What Is Abroad in the World Today?

"Open the door, let in the air. The wind is sweet, and the leaves are fair.

"But I am afraid in the world below, If your door is wide open it will come in, I know.

"Open the door."

IT IS SAID that a home is surrounded by the writer when a child. At that time it made an appeal largely because of its pleasant and large and happy things. Many years later it arose both to comfort with a deeper significance, which led to the building of a home of our own.

It is proof to our mental lease in our residence, that whatever focus of knowledge for education. To what ate we equally indebted for intrusion of fear, sickness and ill health, poverty? Do we subscribe in the good we wish to see abounded in our every home?

If we are alert, and listening to Truth, we shall become aware of the spiritual joy, trust, healthy thoughts, and peace of mind we yearn and hunger for which are awaiting only our reception to come to us and abide with us.

In the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, gives us this counsel, which, when obeyed, is far reaching in its effects and influence: "Open the door of thought and action with radiant expectancy, and you will realize in bodily results the blessing which is waiting to be poured out upon you."

Today mankind, finding itself in an economic and political world in confusion, is asking, "Is there a way out?" Many are finding the answer in the spiritual reality of knowing God's presence with us. Here is the way out. Here we begin to find the solution to our problems. Here is the answer—"the right door of thought and action with radiant expectancy" and you will realize in bodily results."

Because mankind is seeking, in the midst of confusion, for the right door of thought and action, the Christian Science Sunday lesson-sermon entitled "Unreality" will be read in all churches of this denomination throughout the world on Sunday, June 4. Its Golden Text is: "It is a snare to the righteous to say rashly, It is holy, and afterward inquire" (Proverbs 20:25).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Christian Science textbook: "Error is unreal because it is unnatural. Sin is unnatural because it is the opposite of God, good. Sin is the unreal and powerless opposite of the real and powerful. Sin is the opposite of Spirit, and nothing dissonant can be spiritual."

Unity Among Kentuckians Is Urged By Johnson

A plea for unity among all Kentuckians in doing away with the evils of the past and to chart a course for the future was made by Governor Johnson in a program broadcast from Richmond as part of the observance of the 150th anniversary of the founding of Madison county.

Johnson commended the people of Madison county for their public spirit and civic pride and declared that the people of Kentucky are entitled to the best in public service. He said that the people marked the end of the Democratic Administration in Kentucky next month and that Governor-elect Keen Johnson would be inaugurated as governor for the December 1939 to December 1943 term.

Johnson emphasized the importance of public officers in the state capital at Frankfort and in Richmond as public servants and urged that they be elected and selected on the basis of merit. He said that the state was for 12 years "in the grip of a machine" that was centered on the city of Louisville.

Agriculture, taxation, and age pensions were considered by the governor in his broadcast, available for the dependent children and the blind, rural electrification public schools, health and welfare were reviewed briefly by the governor. He said that he must not permit those state institutions, highway building and other topics were discussed briefly by Johnson as he out- lined the platform upon which he and his friends to carry his candidacy to work through the Democratic party.

He stressed the importance of the administration of local affairs by the people of Kentucky and said that he expected to make a program of legislation to improve the conditions of the people of Kentucky. He said that he is heartily in favor of the constitutional amendment providing for the home rule for counties and cities and that he would call a special session of the legislature to submit the amendment to the people of Kentucky.

Johnson commended the state highway department for its policy of building roads to the county seats and stressed the need for more and more improvement of secondary roads. He said that he was opposed to the sales tax and that he was opposed to the imposition of any additional taxes.

Johnson said that he was opposed to the payment of bonuses and that he was opposed to the payment of pensions to able-bodied persons. He said that he was in favor of old age pensions for the needy and dependent aged persons.

Johnson said that he was in favor of the protection of the rights of labor to organize and bargain collectively with employers and that he was in favor of the protection of the rights of all of the people. He said that he was in favor of the political doctrine of the Democratic party and that he was opposed to any outside pressure group" in the affairs of the party. Johnson said that he was in favor of the fullest cooperation for our state with the federal government and that he was in favor of the fullest cooperation with other states in the Union.

Johnson said that he proposed to conduct his campaign and the affairs of state government on a high plane of dignity and decency. He said that he would be glad to consult with all the citizens of the state and that he believed that he was fortunately familiar with the problems of the state. He said that he proposed to appoint to the state government only those persons who would be "needle- [illegible] promise you as your Governor I will be a good one."

The only real true government of man is by God's law of harmony, and the understanding of God's law never fails. Be sure that this law which we shall have fully awakened to the glorious privilege of submission to the guidance of unerring, infinite divine Principle, shall not result in the reflection of everlasting Life, Truth, and Love. We shall want for nothing good. Our constant task of hoping to bring about the kingdom of heaven on earth. Must we harbor in thought decides whether or not we shall succeed. Our steadfastness is unswerving.

Four Held For Assaulting Aged Fleming Citizen

Nicholas Men Indicted By Fleming Grand Jury On Serious Charge

VICTIM IS RECOVERING

Robert Gray, 61, who resided in what is known as Mexico, just across the Nicholas county line in Fleming, is recovering from injuries received about three weeks ago when he was alleged to have been beaten and robbed by four Nicholas county men.

According to Mr. Gray four men whom he named as Leo Fiers, Curtis Davis, George Crawford and Joe Bill Crawford, came to his home at night and attacked him. He was beaten into unconsciousness by the fourth and last one. One arm was broken, and he received numerous cuts and bruises. The assailants then robbed him of $40 in cash and left him for a lifeless corpse. He was found in this condition by neighbors and was taken to the hospital and his wounds attended to. He was unable to identify his assailants, however, until after regaining consciousness. He said that he was positive in the identity of the four men.

The four men were indicted by the Fleming county grand jury, charged with assault and robbery. Both cases against the four men were postponed until the October term of the Fleming circuit court. Three of the men were held in jail in default of bond and Joe Bill Crawford was released on bond, said to have been furnished by S. T. Campbell and Mrs. J. W. Buchanan, both of Myers.

County To Vote On Local Option Saturday

Voters To Determine Whether Or Not Beer And Whisky May Be Sold

Nicholas county voters will go to the polls Saturday to determine whether or not spirituous, vinous or malt liquors may be sold legally in the county. The polls will open at 6 a. m. and close at 4 p. m., and will be held in the regular voting places in each precinct. The count will start in an hour after the close of the polls and the results will probably be known within two or three hours.

It is predicted that the vote will be much heavier than that cast in the special election held May 8, 1938. In this election the county voted dry by a majority of more than 600. The election was subsequently ruled invalid because of the law which prohibits the holding of a local option election within thirty days of any other election. An election for school trustees in the Carlisle district was held a week before.

Whether the wets or drys have been especially active in the campaign, although it is expected that both will attempt to get out their maximum vote.

In the event the voters decide on local option, it will become effective sixty days after the election.

31 Members Of Local Unit Are Still On Duty

Some Members Relieved And Replaced As Troops Begin Fourth Week In Harlan

Thirty-one members of Howitzer Company 119th Infantry remain on duty in Harlan county as troops started their fourth week of duty in the county Monday. All members of the local unit were in Harlan on the initial call, together at Benham, where three companies are organized in the high school building and shipped by special train over the Wisconsin Steel Corporation, a subsidiary of the International Harvester Company. The mines at Benham are now in operation on Wednesday of last week.

The local unit is now in command of First Lieutenant Hugh Poe, who reported for duty last Saturday. Captain G. G. Caywood and Second Lieutenant Robert O. Lindsey, have been relieved from duty temporarily. Approximately twenty of the forty members of the unit who went to Harlan on May 15 have been relieved and other members or organizations have replaced some of them. It is expected that Captain Caywood and Lieutenant Lindsey will be relieved and when they do they will be replaced by Sergeant Ben Hinton and Corporal Ben Pumphrey, respectively.

The situation in Harlan has been quiet and peaceful during the past week, with no picketing and no disorders reported.

The length of time the troops will remain on duty will depend upon a settlement of the differences between the mine operators and the C. I. O.

Third Term Boom For Roosevelt Is Growing

Resolutions Adopted Endorsing President For Third Term By Workers Alliance

The third-term boom for President Roosevelt reached a new crescendo Tuesday with a series of resolutions adopted by a mass and lusty preview of the 1940 Democratic National Convention.

Shortly after Representative Mary T. Norton, Democrat, of New Jersey, carried the third term group of Democrats to the House floor, a delegation of 1,000 persons assembled to a conference of the Workers Alliance of America and, posing the presidential candidacy of President Roosevelt, hailed him and calling on relief workers "to keep the New Deal in the White House."

Mr. Roosevelt conferred meantime with A. F. Whitney, labor chairman of the Iowa state Democratic committee, who said he had informed the chief executive that Iowa would support him if he prevailed upon to run for a third term.

Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes put the President in the race yesterday with an article in the magazine Look in which he said, "I want Roosevelt for a third term."

Congressman Kennedy called on the Democrats to renominate Mr. Roosevelt and urged his party to "ignore the third-term myth." He cited numerous historical instances to support his contention that the founding fathers were not opposed to a third term.

The Workers Alliance, an organization composed of relief clients, adopted the resolution without a dissenting vote. It was frankly anti-Garner and was offered to a "right-to-work" conference called for the purpose of supporting the President's relief appropriation demands.

Garner Candidate For Presidential Nomination

Vice President John N. Garner's name will be proposed for the 1940 Democratic presidential nomination regardless of whether or not President Roosevelt seeks a third term, it was said at Washington Saturday.

It appears that if Mr. Roosevelt finally decides to seek a third term he can count on a battle for the nomination.

Lane Martin Suffers Broken Collar Bone, Henry Darnall Cut And Bruised

PLUNGED OVER BRIDGE.

Two men were injured, one seriously, though not critically, about 2:30 o'clock Tuesday morning when the automobile in which they were driving crashed through the guard rail of a bridge, went over the bridge and overturned in the Maysville and Lexington road, about four miles from Carlisle.

Lane A. Martin, proprietor of Martin's Garage, suffered a fractured collar bone and multiple cuts and bruises about the face and body, and Henry Darnall, of Cincinnati, received cuts but though not serious bruises about the body.

Darnall, who had been in Carlisle for several days, was en route to Paris to catch a train for his home in Florida, to accompany to Carlisle his mother, who is in the county Monday. All members of the local unit are to be transported in three cars, Martin was to accompany Jim to Paris to drive his car back to Carlisle.

The accident occurred at the bridge about 500 yards west of the intersection of the county road with Highway 68. Mr. Darnall, who was driving his car, a Lincoln Zephyr, said the steering wheel on the car locked, causing him to lose control. The car struck the left side of the guard rail on the bridge, plowed through and dropped over the bridge into a ravine, turning over. The car was almost demolished.

Mr. Martin was brought to the local hospital and after being given first aid treatment was taken to the home of Dr. Barnhill Conley, local physician, where he was brought to the hospital but was found to have no fractures or injuries.

Young Sullivan received his appointment to the academy from Congressman Fred M. Vinson. He has been an outstanding student in both scholastically and in athletics.
