CONGRESSMAN HAS
DISEASE OF THE MOUTH

There has from the Seventh Kentucky Congressional district a Congressman who has a disease of the mouth. His name is Andrew Jackson May and he is chairman of the House Mills and minerals committee.

There is nothing of the banefulness of the disease which he has. It is a disease of the mouth which he has. It is a disease of the mouth which he has. It is a disease of the mouth which he has.

It is a disease of the mouth which he has. It is a disease of the mouth which he has. It is a disease of the mouth which he has. It is a disease of the mouth which he has.

"An Editor's Random Thoughts"

Editor: For several years back throughout this State have read reprints of the brilliant editorials upon this in mind, and believing that I was not alone in this, I am now presenting reprints under the heading "Random Thoughts". We will try to pick each one up which you read again with joy, one in which you will find the beauty of Kentucky.

THIS, THAT AND TOTHER

Awake early, despite the fact that it is the Sabbath and I don't want to get up. I get up, and when one can't use a pen, one can't use a pen. One can't use a pen, one can't use a pen.

It is a disease of the mouth which he has. It is a disease of the mouth which he has. It is a disease of the mouth which he has. It is a disease of the mouth which he has.
