1941 Tobacco Allotments To Be Unchanged

No Reduction In Burley Will Be Required If Growers Approve Marketing Quota Next Year

No reduction in burley tobacco allotments for the years 1941 and 1942 will be required if burley growers vote for marketing quotas for those years in the referendum on November 23, Henry Burnam, chairman of the Nicholas County Agricultural Conservation Association announced.

Mr. Burnam also pointed out that under existing farm laws regulations no allotment can be reduced by more than 10 per cent during any year. The total allotment for 1941 was 1,742,000 pounds and 1942 will be 1,567,800 pounds if growers approve the three-year quota plan. Allotments of one acre or less in 1941 and 1942 will be 1,000 pounds if growers vote for the three-year quota plan. Allotments of one acre or less in 1941 and 1942 will be 1,000 pounds if growers vote for the three-year quota plan. Allotments of one acre or less in 1941 and 1942 will be 1,000 pounds if growers vote for the three-year quota plan.

Because of the large carry over of burley tobacco from the 1939 crop Mr. Burnam said some farmers will be required to cut their allotments for 1941 may be required if quotas are voted for the next three years. The supply of burley tobacco on October 1 last year was estimated at 1,042,800,000 pounds, only a little below the total supply of 1,065,000,000 on October 1, 1939, in spite of reduced acreage and lower production per acre last year.

The amount of burley tobacco used during the year was estimated at 328,800000 pounds, or approximately the same as the amount used in 1936. This indicates, Mr. Burnam said, that the generation of burley tobacco is not increasing materially and that production of burley tobacco will be stabilized at or near the 1940 level.

Voting marketing quotas for the next three years will not only assure present growers of allotments for the next three years at least 80 per cent as large as they were this year, but will also assure these growers that they will receive full benefits from their acreage reductions of the past few years by preventing the spread of burley tobacco into new areas, Mr. Burnam stated. He also pointed out that if production is stabilized at the 1940 level by voting three-year quotas it will be possible to make a uniform increase in acreage allotments within the next few years.

The quota vote will be held in community polling places and will be in charge of three local persons. Mr. Burnam said. Any person who shares in the proceeds of the 1940 burley crop as owner, tenant or sharecropper will be eligible to vote in the referendum, regardless of whether an individual, partnership, corporation, association or other local unit shall be entitled to more than one vote, even though he produced tobacco in more than one community, county or state. A list of eligible voters will be prepared for each community voting place. Mr. Burnam said, and each farmer should cast his ballot.

A two-thirds majority of votes cast must favor the quota to make it effective, and this decision of the growers is final.

No registrant from Nicholas county will be inducted in the first call. The eighteen boards, including Nicholas, from which no men will be inducted were boards having the smallest number.

According to Miss Hattie Griffin, chief clerk of the local selective service board, approximately fifteen registrants of the county have already volunteered for service. Work Started On 2 Federal Buildings Here

Lots Being Cleared For Construction Of Armory And Postoffice. Will Take Several Months

Work was started this week on razing a part of the buildings and clearing the lot on the corner of Main and Sycamore street for the new Carlisle postoffice. The old Mathers residence on Main street will be razed and the other residence on Sycamore street will be used by the contractors as a storage house for tools and supplies.

Preliminary work was started last week on the national guard armory on East Main street when a force of men was put to work clearing the lot and preparing for the excavation.

Construction of the armory is to be a WPA project and the plans calls for ten months in which to complete the building. All of the armories now being constructed in the state are WPA projects.

The building is to be entirely of concrete and will be approximately 55 by 90 feet. It will contain a large drill hall, office and storage rooms on the first floor and garage for motor vehicles, heating plant and showers in the basement.

A force of men is now at work erecting the new postbuilding at the Linville quarry. The stone will be hauled to the site and piled ready for use.

A superintendent will be sent here this week by the Lexington WPA office to supervise the work.

Neither of the buildings will be completed before next year.
