TO THE VOTERS OF THE FIFTH DISTRICT

I am taking this means to announce my candidacy for re-election as Magistrate in the Fifth Magisterial District, subject to the August primary.

I have served as Magistrate in the Fifth District for the past 18 months, performing the duties of my office to the best of my ability with partiality to none.

I will appreciate your support and influence.

J. W. BURNAW

TO THE VOTERS OF NICHOLAS COUNTY

I wish to announce my candidacy for the office of Jailer of Nicholas county, subject to the action of the voters of the Democratic party at the August primary.

I have been in Nicholas county and have lived here all of my life. I have been and am now engaged in farming. For a number of years I conducted a general store at Myers, and recently was proprietor of a restaurant in Carlisle.

I have always been a Democrat and a taxpayer. This is the first time that I have ever asked for any public office. I will make no effort to see every voter in the county, and will respectfully refer the voters to the mothers. Nicholas county women have had a number of jailers, neither the mothers, neither the voters of this county have had any reason to complain of the manner in which this office.

The only promise that I will make to the voters of Nicholas county is that if nominated and elected I will faithfully perform the duties required of the office.

If elected I will employ one deputy, Mrs. Kelly Cameron.

If not elected I will thank my friends for their support and will not be please you all. Don't forget to vote for me. Respectfully,

Mrs. Bertha C. Cameron

A CARD FROM WM. H. CONLEY, JR.

Greetings to my friends and acquaintances in dear old Nicholas county.

I am profoundly grateful for the many expressions of encouragement I have received from my friends in their home and my announcement.

It really is a pleasure to me to have had the opportunity to meet so many of you personally and endorse for these offices. I desire to thank you for your confidence and for your support.

I have no shadow fish in the race, but am going to the finish on shining principles and will appreciate the support of my friends.

I have no interest in the office for my country and the welfare of my people.

I will be glad to have the support of my friends, but if I am not elected I will be with you and will try to perform my duties as a citizen and will do so loyally and cheerfully.

I will make a brief visit to Nicholas from time to time as my duties permit, and will endeavor to meet many of you personally but I am unable to visit you personally it will be because my duties at present prevent it. I would gladly do so if I had the opportunity.

With kindest personal regards and best wishes,

Wm. H. Conley, Jr.

FARMS FOR SALE

Being a resident of Lexington where I have been engaged in the conveyancing service for many years and where I have acquired other interests that prevent my return to my native county of Nicholas as a permanent resident, I am offering for sale my two adjoining farms of about 116 acres each, situated about four miles from Carlisle on the Flemingsburg and Maysville Highway No. 32. Each of these farms contains a good six-room residence, tobacco and stock barns, cribs and other outbuildings and good fencing. They are now being cultivated on a crop rotation basis approved by the Government CCC's and have received liberal applications of phosphate and lime and sowings of various grasses and legumes for the past several years and will have made them two of the best hill farms in the county.

About 18 acres on the two farms were being planted in tobacco and corn this year, 12 acres in wheat and meadow, 10 acres in alfalfa. Balance in grass. A good creek fed by never failing springs, runs through each of these farms. Several pools and ponds. Two good cisterns.

One of these farms has been in my family for 145 years. The residence thereon, built of hand hewn ash and poplar logs and in a perfect state of preservation was erected by my great-grandfather in 1818 the year my grandfather was born. Another and older house on the same farm was erected by my great-grandparents prior to 1810, who came to Kentucky with their parents, via the Ohio river and Limestone (now Maysville) about the year 1800. Both of these houses are modernized and will make an ideal home for someone engaged in business in Carlisle, being only a few minutes drive from the post.

You will see the above farms, separately but prefer to sell as a whole. Will also sell separately or with other farms. Have good four-room house and about 7 acres on the opposite side of Licking river from farms. This tract also contains a splendid building site.

Electricity in two of the above houses and available for the other two. Two farms, etc., if desired.

Address W. D. Hamilton, 101 Peti Court West, Lexington, Ky. Lexington phone No. 451, or call Carlisle Exchange if you desire to look these farms over.

Louisville Proves Right to Her Claim As Entertainment Center of the South

THE CARLISLE MERCURY

British Battle In Iraq For Vital Oil Line

By Chas. M. Knapp,
Professor of History,
University of Ky.

The reports from Iraq and the Near East have been watched with closest attention during the past week. There, in that seat of ancient Mesopotamian civilization, British and German diplomats have been busy at work. About a month ago the regency of an infant sovereign, whom Britain had placed upon the throne of Iraq a few years ago, was overthrown, probably as a result of Axis intrigue. The object of the revolt was to arouse the Mohammedan world against British authority throughout the Near East and in India and Arabia and to isolate Turkey thereby from British support through the back door to Europe. The immediate purpose was to cut the pipelines from the Mosul oil fields through which the needs of the British fleet in the eastern Mediterranean have been supplied.

Apparently this was accomplished by the end of April. It is also was apparent that Britain was able to rush in sufficient reinforcements to prevent the spread of the revolt. Thus cause of the Arab nationalists in Iraq was lost, for the time being, into exile. German fliming bits, and Italian planes, as well as they have not been able to send in the aid which was requested of them. As a result of Britain's prestige seems to have slipped among the Arabs and in Turkey. The British, for the time being, at least, seem to have the situation in Iraq in hand.

But the situation in Syria appears now to be reaching the crisis stage. German forces have been occupying Greek islands in the Aegean as well as Crete and Rhodes. Germany is also extending southward along the coast of Turkey and closer to French Syria. Of the situation there we have had no first hand information since early last summer, when France made the armistice with Hitler. There are large numbers of French troops there, under the control of Vichy. But there is no information as to what their attitude will be toward cooperation with the German forces now approaching by sea, with the capture of Suez and Egypt as their objective. Britain and Italian planes attacked a convoy in the central Mediterranean, but the results are known only as variance as to the effects that the British claim to have made on the results. The remnant of the Italian forces continues to hold out in Eritrea and in the wilds of northern Ethiopia. With each passing day and week Haile Selassie returned to his capital of Addis Ababa.

The Germans have admitted today, for the first time, that heavy raids by British planes on Hamburg and Bremen on Thursday and Sunday nights caused damage to industrial plants and heavy loss of life. Berlin and cities on the Polish border were also raided. These raids mark a stepping up of activity by the Royal Air Force. American observers seem to have been employed in these raids. On the other hand extra heavy raids have been made by the aviation upon British ports and on London. The raid Sunday night is reported to have caused damage to Westminster Abbey and the Houses of Parliament. Shipping losses in April were reported as very heavy. The need for American convoy of supply ships was declared to be urgent by British leaders, if American materials are to get through in quantity to Britain much longer. Apparently that step by the United States government will be taken soon, from all recent indications from Washington.

WESTMINSTER BOMBED

Hallowed Spots Feel Power Of Destructive Fire Bombs

England's most hallowed spot, Westminster Abby, where the kings and queens of the British Empire have been crowned for 900 years, felt the destructive power of German bombs over the week end.

The fifty foot square where four years ago Sunday King George VI and Queen Elizabeth received their crowns was covered with timbers and rubble of Nazi bombs.

The famous Big Ben and the Houses of Parliament also suffered frightful damage from the week end raids.

London dug itself out of the debris, counting its dead into the hundreds and estimating that 100,000 fire bombs were dropped by the raiders in their all night raids.

Local Red Cross Launches Campaign

Greater Production Is Goal Of Recreational Activities Plan

The Nicholas county chapter of the Red Cross has reorganized in an effort to meet the increasing demands for greater production and its larger quota as a part of the national program of aid to Britain, it was announced this week by the local chairman.

Training plans, it was announced, have been completed for the reorganization and new equipment has been added by the chapter. A number of workers have, however, are needed to carry on the work.

As a part of the reorganization, the local Home Guard will play an active part as well as in the organization of a Junior Red Cross in all county schools this year. The county wide campaign for more volunteer production workers has been launched by representatives of the local chapter in all communities through churches and Sunday schools.

This program is a part of the national program for "all out" aid to Great Britain as announced by the recent national Red Cross convention held in Washington, D. C.

Announcement was made this week of the terms upon which the Mutual Broadcasting System and the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers ended their feud of some four months.

Deputy Fuehrer Hess Lands In England

Startling announcement of the week, one that seems to rock the foundations of the reign of Deputy Fuehrer Rudolf Hess, Germany's No. 3 Nazi, by the British on Saturday night or Sunday night.

From all reports Hess fled Germany, but reasons for his flight have not also been known. The German radio reported Hess missing and killed in an air plane accident. The dispatches also reported that Hess was in Scotland.

The account from England, however, reveals that Hess is not insane, and other than from an ankle injury received when he landed, is in fairly good health. From all indications the flight whica brought him from Germany to England was planned in advance.

No other man in Nazi Germany was so close to Hitler or knew more about the detailed plans of the German army. It was against the strict orders of Hitler for Hess to fly a plane.
