TO MY FRIENDS AND PATRONS OF CARLISLE AND VICINITY

I take this opportunity to thank each and everyone of you for your many cards and letters and honor during my illness of a few months ago and now since going back and again. We have had quite so many more and Dad and Mom could told me of so many people asking about me. I want every one of those people to know how much it means to us fellows, sick or well.

Since I have spent so much time in the hospital I know a letter, card or even to know you're thinking of us about you, can do more than any doctor or medicine.

So keep writing to all of us and especially those fellows "Over There." Thank you.

Increase in Stock Raising Calls For Larger Feed Crops

Every possible acre of feed crops should be grown this year to provide for the large numbers of livestock on Kentucky farms, declares Dean Thomas Poe of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington.

Hog production will be increased by more than a half-million head this season, and there are record numbers of cattle, sheep and chickens in the state. This means that more feed must either be produced here or brought in from other states. The increasing difficulty of transportation makes it important that every effort be made to grow more feed at home, says Dean Cooper.

Members of the Experiment Station staff suggest that the production of corn be increased approximately 10 per cent this year, and that eight to ten more bushels will be added to the average annual production. Between the acreage planting high-yielding hybrid corn varieties, fertilizing as liberally as possible on the lands which more corn can be produced. It is suggested that corn be planted where small grains, winter-killed and lespedeza stand or fields where stands of pasture grass are not expected to be used for corn.

Farmers also should consider sowing lespedeza sudan grass mixtures, alone and in other crops, including oats this spring for hay next fall. They can prepare the acreage, planting high-yielding hybrid corn varieties, fertilizing as liberally as possible on the lands which more corn can be produced. BLAMES THE GOVERNOR

(To the Editor of The Courier-Journal:)

Many schools in Kentucky will not open next fall unless Governor Johnson calls a special session of the General Assembly to appropriate money for increases in teachers' salaries. I blame these teachers for leaving the school room for a task factory. $50 or $60 per week looks mighty good in comparison with $10 or $12 per week for teaching the kids.

You can blame Governor Keen Johnson, though, for not allowing these 18,000 servants of the people the opportunity to present their claims before their elected senators and representatives of the right, except a technical constitutional provision, has the Governor to refuse such demands? If money for school purposes is raised by legislation enacted by the General Assembly and all appropriations are made by this body now. Why then does our governor consider that he is the one to say whether or not our schools should continue to run or be closed because of extraordinary conditions?

This is the same attitude Governor Johnson took at the 1942 session over all legislation. If he thought it should pass, then he had to introduce a bill for increased money appropriated from the general fund to pay every teacher in Kentucky at least $75 per month. Where are your Superintendent of Public Instruction and his bill? Did he do to bat for it and try to have it passed? No! He got Attorney Gen. Hon. Ed. Hopkins Courts, introduced a bill to allow all teachers to receive $75 per month for the terms. Did this pass? Not on that!

Our teachers would do well to select some man for superintendent of public instruction who will have the backbone to fight for the little schools of the state regardless of the wishes of the governor and governess. A governor should be that he will not use the Good Affice supported by the taxpayers and school people to interfere in politics. Your K. E. A. is a good organization but it is for the benefit of the schools and not for politics.

"Lame Duck" Appointments

We never liked the term "lame ducks" as applied to those men who have been defeated in elections who have been elected in a reflection upon them. Nevertheless there is what the newspaper boys call a "human interest" in them.

Take for instance, the case of Prentiss M. Brown, who was just a U. S. Senator for a few days. Just before election and when he was a candidate for re-election, he had the courage to declare that Senator Claude Pepper of Florida should be returned to the Senate on the ground that he saw through the New Deal and that such a reflection on the state. The speech was one of the great utterances made on the floor of that body in recent years. He was defeated November 3 President, wouldn't we feel that such a man's services would be spared to the nation. Not so. Mr. Roosevelt has appointed him Federal Loan Administrator. Which is a job that has been stolen from his predecessor. They waived ceremonial and were held to the grand jury.

James E. Noel and Raymond Waggoner of Carlisle were sons from Fort Thomas, Kentucky, on March 25th, to the Rights Area Board Division, Camp Polk, La.

Sergt. James M. Berry, who is stationed at Williams Field near Phoenix, Ariz., is spending his furlough with his family at Carlisle.

Private Chester B. Mattox, son of Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Mattox, route 2, Carlisle, has been promoted to Corporal at Camp Robinson, Ark.

STATE BRIEFS

Workers of the Frankfort Cooperage Company voted to return to their jobs last Friday. The walkout arose over a dispute with a foreman.

State Senator J. J. Thomas, Democrat, filed his candidacy for Democratic nomination to succeed himself as Senator from the Twenty-seventh district last Saturday.

James F. McGregor, 91, Pleasureville, died last week. Fleming county, died last week at the home of his son. Mr. McGregor, who began his teaching at the age of seventeen, taught continuously in the county for sixty-one years.

In Bourbon Circuit Court Lawrence Lucas, charged with forgery, was given two years and Leon Wide, chicken stealing, one year. They were taken to LaGrange last week by Sheriff Harvey A. Rogers and Deputy John Neal Woodford.

Vodie Jackson, of Fulton, Ky., will receive $3,686 for compensation for personal injuries and property damage suffered by him when his wagon was struck by a Civilian Conservation Corps truck. The order has been signed by the President.

At Somerset, Ky., C. M. Grider, 71, was burned to death Friday night in an attempt to rescue a ring from a blazing barn-at his home near Cain's Store. The barn was destroyed by fire. The ring was near by that was being burned off.

John K Caldwell, of Berea, Ky., was nominated Friday by the senate to succeed himself as the first United States minister resident and consul general to Iraq. He opts since the Italians were chased out of that country. Caldwell is a former Berea College professor.

According to the will of the late John Mayes, prominent Bourbon county farmer and lumber owner who died March 19, Garth fund for the education of the sons of Bourbon county and the Hamilton fund for the education of daughters, each receives the income from approximately $100,000 each from his estate.

PETER AND JOHN BECOME DISCIPLES OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—John 1:34-42; Mark 1:16-20.

GOLDEN TEXT—And Jesus said unto them, Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men.—Mark 1:17.

Personal faith in Christ is the heart of Christian experience. Some persons are won by other persons it was only important that the Lord choose the right disciples at the very beginning of the Church. Confessing among the twelve disciples were Peter and John, whose lives and letters we study during the next three months.

The manner in which they became disciples is of unusual importance and is instructive as well. We will observe that our Lord is working in a much the same way on the Peters and Johns of today as He was with those of His day.

I. Testimony—They Heard About Jesus (John 1:29-34, 41).

The first step in our refrains from naming himself vs 40; heard about Jesus. Their source of this testimony is notable for its pointed emphasis on Christ. Here is a most remarkable desire that they follow Him. John, who was standing there with a companion, pointed to Jesus as He walked by and said, "Behold the Lamb of God!" (vs. 36). Two disciples heard him say this, and they followed Jesus.

Hearing about Jesus is not enough. We must see Him for ourselves. A most dependable personal meeting with the Lord.

II. Experience—They Saw Jesus (John 1:35-39, 41).

The necessity of a personal experience with Jesus Christ is clearly stated in literature that one can only learned. He is not learned in many churches today.

Neither John the Baptist nor, later, Andrew was content to tell about Jesus. They brought others to Him. Next to the Lord John said, "Behold the Lamb of God!" Andrew did more "brought him to Jesus" (v. 42). Christ was the center of Andrew's duty. We must bring our friends and loved ones to Christ, not with whom we deal, into the presence of Christ.

We look into their eyes and see into their souls as we listen to the gifts and graces which may be developed in them. Such was John was the brother of James and they were the sons of Zebedee, and were fishermen in the sight of men. Jesus saw in them the makings of the most useful men who have ever lived. Let us give Him a chance to see in our friends and acquaintances.

Seeing and seeing are both essential, but they lack one final step in discipleship.

III. Action—They Followed Jesus (John 1:37, 40, 42).

First of all they followed Jesus in the literal sense of the word. They went to Him. Then they followed Him as disciples. That experience of John's (vs. 37) is one that is characteristic of the disciple (vs. 40). There is a definite act of faith which follows a knowledge of Christ.

Dr. Dougan in Mark we find Him saying, "Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men." Jesus' supreme purpose was to save men from their sins. Before they could become what He wanted them to be, they had to do something—rise up and follow Him.

Their unquestioning response indicated their faith, but, more than that, it showed that they were the kind of obedient men who could be used of the Lord. Jesus would have called His disciples from the learned and the high-born. But one workers which He could use for the Lord's service. There will be no contest in Louisville this year.

Pre-Easter Revival April 12 thru 16

The churches of Carlisle are uniting for a five evening revival with the various pastors preaching. Monday evening at the Presbyterian Church Rev. La Verne Taylor will bring the first message. "The Lamb of God." Tuesday at the Methodist Church, Rev. J. H. Thompson preaches.

Wednesday night, at the Baptist Church, Rev. Seevers brings the message. Dr. Crabb preaches Thursday and Rev. C. A. Crabb Friday night. There two services at the Christian Church.

These services precede the opening of the Methodist Revival by Dr. Crabb, the president of the Kentucky Christian College, to extend the aim of the cooperating churches, "a small Christ, to magnify the Church and intensify greater loyalty to the work of Christs' Kingdom.

The time of the services is 8:00 p. m. making the hour more convenient that the farm families who will attend.

Navy Announces Special Instruction For WAVES

Special Assignments To Be Given Women With Technical Training

It was announced today by Mrs Bertha Westfall, local civilian recruiter for the WAVES and SPARS, that special assignments will be given women between the ages of 20 and 36 who enlist in the Navy if they have had technical training in the field of medicine or dentistry.

Women who are enlisted in this special work will be sent to the campus of some college in the United States for a period of basic training. Here they will be classified according to the special work they did on the outside. Following the basic training they will be rated Hospital Apprentice Second class and transferred to a Naval Hospital for further training. Upon successful completion of the training course in a Naval Hospital, they may be advanced in rating at once including pharmacist mate second class. Advancement will be determined by age, education and general suitability. Further promotions will be upon the same basis as for men.

Special fields of training and experience which will qualify women for an assignment in the Hospital branch include: biology, chemistry, dental and x-ray technicians, home economics, nursing, occupational therapy, physical or dental secretaries, pharmacy, office assistants, physio-therapy and bacteriology. These women will be paid base salaries up to $120.00 per month plus uniforms and living expenses.

These women are urgently needed in the U. S. Navy to replace men now working in hospitals so that they can serve aboard ship. Women with any of the above training in the above fields are urged to contact Mrs Bertha Westfall for details of enlistment.

Training in more than eight other fields will be given women who are not particularly interested in hospital work. Work in these fields will carry the same rating as similar work done by any man in the Navy.

Detailed information may be obtained at the Navy Recruiting Station, Lexington, Kentucky.

OPA Puts Fresh Meats Under Uniform Ceilings

Price Must Be Lowered As Points Are Reduced

Monday the O. P. A. instituted tighter control over meat prices with the setting of rent-a-point ceiling prices effective April 6 for beef, veal, lamb and mutton.

At the same time, the O. P. A. forbade retailers to reduce point values on any rationed meats or fats without cutting prices also. Retailers lowering point values of meats—to prevent spoilage—by as much as 25 per cent should reduce the price at the same rate, but in no case need a merchant cut the price below 50 per cent.

The two actions were designed, officials said, to eliminate confusion arising from store-by-store variations in ceilings, to help stamp out Black Market, and to guard against abuse of the store's privilege of reducing point values in order to move rationed perishable items. O. P. A. officials at Louisville said that on the basis of a check-up with stores, consumers there would save considerably on the variety of the cheaper cuts in the ceiling prices.

Heretofore, ceilings on beef beef, lamb and mutton for each store have been the highest price in charged on each item. The new order divided the country into twelve regions and fixed uniform ceilings in each. except that small independent stores were allowed to charge 1 to 2 cents a pound more for the cuts than are the bigger outlets.

The higher prices will be charged only by stores which did not more than $250,000 worth of business last year.

Kroger Store Mgrs. Transferred

Stanley Galbraith, manager of the Kroger store here for the past year, left last week for Cynthiana to take charge of another Kroger grocery.

Mr. Galbraith will replace Mr. Jim McKinney, who has been manager of the Pike Street Kroger Store, for the past two years and needs no introduction to Harrison county people, having previously managed a chain store here and also operated his own grocery.

Mr. Galbraith's family will remain in Carlisle until the first of May.

Is Commissioned Second Lieutenant

Glenn W. Clay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Clay of Myers, Ky., former assistant county agricultural agent of Campbell County, Ky., who entered the Anti Aircraft Artillery School, Camp Davis, North Carolina on January 2, was graduated April 1 and was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Army of the United States.

Awards for outstanding records of achievement are provided by the Kraft Cheese Co. on county, state and national levels. They include medals for Each Class A and B county winners; eight $25 War Bonds to a blue award group in each state, and all-expense trips to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago to the two highest rating delegates from each extensive section, and two at large Five of these sectional winners will be selected to receive the national award of either a $200 War Bond or scholarship.

The activity will be conducted, with other 4-H activities, under projects of production and conservation.

Information To Aid Farmers In Slaughtering And Sale Of Meat

Each farmer who slaughters and sells meat in accordance with WPB-257 and OPA regulations must meet the following requirements:

1. The farmer must have a slaughter permit in order to slaughter meat for sale.

2. He must place his permit number on each wholesale cut unless he sells his meat direct to the consumer, in which case a tag will do.

3. If he sells at wholesale, he should use the OPA wholesale point chart for the period in order to determine the number of points to collect.

4. If he sells at retail, he should use the OPA retail point chart to determine the number of points to collect.

5. For each month during which any sales are made, he must file with the local War Price and Rationing Board a prescribed report together with the points collected.

6. He must grade all beef, veal, lamb and mutton and place the grade on each wholesale cut.

7. He must comply with OPA ceiling prices.

Rural Spelling Bee Held Saturday

The annual rural Spelling Bee was held Saturday afternoon in the city school chapel and was won by Miss Ann Bell Bowen, 13, seventh grade student of the Moorefield school, who correctly spelled the word "constant." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Vore.

The eighth-grade student of the Parks school Maxine Wendt, was runner-up. Both of these girls was Mary Lou Lawson of Myers. Miss Lawson went out on the word "physical." Fourth was Sally Douglas of East Union. fifth Mary Lou Donovan, Ellisville; sixth Clyde Mann, of Miranda; seventh Betty Gaines Scott, Mary Lou Lawrence and eighth, Lena Morris, of Barterville.

Mrs. Irene Mitchell pronounced the words. Judges were Mrs. J. E. Sapp, Mrs. James Standiford and Mrs. George W. Taylor, former county school superintendent.

The winner will receive a check for ten dollars, a medal, a certificate of merit and a volume of Henry Watterson's editorials, all given by the Courier-Journal. There will be a contest in Louisville this year.

Pitman's Jewelry To Have New Quarters

Mr. J. M. Pitman, who has conducted a jewelry business in the McIntire building on Main street here in Carlisle for a considerable number of years, will move into the room recently vacated by The Youthful Modes Shop, on West Main street in the First National Bank building, in the near future.

The new quarters have been newly renovated and will give Mr. Pitman a very nice place for his jewelry business.

Blaze Causes Slight Damage To Roof

Last Saturday morning the Carlisle Fire Department was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Campbell, 423 Heyman avenue, to extinguish a small blaze that resulted from a defective flue.

Kenneth Camp'ell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, with the aid of Mr. William Kendall, had the fire extinguished before the arrival of the fire department.

The alarm was sounded at 9:20 a. m., and the firemen were on the scene at 9:25.

Future Farmers Give Degrees

At the monthly meeting, Monday, March 29, the Future Farmers gave six boys F. A. degrees. This is their second degree given by the Chapter. The Green Hand degree was given at the February meeting. There were five boys receiving the Green Hand degree.

The local chapter can only give two degrees, Green Hand and the F. A. degrees. There are two more degrees given, one by the State and the last by the National Organization. This is the highest degree given.

The boys who received Future Farmer degrees are as follows: Steve Atkinson, Fred Whaley, Cecil Robinson, Isaac Flora, Ralph Ecton, Ewell Clinkenbeard.

Those who received Green Hand degrees are as follows: Dora Anner, Gene Guthrie, W. O. Kelly Kooknedoff, Russell Allen.

These are a few of the aims and objectives of Future Farmers:

1. To create and nurture a love for agriculture.

2. To strengthen the confidence of farm boys and young men in themselves and their work.

3. To create and foster interest in intelligent choice of farming occupations.

4. To encourage members to improve the farm home and its surroundings.

5. To participate in worthy undertakings in the development of agriculture.

6. To develop character, traits for useful citizenship, and foster patriotism.

7. To encourage and practice thrift.

Our Motto

The motto consists of only four lines, but these lines are filled with practical philosophy, stating a spirit and sincerity that shows the true viewpoint of farm youth, the "backbone of a nation," as follows:

Learning to Do
Doing to Learn
Earning to Live
Living to Serve.

Fence Rationing Discontinued

A discontinuance of fence rationing was announced today by M. D. Royse, Chairman of the Kentucky USDA War Board upon the basis of a recommendation of Clifford Townsend, Director, Office of Price Administration. Effective 0001 E. W. T. Monday night, May 3, "The discontinuance of fence rationing means at a time when all farmers have been wondering how they can get enough fencing for farm fences which had become dilapidated or practically worn out, but can't get it because of the restrictions," declared Royse. Some fencing need not apply at any agency for priority or under any release but should contact their dealer for the purchase.
