AUSPEX

(James Russell Lowell)

My friend, I cannot tell it,
Nest that had song-birds in it;
And when the last shall go,
The dreary days to fill it,
Instead of lark or linnet,
Shall wind shriek down and snow.

Had they been swallows only,
Without the passion stronger
That skyward longs and sings,—
Woe's me, I shall be lonely
When I can feel no longer
The human joy in wings!

A moment, sweet delusion,
Like birds the brown leaves hover;
But it will not last long
Before their wild confusion
Fall wavering down to cover
The spot and hide its song.
