Ice production prices seem inevitable. The manufacturers have been hunted that the prices of the 1941 models will be boosted, but there is a good chance for further rises.

For some time skilled labor has been scarce. This means that manufacturers have had to pay high wages which will be reflected in the sale of the. Other costs such as steel, tires, gas, etc., have gone up also. Under ordinary circumstances these factors would call for a boost in prices.

But now in addition, along comes the government with its vast armament program, and it is looking for skilled labor for tools, dies, and all types of materials which go into new cars.

At this time it is not known what automobile plants are usually operating at a low level as most factories are being retooled and put in order for the new models. But it is safe to say although the 1940 model production season is nearing the end, all the prospects for new cars is only slightly below that of a year ago.

Many analysts believe the steady consumer demand for automobiles is due to fears of a general price increase with the introduction of the 1941 models. If there is no price boost in the models this fall, it is difficult to see how the rise can be avoided on later models, because almost every year is now tending upward.

Unless the war comes to an unexpected halt, which would likely tumble prices, I say again that now is a good time to buy a car and save money.

National Guard May Be Called Soon

War Department Plans To Call Four Divisions Immediately. Kentucky Not Included

A decision to call out about 50,000 national guardsmen to camps as soon as possible and perhaps a year's intensive training was reached Friday by President Roosevelt and his new Secretary of War, Henry L. Stimson.

The decision is contingent upon approval by congress which would have to authorize the unprecedented peacetime step. The authority will be asked when congress reconvenes after the Democratic national convention.

Stephen Early, Secretary to the President, announced the decision and said that four divisions, seven antiaircraft regiments and an undetermined number of harbor defense regiments would be called.

One division, he said, will come from New York and New Jersey, a second from Tennessee and the Carolinas, a third from Texas, Oklahoma, Utah and Arizona, Colorado and the fourth from Oregon, Washington, Montana and Idaho. Once their training is completed, the entire contingent will be given to the question of extending the training to other guardsmen units.

Chandler Cannot Conduct Campaign

Work In Washington Will Keep Junior Senator At Post Before Primary

Senator A. B. Chandler will forego campaign activities for nomination to the senate during the August 3 primary but is confident, he said, that Kentuckians "will give me a big and whelming endorsement."

The Junior Kentucky Senator explained Tuesday that his duties as chairman of a Senate committee investigating National Defense activities would prevent him from going through the state on a series of campaign speech-making.

Five persons have filed for the nomination in opposition to Chandler but veteran political observers expressed the belief he none would give him serious rivalry in the August polling.

In an interview between Democratic National convention sessions Chandler expressed his situation with regard to the primary:

"Recently Chairman Shephard (D-Texas) of the Senate Military committee appointed me chairman of a sub-committee to hold hearings on plans to bomb-proof the Panama Canal."

Chandler said he believed this was one of the most important defense measures congress could take and added that hearings already had begun.

"Because of this assignment," he continued, "I will be unable to make campaign speeches in Kentucky for my renomination in the August primary.

"However, I feel the people of Kentucky, patriotic as they are, want me to stay on the job looking after defense interests of the nation, and I am confident they will give me an overwhelming endorsement."

Poison Potion Causes Death Of Mrs. Wills

Despondency Over Condition Of Husband Believed Cause Of Suicide

LIVED SHORT TIME

Mrs. Alice Darrell Wills, 63, died at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning at her home in Carlisle after having taken an overdose of morphine and poison used in eradicating bean beetles.

Coroner J. H. Fulton, who investigated the case, said that morphine tablets and the poison were found in a sack in the kitchen. Mrs. Wills died before the arrival of a physician. Coroner Fulton pronounced her death due to suicide.

Mrs. Wills had been in ill health for several months. Mental depression, it is said, had been despondent and has threatened suicide on several occasions, Coroner Fulton said he was told.

Mrs. Wills' husband, Lewis W. Wills, has been seriously ill for several months and recently underwent an operation for the removal of a tumor. The shock of his wife's death is believed to have caused the illness of Mrs. Wills.

She was a member of the Christian church and was a lifelong resident of the county.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Wills is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Clayton Cannon, Paris; four sons, Russell Wills, of Paris; Malcolm, Jasper and Lewis Wills, Carlisle; seven grandchildren, Coroner Fulton said.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Carlisle Christian church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Estal Taylor. Burial will follow in the Carlisle cemetery.

Clippings from grass may now be left on the lawns. They serve as a mulch and at the same time fertilize the soil as they decay.
