THE CARLISLE MERCURY
Established 1867
Entered at the Carlisle Postoffice as second class matter

In Memory of
WARREN H. FISHER
Editor 1912-1937

Mrs. Warren Fisher, Publisher
Gibson Prather, Editor and Manager

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
One Year (in advance) $2.00

NATIONAL EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION 1942 Active Member

MEMBER KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION

THURSDAY, MARCH 26, 1942

It's Time for This to Stop.

In this time of war and crisis, any word that is spoken or written which would hurt the nation's supreme effort is inexcusable. There can be no disunity on the part of loyal Americans and any person who would foster such disunity is not an American of the type we want around.

We think that G. B. Leonard and his Future Farmers at the Carlisle school and the other FFA chapters are real pioneers. They realize there is a possibility of failure, but they're willing to try to get the job done.

We were talking to a merchant the other day who said that a customer had complained because she could get a certain item from a mail order house cheaper than she could at his store. There was a few cents difference.

We wondered what would have happened if he had offered the item at the mail order price and then told her to pay cash, add three cents for postage and a nickel for the money order. Then after she had done these things and asked for the item he had told her to come back in six days and she would have it just as quickly as she could by ordering it.

And then he refused to show her the item!

Would she have liked that, we wonder?

The last depression was a period when we tightened our belts. The next one is going to be a period when we won't even have a belt to tighten.

We will soon be seeing the new women's spring hats and maybe they will have an uplifting influence. Maybe for awhile even we won't seem so horrible.

Boys playing marbles is a better sign of spring, we submit, than any calendar. And they're knuckling down in Carlisle these days.

We can't imagine more thankless jobs than those of serving on a Draft Board or on the County Board of Supervisors. Both are concerned with giving people news they have little desire to hear-but must listen to just the same.

After the recent harrowing experience of trying to make heads or tails of an income tax blank, Mr. and Mrs. John Doe can face the future with the thought that there can't be little to frighten them. Until next March.

We are hoppy indeed that General MacArthur was sent to Australia and not allowed to remain in the Philippines as Miss Dorothy Thompson suggested. She seemed to think that his capture or death there would be good for morale. Personally we think that MacArthur is more useful as a live general than as a dead hero.

"An Editor's Random Thoughts"

Editor's Note: For several years readers throughout the State have asked for reprints of the brilliant editorials upon Nature by the Warren H. Fisher Memorial. In addition, realizing that many would enjoy again his editorials, we are presenting regularly under the head used by Mr. Fisher on many issues, "An Editor's Random Thoughts." We will try to pick each week one editorial by Mr. Fisher which we believe you will enjoy again with your self, or in which you will find all the beauty of Kentuckiana.

Daffodils.

"A host of golden daffodils
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze."

Last week, for a trifling sum, we were permitted to pick a great bunch of Jonquils from the lawn of a famous old home in Bourbon county. Under the great trees they flaunted their fresh, cool, golden cups on slender green stems. The air was cold, almost wintry in its keenness, yet in those long stretches of yellow daffodils Spring spoke of her coming, in their loveliness defying the chill winds and putting March made atonement for much of her wintry fickleness.

Like miniature air ships the creaking black birds volplaned from tree to tree; a diminutive chickadee grew suddenly vocal in four softly whistled notes of plaintive sweetness; a cardinal called from the mock-orange hedge. Prophets these of the coming of another Maytime, of love-time and nesting-time and life renewed.

Yet not a leaf had unfurled on the branches of the fine old trees, whose verdant coverts will shelter the nesting song bird in May. Only the daffodils, nodding their yellow heads in the wind, gave evidence of the great awakening.

Brave little banner of returning Spring is the jonquil, and in its clean, cool, dewy freshness is something of the purity and sweetness of infancy, the fragrance of the earth reborn.

The Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT ALLEN

Washington, D. C.

DONALD NELSON EXPLAINS

In his radio appeal for an immediate 25 per cent increase in war production, Donald Nelson announced that joint management-labor committees would be set up, with every plant to devise methods of increasing output. There has been considerable conjecture since then over the scope of these committees; whether they would run the plants or merely be advisory.

The other day Nelson explained just what he had in mind in a private talk with Walter Reuther, local vice president of the powerful C.I.O. United Auto Workers, who every plant to devise methods of increasing output. There has been considerable conjecture since then over the scope of these committees; whether they would run the plants or merely be advisory.

The other day Nelson explained just what he had in mind in a private talk with Walter Reuther, local vice president of the powerful C.I.O. United Auto Workers, who more than a year ago proposed the so-called "Reuther Plan" for converting automobile factories into airplane factories overnight. Reuther has been very active in the defense program.

While in Washington on union business after Nelson's broadcast, a mutual friend suggested to Reuther that he have a talk with the War Production Board chief whom he had never met. Nelson greeted Reuther pleasantly, remarked that he had heard a lot about his plan but had not seen its details.

I can tell you all about them in three minutes," said Reuther.

"Shoot," replied the war chief.

Nelson listened intently, asked a few questions, then remarked: "Essentially, your objective is the same as mine. The only thing on which we differ is the way to go about it."

"How's that?"

"Simply this," said Nelson. "We both want to gain industry to make all the airplanes, tanks and guns it can. Your plans called for plant conversion to direct the conversion, with a government representative participating as a side-line adviser. I believe it would be a difficult-to-one man for action and committees for advice. Plants were going to be run by representatives, in Detroit directing conversion, with the committees you proposed advising him. It's your plan side of a nutshell."

Nelson also told Reuther that he hoped the joint committees would speed the conversion of industry and welcomed any practical plan for increasing production. Nelson and Nelson stressed that he and not the committees would make the final decision of the proposals, that the function of the committees was strictly "advisory."

Note: After first approving the joint committee plan, Secretary Knox later told Nelson he was opposed to it and it would "Sovietize" U. S. industry." Knox contended that management alone should do the job. Nelson brushed aside Knox's fears and declared that without the full cooperation of labor the war could not be won. "I expect full cooperation from the navy on my plan," Nelson said firmly, "or else. And if you doubt my word there is a man in the White House who will confirm it for you."

HULL AND THE ARABS

Shortly before Secretary Hull left on his present protracted holiday, Colonel Bonsal, who worked out a plan to send an American "Colonel Lawrence" to visit the Arabs around Dakar.

The idea was that just as Colonel Lawrence led the Arabs in support of the Arabs for the British in the last war, so the United States could step over the Arabs in French West Africa, especially the Arabs around the base of Dakar, the jumping off place to South America.

So Col. Bonsal Sweeney, who has had much experience with the Arabs, was designated to undertake this difficult and important mission.

But when Secretary Hull heard of the Donovan plan, he hit the ceiling. Calling Donovan into his office, Hull lectured him at length, declaring: "You are trying to interfere with the conduct of our relations with a friendly country."

Hull flatly refused to give Colonel Sweeney a passport. So no attempt has been made to win over the Arabs of West Africa.

Note: British intelligence reports that three French warships sailed from Dakar last month bound for Madagascar. This will relieve the danger to Brazil, but it may increase the danger to Britain. U. S. shipping rushes through the Indian ocean to Suez and India; depending on whether the French warships will protect Madagascar from the British or the Japanese.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

€ Henderson's Price administration took will crack down on black marketeers, especially in Pittsburgh and Washington.

€ For some quickly-read and sound advice by real experts on what to do in the event of air raids, get the newly published handy book, "Civilian Defense of the United States," by Col. R. Ernest Dupuy and Lieut. Hodding Carter. Colonel Dupuy is author of a number of outstanding military volumes and is an ace authority in his field.

€ Another newly published small book that will be very helpful in understanding military developments is "Defense Will Not Win the War" by Lieut. Col. W. F. Kernan of the regular field artillery

Use Newspaper Advertising

50 YEARS AGO

Spring term of Nicholas circuit court opened with Judge Cole on bench.

William Squires sold his 150 acre farm near Carlisle to Ben Jeffries for $52.50 per acre.

J. W. B. Lee discontinued his meat market and Schradieli opened a store in a building vacated by him.

Barn of G. W. Wilson containing 12,000 pounds of tobacco belonging to W. L. Linville burned, destroying barn and loaf.

Oscar Hanna and Beauford Dudley shipped ten fine mud horses to Philadelphia.

John M. Donnell purchased the livery stable belonging to H. L. Sparks and put in it new equipment.

H. C. Rowan, 73, died at his Buffles Mill home.

Phil Nippert of Paris was in Carlisle arranging to build an ice storage house for John M. Brown will act as local agent.

10 YEARS AGO

Carlisle Improvement Co. announced a lot sale at the Dudley addition.

J. H. Few bought the house of Mrs. Fannie Smith at the corner of North and Maple streets for the sum $2,800.

Gaither Dudley let a contract to George Fries to construct a house on Sycamore street for the sum of $2,000.

Bruce Tune returned to Carlisle from Hawkinsville, Ga., where he had been making his home for the past two years.

Heavy wind-storms in Nicholas also unroofed several houses and barns.

New Bethel church was dedicated, with B. D. Gray as guest minister for the occasion. Mr. Gray was from Georgetown.

The following salaries were fixed by the Nicholas Fiscal court: County Judge, $800; County Attorney, $500; County Superintendent, $500; County Treasurer, $480.

Burglars entered the saloon of T. Minihan and T. E. Fitzgerald and took about $20 from the cash drawers.

20 YEARS AGO

Eight reasons for newspaper advertising were printed on page one of The Mercury (and they still hold good today).

A story on page one called for a return to the "good old styles" in women's millinery.

The county board of supervisors met and then adjourned until April 10.

Hog cholera losses were heavy all over Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scott lived on the Bourbon county line, but escaped with slight injuries.

Fire which originated in the piano caused damage at the Millersburg theatre.

SPRING PATTERN

Silken skeins of tender green
Hang from every willow bough.
Soon the shuttle of the sun
Soft designs of leaves will run
Robing every tree but now
Silken skeins of tender green
Hang from every willow bough

Miriam Latourell

—Buy Defense Bonds—

EASTER SEALS
CRIPPLED CHILDREN
1942

ONCE STAY-AT-HOMES, NOW GO-ALONGS

OTHER EDITORIALS

EDUCATION IN THE SOUTH

The Constitution today presents the first of a series of articles dealing with the general topic of education in the south. These articles have been prepared with the collaboration of one of the nation's most distinguished educators, a man born and educated in the south, a man of our own politics, zealous for an advancing spirit of the south, yet fully conversant with our national problems as well as our advantages.

The fundamental truth is, if we have the courage to face it, that children educated in the south have less opportunity in life than children born in other sections of the country. The south, as a whole, is the poorest section of extremes. Some of the finest schools in the nation are located in southern states—and some of the poorest.

No blame can be attached to southerners as a whole for poor school conditions. For the truth is the south spends a greater proportion of its income on education than any other part of the country. The trouble is the income of the average southern state is so much low-er than many others that it would take every penny raised in taxation, in any form, to give our children equal school advantages with those of some richer sections.

It has been stated, for instance, that if Mississippi spent every penny of state income, leaving nothing for roads, for health, for welfare, for maintenance of the state government, she would still not equal the amount, per 1000 of population, spent by Massachusetts on schools.

The result of such conditions is simply that, in the poorer states, that guarantee of equal opportunity which is intrinsic to the American ideal is worthless, means nothing to the children. For where can there be equality of opportunity when school opportunities are not equal?

Wherein lies the remedy is yet to be seen. It may mean sacrifice of some ancient shibboleths to which the south has long clung. It may mean revolutionary changes in our methods of financing our school systems.

—Atlanta Constitution.

HISTORY GOES SOUTH

(Christian Science Monitor)

Riots in Rio show history repeating itself in Berlin. The crowds that smashed German shops in the main streets of the Brazilian capital trampled beneath their feet "Mein Kampf" under foot in rain-filled gutters, and cried "Abaixo Hitler," were apparently brought to that pitch of emotion not by a sudden comprehension of the sinister ideals of Nazidom but by the same indiscriminate policies with which Berlin assured the United States's entry into the First World War in 1917. Uboats had been sinking Brazilian ships, killing Brazilian sailors.

This is not to say that the people of Rio de Janeiro knew no deeper reason to shout "Down with Hitler" Nearly 1,000,000 Germans live in that city. Brazil has lived with Nazis in its own house. But this fact did not precipitate the outbreak in Rio. Once more the German leaders in Berlin find themselves in straits so desperate, and care so little where they make enemies, that no nation can be sure of security without fighting for it. Nazi ambitions today, like those of Imperial Germany, are such as to threaten everybody. If this did not become immediately clear from the statement of the ambitions, it does become clear in the kind of warfare necessary to achieve them.

NEWS OF KENTUCKY

Edward B. Stout, Sr., 70, federal probation officer for the western Kentucky district, died at his home in Bowling Green after a seven months' illness.

Officials have cancelled the annual state basketball tournament for independent teams which was to have been held in Lexington next week.

Louisville General Hospital is the new name chosen for the city hospital in Louisville by the city-county health board created recently by the legislature.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Matson, who hold positions with the War Department, under Air Service Command at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, spent the week-end at their home here.

McCracken county's school bus system will be rerouted for the 1942-43 term in order to save tires and equipment, Superintendent Miles Meredith announced at Paducah.

Additional funds have been allocated for the construction of a new public health center at Henderson to cost $78,571, Dr. F. W. Sander, Henderson health director has revealed.

Louisville officials are considering seeking applications for the police department from persons living outside the city because of the low number of men now on the force.

Charles S. Wright, 60, secretary of the Lexington Central Labor Union and a professional musician, died in Lexington. He became ill while enroute to his office.

Murray State Teachers College has received $1,000 from the federal social security administrator, to deliver the commencement address, Dr. Ordway Tead, chairman of the board of higher education of New York, has been announced.

Officials of the Kentucky Society of Crippled Children are planning an Easter fund raising campaign to open next Thursday, Chairman Nell Rogers said following a meeting in Louisville.

William A. Francis, 26, and Miss Helen Reynolds, 25, both of Bowling Green, were injured fatally when their motorcycle and an automobile collided near West Point, 15 miles south of Louisville.

Central Kentucky policemen, attending a school for instruction in civilian defense at Lexington, saw results of English air raid fighting fires caused by German bombs. Other types of civilian defense work also were pictured.

Quick work by a patrolman and the fire department was credited with saving the life of Miss Helen Devers, 25, Lexington beauty operator, who was knocked unconscious by an electric shock and revived after 25 minutes by artificial respiration.

Beverly (Jug) Varney who, a Morehead ballhawk in 1937 was one of the nation's leading scorers, has enlisted in the navy after resigning as athletic director at Mt. Sterling High School.

Executive committeemen of the University of Kentucky board of trustees have extended for another year the Alfred P. Sloan foundation study of nutrition in mountain counties of Kentucky which provides a grant of $16,500.

The University of Kentucky has granted leaves to three more professors who are entering national defense work. They are William A. Tolman, Dr. F. W. Warburton and Estil J. Noffsinger.

Jack W. Nelson, director of the state highway patrol, has instructed members of the force to stop all vehicles driving faster than 40 miles an hour and advised the drivers to limit their speed to conserve tires and prevent accidents.

Paducah city officials have decided to make a personal count of Tennessee cities, using Tennessee Valley Authority electric power to obtain further information before continuing discussions relative to the purchase of the Kentucky facilities in Paducah.

GIBBERISH

(Continued from Page 1)

Six thousand baby chickens have been placed in the care of Sheriff Earl McKenzie at Green up because a bank attached the flock to collect on a loan.

Salary increases totaling $20,000 have been voted for 206 teachers and 55 regular employes of the Lexington Board of Education.

Winners of a state college music composition contest sponsored by a fraternity at the University of Kentucky were Frederick Johnson of Murray State Teachers College and Carol F. Watson of the University of Louisville.

Edward Albert Townsend 19, Cincinnati, has been sentenced to seven ten years in a federal penitentiary after pleading guilty in Louisville to robbing the Peoples Bank at Dunnville, Pulaski Co. Two other defendants in the $566 robbery were given prison terms previously.

County Judge Brady M. Stewart was to hear 19 applicants today who are seeking permission to operate roadhouses and night clubs in McCracken county. Sale of intoxicants in the county legalized recently and Judge Stewart was named alcoholic beverage administrator. Most of the applicants are seeking permission to sell beer.

A caravan of about 70 U. S army "Jeeps" was delayed in Fulton because several men celebrating the birthday anniversary of Andrew Jackson and a number of volunteer troops met immediately to cross the Kentucky-Tennessee line. The vehicles were transported by private owned companies.

Among other annual events cancelled for the duration is the Kentucky Derby, Churchill Downs, which was to be held at Ashland on April 25. Mrs. Harold Winn, president of the club, is Bibb's board of directors, announced the cancellation.

More than 250 workers of the Ohio unemployment compensation commission have petitioned Executive Director Vego E. Barnes to increase their weekly work hours from 39 to 44. Barnes said the petition has not been accepted officially, but explained that such an increase would be the equivalent of 6,000 hours a month or 30 full-time employees, whose yearly salaries would be $30,000.

Well known educators and public figures are expected to attend the formal inauguration of Dr. Herman Lee Donovan as president of the University of Kentucky at Lexington May 8. Principal speakers at inauguration events will be Gov. Keen Johnson, Dr. E. O. Holland, president of Washington State College, and Dr. Howard L. Bevis, president of Ohio State University.

University of Kentucky agriculture officials said that meat, dairy and poultry products will increase sharply since federal farm representatives asked for increased production in the war-food program. University spokesmen said Kentucky's entry this year will be 3 per cent for hogs, 5 per cent for lambs, 17 per cent and milk output 12 per cent ahead of the requested rate.

The Danville leaf tobacco replying plant was destroyed by fire which threatened many surrounding buildings. E. G. Robertson, plant manager, said the loss would be estimated until all records were checked. He added the structure would be rebuilt and business continued.

There are no "rookie" dollars. Send yours to the front!

Let's don't remember Pearl Harbor—Let's avenge it!

MONEY TALKS

By Frederick W. Stamm

Americans have decided by an overwhelming majority to support all-out war effort. This mean defeating men both in industry as well as into the armed forces, but one thing we all know, all-out war effort will mean sacrifice on the part of everyone.

Up to the present time many Americans have made few sacrifices. In fact, many people have been profiting from the war due to war activities, than they have been for years. The 1941 national income, highest in our history, amounted to 94.5 billion dollars, which was 22 per cent more than 1940. Wages and salaries paid to individuals approximated 70 billion dollars, which was 25 per cent above the 1940 figure. The greatest amount of this increase can be traced directly to Government spending. Farm income in 1941 was the highest for any year since 1929. Do these figures look like sacrifice?

Workers and farmers are still using the war to better their economic status. Labor is right now asking for a dollar-a-day increase in many of our key war industries and is pressing our Government to decide that industry should grant this increase. On the Pacific Coast where the Bethlehem Company ship building empire is bolted at a ten-hour day, even though the government fixed them time and a-half for the two extra hours and a 10 per cent bonus.

The power of farm bloc in Congress is demanding legislation which will require the Government to hold the ceiling on corn, and wheat which it purchased when prices were low. Farmers are getting more and more and more prosperous in 1941, one industry, alone, Jaws have started to swell and the bids and lassies have been told how.

And now comes word that a teacher in the school has contracted the disease.

We don't know the lady. She is probably the finest teacher in the county system. She is probably loved by all of her pupils. And we go on record here that this is so.

But we insist that when we were a kid if we had been able to have given a few thousand dollars we would have been a full-blooted hero, and one who take. And we would gladly have sacrificed any chance of ever being president if we could have brought this about.

We don't imagine that kids have changed much since then.

So there's a hero somewhere in this county, and if he could only prove it was he that did it—he'd have every marble in school just for the asking.

George D. Scott, Jr., local auctioneer, bought himself a new Lincoln Zephyr sedan from sales the other day. Paid fifty cents the dollar, which means he have won five dollars wagering that it wouldn't drop dead before he got to the end of a dollar mine. But he says now that he has sold him, although he didn't get a chance to hold the cash. But the joker was that the man who sold the mule is the only place had to come up with two cars, chased when prices were low. Then when she came, just to be safe, because she had brought in another load of tobacco.

That's parallel to the old story about the women who took her tobacco to market both in the same day. It was raining pretty nothing and ended up with the buildings, professional workers, etc.) whose incomes have risen but little, but whose living costs and taxes have risen considerably. Also affected are business organizations, large and small, which are faced with price ceilings, higher operating costs, and rising taxes. Likewise caught in the middle of this all-out war effort are the support of labor and the farmer are the middle class people (white

All-out war effort calls for sacrifice on the part of everyone—labor, the armer, and industry. Before long, the Government must face this fact and regulate all prices and all wages, or certain powerful pressure groups will be able to better their conditions at the expense of their groups. We can ill afford to have this happen at this critical time.

Mr. D. P. Vaughn has not been so well for several days suffer from a deep cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Martin and Etheridge Hill have been recent guests of Mrs. Mary Martin and family.

Mrs. Lallie Haughey of Indianapolis, Indiana, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Myers.

George Gaffin up at Turneman and Sons is a man who starts out to get something and doesn't come back empty-handed. Getting married at the candy case which he needed that could be purchased up at the store. Then he led himself up there last week—tire rations or no tire rations.

The place was a bare of salable candy cases as was Mother Hubbard's cupboard of bones, but George didn't come away empty-handed. He found something there was doesn't for thirty-five cents and he invested.

But the regulars around George's establishment here are wondering just what it was that he found there to be bought with that price. It will be interesting, at least, to see what he brings back this time.

Down at our meadow business Mr. Joe Mathias and G. B. Lee, Jr., have been over the table from each other and the words fish and fast. All in a spirit of fun.

Leonard says that he has hired Uncle Joe as a dependent but the income tax people are kicking. Uncle Joe says he is supervising Leonard's planting project and offered to inspect the thing if Leonard would only plant some watermelons.

It generally ends in a draw.

Back to Service

Private First Class Matthew D. Kennedy who is stationed at Randolph Field, Texas, returned Saturday from a 10-day furlough spent with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Kennedy.

Mrs. Cecil Campbell and daughters, Helen and Margie Lee, Mrs. Percy McClanahan and Thomas Eli Vaughn., were here Sunday, the guests of Mrs. Florence Vaughn.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Botkins are taking their vacation in Maysville and other places this week.

—Buy Defense Stamps—

Pacific Coast Area

LaFayette Is Tourney Winner

Lexington Team Defeats Harlan for State Halo—Won It Hard Way

LaFayette's brilliant Generals, the state basketball championship held trophy in their throats, stepped off the train Sunday in Lexington and were welcomed by a cheering crowd of some three thousand fans. It was far different from the doleful reception they received as they set them off for their trip to Louisville.

But the Generals were heroes on their return. They had won the state tournament—and they won it the hard way by blasting Midway and Kavanaugh in regional play and then whipping everything in sight when they got to Louisville.

They completely outclassed Harlan in the final round—defeating the Green Dragons from the hills by 44 to 32 to carry off the title.

Before that they had stamped out Daviess County High, Berry and the always dangerous St. Xavier team in the semi-finals. Harlan reached the ultimate round by downing Franklin, Mt. Sterling and Hazel Green.

The General may not be through for the year at that. They have been challenged by Burgin, winner of the Duke University Invitational tourney and there is talk of matching them in a two out of three series with the Indiana State champions.

But Sunday, at least, they were heroes.

—For Victory: Buy Bonds—

Sheriff's List

The following 1941 Tax Bills upon which there is Real Estate, will be offered for sale at the Court House Door on April the 13th, 1942 at 2:30 P. M.

Tax Bill No. 128. Harrison Bowles. Because cut at the Moorefield school, they've been having mumps and then more mumps. One after another, jaws have started to swell and the kids and lassies have been told how.

And now comes word that a teacher in the school has contracted the disease.

We don't know the lady. She is probably the finest teacher in the county system. She is probably loved by all of her pupils. And we go on record here that this is so.

But we insist that when we were a kid if we had been able to have given a few thousand dollars we would have been a full-blooted hero, and one who take. And we would gladly have sacrificed any chance of ever being president if we could have brought this about.

We don't imagine that kids have changed much since then.

So there's a hero somewhere in this county, and if he could only prove it was he that did it—he'd have every marble in school just for the asking.

George D. Scott, Jr., local auctioneer, bought himself a new Lincoln Zephyr sedan from sales the other day. Paid fifty cents the dollar, which means he have won five dollars wagering that it wouldn't drop dead before he got to the end of a dollar mine. But he says now that he has sold him, although he didn't get a chance to hold the cash. But the joker was that the man who sold the mule is the only place had to come up with two cars, chased when prices were low. Then when she came, just to be safe, because she had brought in another load of tobacco.

That's parallel to the old story about the women who took her tobacco to market both in the same day. It was raining pretty nothing and ended up with the buildings, professional workers, etc.) whose incomes have risen but little, but whose living costs and taxes have risen considerably. Also affected are business organizations, large and small, which are faced with price ceilings, higher operating costs, and rising taxes. Likewise caught in the middle of this all-out war effort are the support of labor and the farmer are the middle class people (white

All-out war effort calls for sacrifice on the part of everyone—labor, the armer, and industry. Before long, the Government must face this fact and regulate all prices and all wages, or certain powerful pressure groups will be able to better their conditions at the expense of their groups. We can ill afford to have this happen at this critical time.

Mr. D. P. Vaughn has not been so well for several days suffer from a deep cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Martin and Etheridge Hill have been recent guests of Mrs. Mary Martin and family.

Mrs. Lallie Haughey of Indianapolis, Indiana, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Myers.

George Gaffin up at Turneman and Sons is a man who starts out to get something and doesn't come back empty-handed. Getting married at the candy case which he needed that could be purchased up at the store. Then he led himself up there last week—tire rations or no tire rations.

The place was a bare of salable candy cases as was Mother Hubbard's cupboard of bones, but George didn't come away empty-handed. He found something there was doesn't for thirty-five cents and he invested.

But the regulars around George's establishment here are wondering just what it was that he found there to be bought with that price. It will be interesting, at least, to see what he brings back this time.

Down at our meadow business Mr. Joe Mathias and G. B. Lee, Jr., have been over the table from each other and the words fish and fast. All in a spirit of fun.

Leonard says that he has hired Uncle Joe as a dependent but the income tax people are kicking. Uncle Joe says he is supervising Leonard's planting project and offered to inspect the thing if Leonard would only plant some watermelons.

It generally ends in a draw.

Back to Service

Private First Class Matthew D. Kennedy who is stationed at Randolph Field, Texas, returned Saturday from a 10-day furlough spent with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Kennedy.

Mrs. Cecil Campbell and daughters, Helen and Margie Lee, Mrs. Percy McClanahan and Thomas Eli Vaughn., were here Sunday, the guests of Mrs. Florence Vaughn.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Botkins are taking their vacation in Maysville and other places this week.

—Buy Defense Stamps—

MATCH YOUR Spring Wardrobe WITH A New Hair Do
EASTER SPECIAL
$3.50 Oil Permanent For $2.50
Good Till April 4
Gaffin's Beauty Shop
Phone 395

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE

As Administrator for the heirs of Mrs. Polly Ann Small, I will offer for sale the farm of one hundred and fifty-two (152) acres located on the Small turnpike twelve (12) miles North of Carlisle. Also at the same time a place will sell the following articles:

3 cupboards, 3 wooden beds, 2 stoves, lot of glass jars, some stone jars, some chairs, 4 or 5 barrels corn, 2 post hole diggers, 1 Brith grain, 1 2-inch auger, one 1-2 inch auger, 1 set chains, several g