to the Associated Press, the four states, Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina and Indiana, last sold 15,382,994 pounds of burley at an average of $15.55.

Sales in the five states were 81,-805,137 pounds of the estimated 1939 production of 1,706,471,000 pounds.

The 1939 sales season opened at Lexington last Monday when 3,-808,236 pounds sold for $536,718.31 an average of $17.55.

Monday's auctions totaled sales in other burley sales opened the Kentucky growers sold 11,509,571 pounds for $1,801,205.96 an average of $16.84, a decline of $4.76 from last week's opening day average.

Wednesday the average was $16.57, a drop of 22 cents from opening day. Thursday it crept up 4 cents to $16.61, but on Friday the state-wide average went down cents to $16.26 a hundred pounds. Saturday the sales totaled seven tenths of the loss, climbing to $16.30

Local Distribution Of Food Is Halted

Federal Agency Suspends Distribution Until State Or County Pays Distribution Cost

Local distribution of federal surplus commodities ended here Friday, and will not be resumed, according to Orville Feeback, commodities distribution clerk, acting until the orders of A. H. Bornwasser, state director of the distribution. Mr. Bornwasser ordered distribution of commodities suspended except in cases where cities or counties arranged to pay distribution costs.

No action has been made here for the payment of distribution costs, Judge D. M. Curry said Saturday.

Mr. Feeback said 177 families in Nicholas county are receiving surplus commodities which are distributed on the first and third Mondays in each month. Although the food is distributed only on two days in each month, a clerk is required on duty at all times to receive the applications and take care of it.

Governor Keen Johnson said Friday he had requested the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation to continue paying for distribution costs in Kentucky, and that the 1940 General Assembly could provide funds for that purpose and thus keep the surpluses going, he should save you some money At present there are no signs of any price concessions-retailers are now buying for fall and clothing, and such goods. Mrs. J. Ed Weathers suffered a fracture of the left arm, cuts and bruises about the head and left fracture Friday afternoon when she was struck by an automobile as she crossed the road in front of the home of her husband on the concrete road just outside the city limits.

Loans May Be Made On Tobacco Unsold

Hutson And Growers Confer On Plan At Lexington Monday, Decision In Week

Steps to withhold from market the grades of tobacco which have been affected most by the current season's prices will be taken unless distinct improvement in prices is noted within the next few days, it was decided at a meeting afternoon at a meeting of representative Carlisle county growers with J. B. Hutson of Washington, assistant AAA administrator at Lexington.

A plan introduced at the session to offer government loans on the grades of the leaf withdrawn by farmers from the warehouses in order to cause of unsatisfactory selling offers will be taken under consideration by AAA officials in Washington, it was announced. Action on the suggestion was expected within a week, and at the end of that time it is believed that the full amount of the loans the "federal agency would approve for the various grades would be made known to farmers.

It was pointed out in a prepared statement authorized by the group and issued by John W. Jones, Bourbon county leaf producer, who presided, that if arrangements could be made for redrying and storing a portion of the grades involved in the lower-price class, its difficulty should be overcome and in marketing the tobacco profitably next season. An anticipated 20 per cent reduction in the 1940 crop was cited as the basis for the proposed plan of withdrawal from the market could be sold later at satisfactory prices.

County Agent Makes Report Of Activities For Year

County Agent M. P. Nichols has completed a report of the year's activities in the work of Nicholas county. Mr. Nichols became County Agent on January 1, succeeding J. Matson, and the report covers the first year's work of Mr. Nichols and Mr. Matson.

Excerpts from the report will be given in the Mercury from time to time. Following is the list of major accomplishments for the year, as given in the report.

Tabulating a statistical extension report and typing it was one of the often laborious under favorable circumstances, but a large number of agents past the middle of the extension year, it is natural that there is a greater chance of errors appearing. The less opportunity for a very complete and coherent story of the year's work. Throughout this report it should be remembered that the County Agent making was on the job only the last five months of the extension year; the remaining seven months were spent with the first seven. Therefore, it will be understood that the new agent strives to merely carry out the program as laid out by the former agent, and it is probable that a large number of demonstrations were carried over which may were not called to the attention of the new agent as could not possibly be checked up on. This and similar situations in the work may account for a decrease the report to be smaller than it should be, for the work actually accomplished within the county.

It must be clearly understood that this report is of the work of both agents covering the entire extension year of 1939. During the time the A. C. program in Nicholas county was in the building the major portion of attention and time of the county agent as a project. For 1939 five commodity projects were planned. They were tobacco, beef calf, sheep and poultry and engineering, beside the 4-H work which is not usually considered a commodity program. No commodity programs of work were built. The county agents spent a total of 123 days in the office and 164 days in the field. In carrying out the work, the Farm Bureau should be commended for its support in addition other that that of the A. C. The county agents during the year and cooperated with the agents. The county agents have many of the 169 voluntary local leaders, women leaders assisting with the work. The group meeting is a program in extension work the county agents have chosen for the office received some 8,253 calls in person and 2,115 letters. The agents prepared 169 news articles and sent over 3,000 individual letters. Seventeen method demonstrations were held with 253 in attendance. Two result demonstration meetings were held, three tours were conducted, four achievement day programs for 4-H members, one encampment and one hundred-twenty-nine meetings at which the county agents attended. In all many in work the county agents averaged being about 1,000 miles a month.

The A. C. program is as yet incomplete, but the soil conservation work has been completed on major accomplishments they shall be reported together. Records in the statistical report would indicate a total of 817 farms signed up under the program, with 713 really completing the work. In this program the coalfly office received 675 calls, 44 different leaders served on 131 different jobs were paid, besides some 15 other local volunteers helped with the work carried out pay. The agricultural agents spent 331 days on the conservation program and specialists 10 days besides the number of days of technical supervision that was received from the State A. C. P. office. The major accomplishments that may be cited in this work are an estimated earning of $32,000 and building, payments and $29,288.58 tobacco payments. Probably much more important will be the indirect effect of 130 men applying some 4,500 tons of lime, 790 men applying some 445 tons of recommended fertilizer, 450 men plowing under some 1500 acres of green manure and 600 men using over 4,000 acres of cover crops. Besides this, it might be mentioned that by the work of the Soil Conservation Service the past year in Nicholas county on 22 farms, 570 acres have been protected by strip cropping 1,000 feet of terrace and 1,000 feet covering 2,270 acres, ran some 1,-940 land tests.

In the 4-H work 175 boys and girls cooperated for the 1939 year with 169 local leaders and 4-H carrying 207 projects, in clothing, garden, forestry, sheep and poultry which were valued at a total of $6,066. In the year 1939 there were actually 5 organized clubs with another project group. Already for 1940 there are 9 well organized clubs with over 200 members on the roll indicating an increase of one-half over the 1939 enrollment.

In tobacco the most outstanding accomplishments were the holding of six method demonstrations on properly grading tobacco at which considerable work in the early part of the year on these and again the seed crop of K. L.-Norden certified. The project dealt with sheep was the assistance in formation of many flocks of breeding stock and giving 4 method demonstrations on drenching which were attended by 84 sheep men. There received several mimeographed circular letters carrying timely information, several attended the county tour in the adjoining county and plans were laid for a beef cattle tour in the Nicholas county for next year. Several baby beef shows were conducted by the local stock men in the final one being held in May by Mr. Rhoads from the University of Kentucky. It is recognized that Nicholas county is third in the state both in total volume in the turkey production and also in number of farms in the county which produces turkeys. Through the cooperation of the poultry department of the State College, Dr. C. T. Rankin certified 373 bronze turkeys and Mrs. M. A. Gaunce 25 narragansetts.

At the home of Robert Alexander about four miles from Carlisle, ten hams and seven shoulders were taken from the meat house. The bacon and other products of the five hogs killed by Mr. Alexander were not taken. Mr. Alexander has offered a reward of $50 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the thief or thieves.

To Start Benefits For

Partial unemployment insurance payments are to be made on and after January 1, Vego E. Barnes, director of the State Unemployment Compensation Commission, said Saturday.

The payments will be made to those who, although not totally unemployed, are earning less from their regular employment than they would receive in unemployment insurance if totally unemployed, he said.

Barnes recently predicted it would be possible to grant more than $1,000,000 in benefits since January 1 of this year, payments have been made to totally unemployed workers since Jan. 5, 1938.

Under the plan, benefits to partially unemployed will be the difference between the amount they would receive if totally unemployed and 80 per cent of their wages.

Memorials Dedicated At Christian Church

Impressive Ceremony Held Sunday Afternoon In Memory Of Rev. Cunningham And Oscar Ham

Before an audience which filled every available seat in the building, the two memorials recently completed at the Carlisle Christian church were formally dedicated Sunday afternoon in an impressive ceremony. A large number of former members of the church and friends from other places were present at the dedication.

The memorial baptistry was dedicated to the memory of Rev. S. H. Cunningham, former pastor of the church, whose tragic death occurred in an automobile accident in July, 1933. The removal of the old organ and installation of the choir loft was dedicated as a memorial to the late Oscar Ham, who left a bequest to the church. Money for the memorial to Rev. Cunningham was contributed by friends.

The two memorials are the most attractive improvements ever made in the church. The chancel and choir loft have been removed to the rear of the church and the baptistry placed on the floor.
