The Carlisle Mercury

Established 1867

Entered at the Carlisle Postoffice as second class matter

In Memory of
WARREN R. FISHER
Editor 1912-1937

Mrs. Warren Fisher, Publisher
E. W. HAMM, Editor

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

| | |
|---|---|
| One Year (in advance) | $2.00 |
| Six Months | $1.25 |
| One Year (Men in Service) | $1.25 |

Member Kentucky Press Association and National Editorial Association

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1943

Yesterday Has Gone;
Forever: Shattered.

Our yesterday has gone, and, we believe the same can be said by many—dreams that some glorious dreams and hopes have been shattered and some have come true and made us happy. Some of our plans, hopes and ambitions and plans have failed. They were doubtless destined to be little extras. That one may strive and be given another chance, we plodded our weary way onward, and if we had reached a goal. Those failures, which gave heartaches and tears, moulds gloom and fitter despair gave only courage to go on. We went on and later one of those hopes which transcended most all else has come to a reality. In it lies much of our future. Even as there are other hopes and desires within our soul and we cherish them deeply. We have but much to be thankful for and today our cup is overflowing. The restless weariness has ceased in our souls, here filled with bitter fulminations; and, for this we are most grateful.

In our memory's storehouse are stored some of the rarest gems. We are thankful for precious memories. We have made successes and we have made failures; we have felt as though we had been tarnished from ill usage and we have felt the opposite. We are human again. Our reception has been wonderful—made so by true and tried friends.

As for the real satisfaction of what many people consider success depends largely upon the way it has been attained. We had rather go down in defeat fighting for what we know to be right than to carry the banner of victory we had won at the expense of a liberated conscience. All men have sinned, none are perfect, and "he who is without sin, cast the first stone."

And now as eventide of life approaches with visions of soft sweet pressing our brow, tray we watch the beauties in life. May we watch the stars above as they twinkle in the darkness as though they were signaling a beautiful message to me, may we see and feel the quietness of the moon as it rolls along in all its glory speculate the light of night that we may see our way onward without stumbling. May we be privileged to arise on the morrow and to watch the rising of the sun as it rolls on its endless journey furnishing the necessary heat that even the birds of the air and the beasts of the fields may prosper. And may our todays prove happier than our yesterdays and may all mankind join us in these wonderous things—those yet to come.

55 YEARS AGO

Thursday, February 16, 1888

Bevard & Sanford purchase butcher shop of Talbott & Scott and take charge of the business.

Married—Miss Helen Belle Linville and Mr. William H. Eubanks, both of the county, on the 14th.

In a letter to the Republican national committee, James G. Blaine declined to become a candidate for President.

Daily mail service from Cynthiana to be put in operation for patrons of Headquarters and Hookers postoffices.

Mrs. Banta, Thrasher's mother of Judge Banta, falls at home and suffers fracture of the arm and other injuries.

Prohibitionists of the county meet at Lerks and elect delegates to the state convention at Harrodsburg. Nominate candidates for state officers.

Samuel Clay, popularly known as "Gray Beard," died at his residence near Paris on last Sunday. He owned several thousand acres of land in Bourbon, Nicholas and Harrison.

Died—Mrs. W. H. Collier, at her home in the county on the 10th. Mrs. Nancy Wallace, formerly of W. T. Hamilton, at Carlisle. Her home in Orlando, Fla. Mrs. Lucy Ruddell, at his home in Carlisle on the 10th—Infant of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bruckbauch at their home in Carlisle on the 10th.

43 YEARS AGO

Thursday, February 15, 1945

David Huddleston buys farm of 60 acres from Sam Owings at $65 per acre.

Rudolf Stine sells choice lot and warehouse. Contemplates going into business of some kind.

City Council employs engineer to make plat of Carlisle in preparation for a sewerage system.

Grand jury adjourns Saturday after returning 49 indictments. Court will be in session all week.

Married—Miss Pearl Bolls, of Montgomery county, and Mr. Henry Darnell, of Nicholas on the 8th.

Stock exchange has established a convenient telephone line between Carlisle and Brooklett, and work will start at once.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Ed Henderson of Mansfield, on the 10th, a daughter. To Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kendon, of Shawhan, a daughter.

Died—John Waugh, Jr., at his home near Miranda on the 10th—William Oldham, a native of Nicholas county, at the home of his daughter in Cynthiana on the 9th.

Mass meeting of several hundred Democrats of the county held at the courthouse Saturday night to pass resolutions severely deploring the action of Gov. W. A. Taylor in calling troops to Frankfort.

HATCHERY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Our new Hatchery is now in operation, modern building, modern equipment, 20,000 capacity which will enable us to do a large production. of the finest chicks possible to produce.

Four hatches weekly. All chicks are hatched from blood-tested Flocks, with the best egg production bred-to-lay back of them possible to obtain.

All chicks are Guaranteed to live and grow. Our Government is asking you to raise more chicks for defense.

Order your chicks early. We will consider it a favor, and it may save you a disappointment.

We invite you to visit our hatchery. Visitors are always welcome.

BLACK HILL POULTRY FARM & HATCHERY
Omar C. Burns, Owner

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNGER, D. D.
Of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for February 21

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts are based on copyrighted outlines by the International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

JESUS THE GOOD SHEPHERD

LESSON TEXT—John 10:1-16, 27-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep.—John 10:11.

Beautiful and meaningful as they are, those of the 23rd Psalm are not the only figures of our Lord's ministry which have a unique appeal to that of the good shepherd. Even—who have never looked upon nor yet heard the voice of the shepherd's care know the telling aptness of the allegory of the Good Shepherd. We know how much we are like sheep needing the tender shepherd's care, and we soon learn to know and to trust Christ as the True Shepherd of the flock.

The scene of the picture is the Court of Shepherd, and it is situated that we may call Mind. The

I. He Knows His Sheep (vv. 1-5). As an oriental shepherd his sheep were brought into a fold, a walled enclosure with gates and with a single gate. Many different flocks were kept together in the care of an undershepherd. In the morning the shepherds came to call their own flock. They came to the door, not as the thieves of the night, who sought to come in by some other way.

When the shepherd called his own sheep responded. We are told that they would not come at the voice of a stranger—not being ready to trust and tried friends.

The application is obvious and not a matter of guesswork. We need to examine ourselves and see whether or no we indeed know our Lord's voice. Do we respond when He calls us? Then, too, let us be on the lookout against those who profess to be shepherds, who call themselves "pastor" or "reverend," and have only one purpose—to devour the sheep. They are "thieves and robbers" indeed. Be sure that you are truly interested as long as it pays. The true shepherd cares for the sheep.

II. He Protects His Sheep (vv. 7-10).

Not only thieves, but wild animals and attack sheep, and it is said that often the shepherd died in protect them from harm. Only by staying serving for what he can get out of it, is it ever ordained and like.

When danger appears, he flees for the real shepherd heart will not, if the sheep be destroyed, giving place from be to others. He will, he will not defend them at the risk of his own life.

Note the sharp contrast of "I am the good shepherd" and "the hireling." The hireling is not a shepherd, and it does not belong to the sheep. They are "thieves and robbers" indeed. So they do not

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNGER, D. D.
Of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for February 21

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts are based on copyrighted outlines by the International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

JESUS THE GOOD SHEPHERD

LESSON TEXT—John 10:1-16, 27-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep.—John 10:11.

Beautiful and meaningful as they are, those of the 23rd Psalm are not the only figures of our Lord's ministry which have a unique appeal to that of the good shepherd. Even—who have never looked upon nor yet heard the voice of the shepherd's care know the telling aptness of the allegory of the Good Shepherd. We know how much we are like sheep needing the tender shepherd's care, and we soon learn to know and to trust Christ as the True Shepherd of the flock.

The scene of the picture is the Court of Shepherd, and it is situated that we may call Mind. The

I. He Knows His Sheep (vv. 1-5). As an oriental shepherd his sheep were brought into a fold, a walled enclosure with gates and with a single gate. Many different flocks were kept together in the care of an undershepherd. In the morning the shepherds came to call their own flock. They came to the door, not as the thieves of the night, who sought to come in by some other way.

When the shepherd called his own sheep responded. We are told that they would not come at the voice of a stranger—not being ready to trust and tried friends.

The application is obvious and not a matter of guesswork. We need to examine ourselves and see whether or no we indeed know our Lord's voice. Do we respond when He calls us? Then, too, let us be on the lookout against those who profess to be shepherds, who call themselves "pastor" or "reverend," and have only one purpose—to devour the sheep. They are "thieves and robbers" indeed. So they do not

II. He Protects His Sheep (vv. 7-10).

Not only thieves, but wild animals and attack sheep, and it is said that often the shepherd died in protect them from harm. Only by staying serving for what he can get out of it, is it ever ordained and like.

When danger appears, he flees for the real shepherd heart will not, if the sheep be destroyed, giving place from be to others. He will, he will not defend them at the risk of his own life.

Note the sharp contrast of "I am the good shepherd" and "the hireling." The hireling is not a shepherd, and it does not belong to the sheep. They are "thieves and robbers" indeed. So they do not

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Nicholas Circuit Court
Robert Thompson Dft
Vs. Petition
Notice of Sale in Equity
By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Nicholas Circuit Court entered at its February Term 1943 term in the above entitled cause I will on

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1943
at the court house door in Carlisle, Nicholas County, Kentucky, at or about the hour of 2 o'clock p. m. offer for sale to the highest and best bidder at public auction, on a credit of six and twelve months the property mentioned and described in the judgment and order of sale herein as follows.

A certain tract or parcel of land lying in Nicholas County, Kentucky, on the waters of Pardee Creek, and on the line of the Conway Dirt Road, bounded and abutted by said dirt road, the lands of Batty Conway, Bulla George, and Gilba Vice, containing by about 23 acres more or less.

This being the same land deeded to Taylor Thompson et al by Mary Ann Nicholas Thompson deceased, of record in Will Book II at page 200 Nicholas County Clerk's Office.

This property is sold for the purpose of settling the estate of Taylor Thompson, deceased, and the amount to be made on day of sale including the costs of this action is approximately $4200.00

The purchaser will be required to execute bond with approved surety for the deferred purchase money herein.

Joe Parker Ross
Special Commissioner
Conley & McCartney
Attorneys for Plaintiffs
2-4-3t

PUBLIC AUCTION
OF
Suburban Home With 5 Acres
ON
SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20
AT 2 O'CLOCK P. M.

As agents for Mrs. Ethel Johnson Wilson, we will offer for sale at public auction her home on Main west of Carlisle just outside the city limits. This is a fine modern suburban home and one that will appeal to those who desire a home of an income. Inspect it.

This is a well constructed, six-room home, with bath. The living room, home now arranged in a most attractive way. Has electricity and water. All necessary conveniences. This property is within 5 acres of strong Bluegrass pasture land. Very productive and easily cultivatable.

Anyone desiring to see it will choose this property by the selling day, may call Mrs. Wilson and she will be glad to show them over the property.

Terms reasonable.
MRS. ADRIENNE WILSON
Sale Conducted By
Scott-Kendall Sales Co.
A Difference
Carlisle, Ky. 2-11-2t

PUBLIC AUCTION
OF
Desirable Home
ON
SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20
AT 2 O'CLOCK P. M.

As agents for Mrs. W. B. Hall and pursuant to her order, we will offer for sale at public auction our home in Carlisle. This is a modern home, with all conveniences. Large lot with garage and other outbuildings. Conveniently located in the city. Possession can be given at once.

TERMS Reasonable
Inspection will be shown by the owner or by the undersigned.
Sale Conducted By
Scott-Kendall Sales Co.
"It Makes A Difference"
Carlisle, Ky. 2-11-2t

PUBLIC SALE
OF
Home Furnishings
ON
FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 19
AT 10:30 A. M.

My house having expired on the 1st day of March, I will sell on the premises located at Blue Licks, 5 miles south of Carlisle and 12 miles north of Carlisle the following household and kitchen furniture, to-wit:

19 ice boxes chairs
1 Carlisle Ice Tables
2 beds and springs
10 mattress
1 cook stove
7 dressers
1 kitchen cabinet chairs tables old stoves laundry stoves heating stoves washstand
lawn furniture
Numerous other articles

R. C. HAWKINS
Sale Conducted By
Scott-Kendall Sales Co.
"It Makes A Difference"
Carlisle, Ky. 2-11-2t

Program To Aid Food Consumers

MRS. SYLVIA BROWN

"What About Foods?" a series of public service radio programs designed to assist housewives in the economical purchase and preparation of food during war time, has been announced by the Family Consultation Service and WCKY, Cincinnati.

The series, which began February 15th, will be broadcast periodically every Friday at 9:45 a. m. and will be conducted by Mrs. Sylvia Brown, home economist for the Family Consultation Service. Mrs. Brown will give practical and timely information on the purchase, preparation and preservation of foods. Special emphasis will be placed on the use of substitutes and the conservation of vitamins and minerals.

The series of programs is intended to assist housewives in planning the most nutritious meals possible for the families despite frustrations, rationing and budget, in order that family health can be maintained within the family income.

Two weekly programs will include verified information on food materials and products that have been under 10 years of age or suspected of subnormality may be studied better when they are in a group of their own peers. Thus, a child who is 10 years old and has a mental age of 8 years is classified as a child who is 8 years old and has a mental age of 8 years. Thus, a child who is 10 years old and has a mental age of 8 years is classified as a child who is 8 years old and has a mental age of 8 years.

The test for the child is given by the examiner. The child is given a series of questions and tasks to perform. The examiner records the child's responses and scores them according to the norms for the child's age. The child's mental age is then determined by the examiner's judgment of the child's performance on the tasks.

The test is not a measure of the child's intelligence, but rather a measure of the child's ability to perform certain tasks. The child's mental age is not a measure of the child's intelligence, but rather a measure of the child's ability to perform certain tasks.

The test is not a measure of the child's intelligence, but rather a measure of the child's ability to perform certain tasks. The child's mental age is not a measure of the child's intelligence, but rather a measure of the child's ability to perform certain tasks.

Your Federal Income Tax

A taxpayer is entitled to $2 credit for each person other than himself or herself, who is claimed by him or her, and whether living with him or her, who during the taxable year was dependent upon and received his chief support from the taxpayer provided the dependent was either under 18 years of age, or the incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.

The credit for dependents is based upon their financial dependency and not mere legal dependency. It is not necessary that the dependent be related to the taxpayer, but the taxpayer must have furnished more than one-half of the support or there is no dependency.

The term "mentally or physically defective" includes not only those who are mentally afflicted or physically crippled, but also persons who by reason of old age or infirmity are incapable of self-support. The state of mental or physical defect must be of a permanent nature for it to exist for the taxable year, but when the credit for dependent is claimed for the taxable year, the dependent was subnormal mentally or physically, a report must accompany the return. Such report must be made by a competent physician legally authorized to practice in the state in which he resides, and must set forth the facts upon which the conclusion as to the existence of the defect is based.

Where two taxpayers would be entitled to the credit for the same dependent, each may claim one-half credit for such dependent. Where husband and wife file a joint return, only one credit can be allowed. A husband or wife may not claim credit for a dependent who is married and files a joint return with his or her spouse.

Where husband and wife make separate returns, only one may claim the