It costs about 48 cents per day to keep 100 non-layers.

It costs 60 cents per day to keep 100 hens on 50 per cent production, which at 25 cents per dozen is $1.06 a day.

It costs 75 cents per day to keep 100 hens on 70 per cent production which, at 25 cents per dozen, is $1.46 a day.

Which is the best proposition for you: To spend 48 cents a day and receive no return or add just a few cents for the proper feed and turn that loss of 46 cents into a profit of 50 and 75 cents a day.

These figures are the result of actual tests and we believe they will work out for you.

THE PHILOSOPHER

(Sara Teasdale)

I saw him sitting in the door
Threshing an old man's day.
His house was old, his barn was old,
And yet his eyes seemed new.

His eyes had seen three times my years
And kept a twinkle still,
Though they had looked at birth and death
And graves on a hill.

"I will sit down with you," I said,
"And you will make me wise;
Tell me how you have kept the joy
Still burning in your eyes."

Then like an old-time orator
He waved his pipe:
"I make the most of all that comes
And the least of all that goes."

The jingling rhythm of his words
Echoed as old songs do—
Yet this had kept his eyes alight
As he was ninety-two.
