THE PARABLES BY THE SEA

LESSON TEXT—Mark 4:26-32; Matthew 13:44-58.
GOLDEN TEXT—Never man spake like this man.—John 7:46.

Parables as a means of conveying truth reached perfection in the hands of the Master Teacher, Jesus. Taking short stories of well-known events or facts from daily life, He presented profound truth in the most simple and attractive form.

Except for the parable of the four kinds of seed which He interpreted (Matt. 13:18-23), He left it to His listeners to make their own application. This has led to some difference of opinion, but in general the parables are received as excellent and helpful portions of God's Word.

In the two passages of Scripture assigned for our lesson, we have four parables, each with a distinctive message, yet together pointing out that there is a time of growth leading to harvest and judgment, and that our gracious God has at great cost provided a way of redemption.

I. Normal Growth Is Blessed (Mark 4:26-29).

God is patient. He awaits the normal, healthy, steady growth of the seed. Man is so impatient he must have forced growth, artificial stimulation, and even artificial ripening of the fruit.

The same attitude enters into his care of his children. They must get ahead in school beyond their years. They must get out and make a living long years before they have learned to make a life. Why not let them mature in the orderly, God-given way?

The same is true in the work of the church. There must be immediate "tangible" results or he will not give his support. Anyone with judgment knows that spiritual life takes time to develop, and that spiritual results cannot be judged by physical or tangible standards.

Seedtime, growing time, normal ripening, then harvest — that is God's order and it is a good one.

II. Abnormal Growth Is Dangerous (Mark 4:30-32).

Normally the mustard tree is a small plant, and when it grew into a great tree something abnormal had taken place. Birds (which always denote something unclean in Scripture) came to lodge in its branches.

Just so, Christianity was never intended to be made up of a nominally Christian world empire in which ungodly men (the dark birds of the evil one, Matt. 13:19) should find comfortable lodgment. Unfortunately, that is just what happened to Christianity in the so-called conquest of the Roman empire at the time of Constantine. The results were disastrous. The same principle is evident today in the control of much of the church by worldly men.

III. Redemption Is Costly (Matt. 13:44-46).

While it is true that our redemption is worth more than anything else in all the world and that the Christian would gladly set aside (or would be!) everything for Christ's sake, yet that does not fulfill the thought of this parable. After all, what has a sinner (whose own righteousness is described in Scripture as "filthy rags") to sell in order to obtain redemption? And is it for sale? (See Eph. 2:8.)

Obviously we here have the Saviour with His all-seeing eye and loving heart noting in fallen humanity the pearl of great price, His own Church. He then gives up all the glory He had with the Father, comes to the earth, and even becomes sin for us that He may bring us to God.

Salvation in Christ is no little thing, not something which was purchased with gold or silver, but with the precious blood of Christ. We ought to value it highly, and because we are bought with a price we ought always to glorify God (1 Cor. 6:20).

IV. Judgment Is Certain (Matt. 13:47-50).

All kinds of fish were in the net, and until the cord was drawn and the net emptied they looked much alike and enjoyed much the same standing as "citizens" of the sea. But when they faced the fisherman there was a quick division, and a final judgment upon the bad ones.

It is true that in God's kingdom (as it is now manifested in "mystery" in the Church) there are many who have come in by false profession, through carelessness of pastors or church officials, etc. They go through the motions, they look and act much like Christians (although even here they create questions in the minds of true followers of Christ). The day is coming, however, when they shall stand in judgment before the Christ whom they profess to love and follow. How terrible shall be their doom!

They need not wait in fear for that day. They may now, today, make right their relationship with God.

Kentucky Children Settle Near Home

Most Kentucky farm children, when they leave home, settle in nearby areas, according to a survey made by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. More than 700 sons and daughters of 600 farm families in Johnson and Robertson counties were included in the survey. Almost half of them were found living in their home counties, and over three-fourths of them were still in Kentucky. Thus it would seem that home communities are offering opportunities for most members of the maturing generations.

Of the total number of persons who are shown by the Experiment Station survey to have moved out of the state, three-fourths went to Ohio. Most of the men and women from Robertson county went to the Cincinnati area, although eight other places in Ohio received some of them. Persons from John son county were more widely scattered over Ohio, going to a total of 21 places in that state. All told, men and women of Robertso nand Johnson counties have gone to 22 states in recent years.

If these two counties are representative of the state as a whole, the Experiment Station sociologists conclude that Kentucky is contributing its citizens to every section of the nation. Most of them go north and west; few go east or south.

Within Kentucky, persons leaving Johnson and Robertson counties went to 28 other counties. The largest number from Robertson county went to the adjoining counties of Bracken and Mason, and to Jefferson and Fayette counties. Those leaving Johnson county went chiefly to Lawrence, Floyd, Boyd, Morgan and Greenup.

Boy Does His Bit In "Live-at-Home" Task

An eight-year-old boy did his bit in the Caldwell county "live-at-home" campaign. He planted and hoed a modern storage cellar. He "handled the nails for the cellar shelves," he explained to Miss Nancy Scrughum, county home demonstration agent. On the shelves are 44 varieties of canned and stored foods, not including eight bushels of Irish potatoes, jellies, and preserves. Stored in the cellar are 200 quarts of canned foods, 35 bushels of stored foods, and 277 pounds of cured meat. Lard is stored, and hams are strung on wires. During the past year, the cellar had no shelves. Lard in pipes, a ventilator and rock walls built. The walls will be whitewashed later. All labor was furnished by the family of eight members, at a cost of not less than $10. Prior to this year, the cellar has been too damp to use.

Few Foreign-Born Live In Kentucky

There are comparatively few foreign-born persons in Kentucky, and most of them live in the cities, says a statement from the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. The number in 1940 was only 15,631, or less than 1 percent. Nearly 3,000,000. Also, there were 6,600 foreign-born persons in the state in 1940 than in 1930.

Thus not only is Kentucky's population "native" to an extraordinarily high degree, but it is becoming more so, notes Robin M. Williams of the Experiment Station.

Nearly half of the foreign-born persons in the state are in the Louisville area alone, and three-fourths of them live in the five counties of, Campbell, Fayette, Harlan, Jefferson and Kenton. This follows the rule that the foreign-born tend to locate in cities and towns rather than on farms.

A WEEK OF THE WAR

Secretary of War Stimson told his press conference this nation is confronted with a situation in which we cannot "buy our way out or produce our way out," and the only way left is to "fight our way out by intelligent offensive action." Every effort is being made to build powerful armed ores, he said, and when conditions warrant they will "seize every opportunity" to strike at the enemy. In the meantime, the U. S. must be prepared to take sporadic attacks along its coasts, Mr. Stimson said, because "if we scatter our forces for the defensive, it is the surest way to defeat."

President Roosevelt told his press conference that under certain conditions enemy planes could bomb cities as far inland as Detroit, or enemy ship could shell New York City. Congress completed action on $100,000,000 appropriation for the Office of Civilian Defense, to provide for training civilians in gas masks, protective clothing and emergency medical supplies.

Assistant Secretary of State Berle, speaking in Des Moines, Iowa, said the U. S. is determined to fight an aggressive war, rather than a defensive one, that the fruits of victory will be available to every free people throughout the world. Mr. Berle said "We can no longer think of ourselves as a supply base for others. We is more than that of making guns and planes and tanks. We're the way we now America's job. He said all signs point to his offensive spring against the United States.

Foreign Relations

President Roosevelt announced a new loan to Russia is planned because the original Lend-Lease authorization of $7 billion dollars has been obligated for future deliveries. Commitments for making American war materials available to Russia were maintained up to schedule until December 7. Deliveries of supplies for the Soviet Union slowed down in December and January, he said, but will be brought back up to schedule by March 1. Under Secretary of State Welles said answers from the Vichy Government to this country in regard to French aid to Axis forces in North Africa were considered unsatisfactory. Mr. Welles said the French Ambassador had reported, however, that the agricultural Experiment made by the French to Japan in regard to Madagascar.

Industrial Conversion

The War Production Board announced war production of the "big three" automobile companies—General Motors, Chrysler and Ford—will be running at 75 per cent of capacity by April 30, they reach peak production on that month. The companies will need 900,000 to 1,000,000 workers as compared with 400,000 at peak of 1941. The Board said war expenditures authorized by Congress, including pending bills and Lend-Lease, totaled $145 billion on December 31, and actual outlays less than $10. Prior to this year, the cellar has been too damp to use.

Army

The House passed and sent to the Senate the new $32 billion War Appropriation Bill which provides $23 billion for the Army and more than $5 billion for Lend-Lease. The Senate passed a bill to authorize payment of allotments for one year to dependents of military personnel captured or listed as missing. Voluntary enlistments in January totaled 90,000—double the highest World War I figures. The Army announced formation of the 1st Filipino Infantry Battalion at Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif., to provide loyal Filipinos a means of serving in the U. S. armed forces and "an opportunity for active fighting in their homeland. The War Department reported American pilots in the Chinese Air Forces "are giving Japanese airmen their worst licking of the war . . . knocking down more than 10 Jap planes for every loss" of their own. The Army Signal Corps is seeking civilian engineers to fill radio and telephone positions in Civil Service jobs paying $2,600 to $3,800 annually.

Selective Service Headquarters announced new Army physical standards for inductees will permit reclassification as Class 1-A of thousands of men now deferred due to teeth and eye defects. SS Director Hershey instructed local draft boards to defer labor leaders and Government labor liaison men to permit continuance of their work in aiding war production and to defer men engaged in maintenance of essential agricultural activities. Men registered February 16 will be called for induction only after local boards have exhausted their existing lists, he said. A lottery in March will determine the order of classification and induction. Questionnaires on vocational experience will be sent to every registrant who has not yet been called for service.

The War Front

Gen. MacArthur reported continuous fighting on the Bataan Peninsula and battery attacks on the fortifications throughout the week. The Navy announced the destroyer Shaw, previously reported lost at Pearl Harbor December 7, arrived at a U. S. West coast port, is being repaired and within a few weeks will be in service again on the high seas. A U. S. tanker was torpedoed in the Atlantic area. While U. S. forces inflicted enemy losses which included 10 planes, one large and one small enemy transport and one 5,000-ton cargo ship sunk, and two enemy barges destroyed.

Navy

Navy Secretary Knox said the operating over three-fourths of the globe under the heavier burden in its history, but must now perfect U. S. shores and essential commerce, strategic areas vital to our defense, the American Republics, and the flow of supplies to Great Britbook, one of the Secretary's Great Lakes, recruiting officer topped all others in January with 114 enlistments for each 100,000 persons in his area. The nation's schools started work on a program to make 500,000 accurate scale models of United Nations' and enemy warplanes for U. S. naval, military and civilian defense forces.

The Chief of Naval Operations ordered representatives of local Naval District Commandants to arrange with ship owners to provide incendiary bombs and ships are in port loading or un loading to speed arming of American merchant vessels. The House passed and sent to the Senate the War Appropriation Bill providing nearly $4 billion to expand the merchant fleet. The Senate passed a bill authorizing an additional $100,000,000 appropriation for expanded Navy manufacturing and production facilities.

Rationing

Price Administrator Henderson announced three consumer forms for sugar rationing are to be projected to be printed and distributed by March 7. He said there will be two registrations for rationing cards, one for housewives and another for small commercial users. Petroleum Coordinator Ickes said rationing of petroleum and petroleum products may be necessary if other methods fail to relieve shortages on both coasts. He announced regulations governing sales of fuel oil to East coast consumers to keep stocks at a reasonable minimum and to prevent hoarding. The Justice Department said it is prepared to prosecute all violators of wartime profiteering legislation, including priorities, allocations, rationing and price control.

Protection From Sabotage

President Roosevelt authorized the Secretary of War to move out of vital defense areas any persons believed inimical to the U. S. war effort—citizens and aliens alike. Attorney General Biddle said the FBI has apprehended almost 4,000 alien enemies since the outbreak of the war. Approximately one-third of these are Japanese from California, Oregon and Washington.

Priorities And Allocations

The WPB froze all stocks of new mechanical refrigerators in the U. S. and the hands of retailers, in preparation for conversion of this $450,000,000 industry and its 36,000 workers to war production. All refrigerator production will end April 30, the Board said. It also assumed full control of the entire 1942 raw farm sugar supply, curtailed use of critical materials in manufacture of pleasure motor vehicles, and restricted use of natural gas.

Bee Men To Have Supply Of Sugar

Bees are not to starve because of sugar rationing ,according to notice received at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Beekeepers are entitled to 90 per cent of last year's sugar consumption, to feed the honey makers after their natural supply of feed is exhausted, and until blossom time in the spring. hTe sugar situation may tend to create interest in beekeeping.

TELLING TALES

Cheap literature, radio, and moving pictures have about destroyed a means o fentertainment that was almost as ancient as the hills, the telling tales. In the earlier days of the race this was the one great means of passing on all that had happened to the tribe or the family. People prided themselves on being able to repeat the sacred legends and stories of their clan or family. Much of this same feeling was still left a generation ago. Tales were told not alone for the information they conveyed but to keep alive the feeling of other times and places. The ancient Hebrews were exhorted to talk of their great events while sitting in the house or walking by the way, "when thou liest down and when thou risest up." Long before writing as such was invented, this method of handing down traditions was in use; books have only given a little more objective form to it.

Tales were of many kinds. First of all, we children had to be told for the thousandth time of the pioneers. Some of the tales were actual, individual events, but many of them had become pure folklore, told again and again without regard to their authenticity. Indians, bears, panthers, buffaloes, pigeons—these figured in many of the tales. All o our ancestors had come from Virginia or North Carolina in covered wagons, a gentleman or two before our time. Some of us had had to fight at time th sections of Kentucky or Tennessee on the way over, before the house had been opened for settlement. I knew a few people who had hunted with the Purchase while it was still the property of Indians. These tales have nothing to do with those for children in those days idealized the good old days of the pioneer: I am afraid that we pictured the whole westward movement as a prolonged picnic.

Pioneer stories had to do with rivals in the endless yarns we heard about the Civil War. Many of these yarns grew under the telling, apparently because the teller did not remember all the real events. The shank half may be used for baking and the shank end but halves it will supply the main dish for several meals. The shank half may be used for baking and the shank end but halves it will supply the main dish for several meals. The shank half may be used for baking and the shank end but halves it will supply the main dish for several meals.

To prepare: Place the shank half, fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert the meat thermometer so the bulb is in the center of the thickest part. Roast in a moderate oven (300 degrees F.) until the meat thermometer registers done or before the meat is cured ham. If a meat thermometer is not available allow 30 minutes per pound for roasting. Allow about 20 minutes per pound for roasting tendered hams.

A delicious brown sugar glaze for the roasted ham is easily made by combining one-half cup brown sugar, four tablespoons flour, two tablespoons vinegar, and two tablespoons water. Blend the flour and sugar, then add the vinegar and water and mix to a smooth paste. Spread over the surface of the ham about 40 minutes before the end of the cooking period. At the same time a few cloves may be stuck in the ham for additional flavor if desired. Return to the oven to finish cooking.

The ham butt can be separated into two pieces, cutting parallel to and just back of th aitch bone. Use smaller piece only for supper and save the larger piece will be practically boneless.

Another folk type that we loved had to do with ghosts and other supernatural things. When we got around to this type, in front of the fire at night, we drew up our feet to protect them from visible or invisible monsters. Every community had a haunted house or a story of the dead walking or talking. It took a great deal of heavy lifting and a certain an orgy of nerves for the teller of tales to continue his way homeward after sitting till bedtime. Pranks were played on many people wrought up by the tales told by the wild tales. We were of the folk without knowing it and were getting a great thrill out of our harrowing experiences.

Kentucky Farmers May Find Castor Bean Profitable

Kentucky farmers may find castor beans a profitable "war" crop, judging from the results of growing tests made by the Agriculturl Experiment Station and by farmers in several counties.

In the fourth year of tests at Lexington, the Experiment Station obtained yields of 1,100 to 1,500 pounds to the acre, and at the Experiment Substations at Princeton and Quicksand yields ranged from 700 to 1,300 pounds. Castor beans run about half oil.

In addition to test growing at the three experimental stations, castor beans were grown last year in Calloway, Daviess, Fayette, Grayson, Trigg, Union and Warren counties and Fayette county man grew five acres which produced an average of 1,210 pounds to the acre.

Castor bean oil is used as a substitute for tung oil in making varnishes and for finishing textiles, making artificial leather, and the like. Most of the castor used in this country have been imported from India and Brazil. Some is produced in Africa and a few thousand acres of ships may interfere with shipments from India.

One factor which has discouraged castor bean growing in the United States is that they have had to be threshed by hand, as no commercial machine will thresh them successfully. A small thresher developed at the Agricultural Experiment Station was used for threshing the test plots of castor beans last year. The machine, however, has not been perfected for commercial use.

Farm Bureau Backs Better Feed Supply

To make protein supplement feed available to farmers, the Trigg County Farm Bureau is sponsoring a co-op buying plan at all stores selling commercial feeds. Quantities of meat scrap, tankage, soybean oil meal and tankage are kept at Cadiz, and deliveries made to stores over the county as needed. The Bureau takes back any feed that cannot be sold.

Tax May Be Paid In Four Installments

Taxes due on a return filed for the calendar year 1941 may be paid in full at the time of the filing of the return on or before March 16, 1942. The taxpayer, at the option of the taxpayer, be paid in four installments instead of in a single payment, in which case the first installment is to be paid on or before March 16, the second on or before June 15, the third on or before September 15, and the fourth on or before December 15, 1942. If the taxpayer elects to pay his tax in four installments, each of the four installments must be equal in amount, but any installment may be paid, at the election of the taxpayer, prio to the time prescribed for its payment. If an installment is not paid on or before the date fixed for its payment, the whole amount of the unpaid remaining tax is required to be paid upon notice and demand from the collector.

The tax must be paid to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer's return is required to be filed, that is, to the collector for the district in which is located the legal residence or principal place of business, or if he has no legal residence or principal place of business in the United States, then to the collector of internal revenue at Baltimore, Maryland.

The tax due, if any, should be paid in cash at the collector's office, or by check or money order payable to "Collector of Internal Revenue." In the case of payment in cash, the taxpayer is required to take a receipt, and the collector should furnish a receipt. In the case of payment by check or money order, however, the cancelled check or the money order with the indorsements thereon is usually a sufficient receipt.

Approach Of Spring Makes Fishermen Restless

Since the last few weeks of winter have been very mild and have been favorable for outdoor and sun-shiny days fishermen in Kentucky have become restless and are eager to get over their fishing tackle and making preparations for their first trip to the streams or to the lakes or ponds in the state in the very near future. Some of the more anxious and hardier anglers have already braved the wintry blasts to catch themselves a nice string of newlights in Herrington lake and to land some nice "mush-mouth" bass streams inhabited by that species of game fish.

Herrington lake, being the lake with the walleyed pike by the Division of Game and Fish and it is hoped that this game fish will soon build up another source of sport for fishermen in Kentucky's lake and to take pressure off the large-mouth black bass.

Recent rains have swollen streams to the extent of flushing pollution from the creeks which should later result in better fishing in those creeks and rivers.

A & P Adapts Self To War-Time Basis

As America moves into the third month of World War II, its largest food distributor, the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, adapts itself to war-time operations for the fourth time in its history.

In announcing plans for local participation in Founder's Week, February 16-21st, E. Deforrest, Vice-President, for this area, explained that the organization was established two years before the war between the states, serving also through the Spanish American and the first World War.

"Founder's Week honors George Huntington Hartford who, in 1859, not only organized the Company, but established a new, straight line distribution system that today is more important than ever before," Delarnatt said.

"America has been called upon to mobilize its economic and industrial production prorram the world has even seen, he explained, a point to point out as a convence the nation as a whole must be stronger and healthier than ever.

"To achieve this strength and health we must all be better fed and nourished than ever, which means that every man, woman and child in the country must get the most possible food for the money," he declared.

"The economics inherent to the streamlined distribution system established by Mr. Hartford 82 years ago thus assume a vital role in the nation's war effort, the executive said. In this connection he noted that recents by John A. Hartford, a son of the founder and now president of the company, had publicly pledged the organization to "cooperate unhesitatingly in every effort of authorized government agencies to prevent unwarranted rises in prices of foods."
