TROUBLES
By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics

This is a resume of letter that have been coming to the writer from trouble-worn gardeners, who this year appreciating more than in the past the importance of their gardens' performing have become vocal earlier. The fact is, too, that there are many many gardeners than in other years, some of them just now learning how many pitfalls there are in the path of the producers of vegetables. So, it may be the initiates who are writing.

Cabbage—Dotted in the rows, are plants whose lower leaves are turning yellow and blue, later, black. This is the sign of black rot, and the prospects for such plants are slim, as in the end, all the leaves will drop off, to leave a stiff shank with a mis-shapen small head atop it. The fault may lie in the plants that may have been grown in diseased land, or it may lie with the gardener who has inadvertently put his cabbage row where he had it last year, or even where he had radishes or "cabbage greens." To be rid of this trouble henceforth, home-grown plants should be used, produced from seed that has been treated, and crop rotation should be faithfully followed; there should be a "skip" of a full year.

Tomatoes—Here and there plants are reported to be turning yellow, beginning sometimes with only half-leaves affected. This is the picture of a wilt, and dry weather pronounced, and the plants' death a probability. A soil-germ disease its only control is to use the wilt-resistant varieties, Marglobe, Pritchard and Rutgers. If such plants cannot now be procured, a packet of seed should be sown immediately, to have plants to set as late as July 15, for, there is still time to beat the "frost."

Beans—The adult Mexican bean beetle has finally come from winter quarters. The eating they do is no picture during or does this matter as they cannot be killed through ordinary means. But, close in the wake of their coming, come egg-clusters, the signal for the immediate application of dust or sprays made always and only on the under-sides of the foliage. In 10 days, a second should follow, and in a week or so, perhaps a third, depending on how thoroughly the previous two were made.

This is a time when a lot of people are doing what they thought they couldn't.

LOOK—Scratch feed is hard to get, but we'll have a sad day for Mose as your order while it lasts. Scott Produce Co. Phone 208-R 1t

NEW CIRCULAR TELLS ALL ABOUT CANNING

How their tender, new crop of vegetables canned, and all the other varieties of vegetables Kentucky gardens will even be producing, may be put up for winter use is told in a new leaflet prepared by Miss Florence Imlay and Mrs. Pearl Hall, food specialists at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. How to can rhubarb, berries, cherries, peaches and other fruits is included also. Different methods of canning are carefully explained. Copies of this timely leaflet, "How to Can Fruits and Vegetables for Victory," may be secured at the offices of county home demonstration and agricultural agents, or from the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Pray as You Go

GLANCING at the heading of a lay column of a newspaper he had just purchased, a reader mistook the words for a "pray as you go" from "Pray as you go." What an arresting title, he thought, to be frequently began reading the article to learn how the writer had developed the text. To his disappointment, of course, disclosed the current subject, but the idea—Pray as you go—persisted.

"Pray-as-you-go" plans, by which income taxes may be paid through payroll savings, have been in the forefront of public discussion. By this method, it is asserted, the burden of accumulated debt for Federal income taxes will be lifted, since the tax will be met as the income is received. Thus, it is reasoned, taxes on former income will not accrue as a liability against present earnings. So, too, when we pay cash for purchases in everyday living, we avoid debt. We are spared the accumulated burden of unsettled accounts. As a result, our income is free to be left free to be exercised productively instead of being hampered by worry and fear incidental to debt. Continued alertness and control of our thinking along constructive, spiritual lines will also ensure a balanced mental account.

Does not effective prayer mean continuous spiritual thinking? The command to not only prayer is a form of thinking or talking to the Lord and the special cases of emergency has been pretty well diagnosed. Most of us more often come to see that a habitually reverential attitude of mind is a daily acknowledgement of God's law operating, brings an assurance and a poise that nothing else can.

Pray as you go. "Pray without ceasing," the Bible states it (I Thessalonians 5:17). Such a term comes a practical possibility when prayerful thinking is understood as an admonition to think rightly as to God. More than this, it urges us to keep our mental accounts square with Him, so that not only to pray—to think rightly —"without ceasing," we are to guard against the debt accumulations we are suggested, and thereby ordained. Such a practice, we will then be no accumulation of spiritual debt, of doubt, fear, suffering, or unhappiness. . . .

Paying debts is a worthy, no impractical advice, in the phrase, "Pray without ceasing." It requires primarily the conscious effort to entertain only right ideas as they unfold. Prayer becomes perfect in an axiom, applicable to prayering, or thinking rightly. When confronted by an emergency, the habit thinker is schooled to react immediately to meet an immediate demand upon his spiritual resources, finds himself conscious of the presence of God and of a belief that he is in danger. He then needs only to hold his ground, steadfastly refusing to acknowledging God's presence and protection.

Just as wisely utilizing one's mental resources avoids debt, so utilizing one's divine abilities ensures against the bankruptcy of soul and dominion. In the mental realm we are to do what "Pay as you go" means in financial matters—accumulate no debts. No spiritual burdens or fear and doubt or fear are to be allowed to accumulate.

Under the stress of circumstances, astonishing things are sometimes accomplished through prayer by those unaccustomed to pray as they go. Faced with an emergency, people have frequently risen to unsuspected heights of spiritual resourcefulness. Do not such occasions offer an inkling of the divine capacities that would be ours daily and hourly were we to develop our ability to pray as "without ceasing"—to prove the actual presence and protective power of God, and in our experience? "Pray as you go" may well be heeded daily, by us all.

HOW TO BE HAPPY THOUGH RATIONED

Giving pointers on "how to be happy though rationed," Dr. Henry C. Sherman of the United States Department of Agriculture says "Let us increase local production and conservation of those protective foods which are too perishable for shipment, such as fruits, vegetables and milk, with or without eggs." Dr. Sherman, who is chief in the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, adds, "We may not know at present whether in future large amounts of these relatively local and perishable foods will be sanitized for drying and shipment; but we do know definitely that in order to maintain it is good nutritional science and good citizenship for us to use them freely in place of the sugar, fat and meat that we are sending overseas."

COUNTY POULTRYMEN URGED TO NEW GOAL IN EGG PRODUCTION

Nicholas County poultrymen are asked by the government to produce approximately 772,000 dozen eggs this year, 67 per cent more than in 1942, as their share in the food for victory program, the National Poultry Defense Committee estimated.

This county's goal, which is based on the percentage increase required for Kentucky by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, can be reached if adequate supplies of labor and feed are available, declared Committee Chairman, Hobden Creighton.

"Poultry farmers are now working harder than ever in all-out war production," Creighton said, "continuing the fine job they did in this county last year by producing approximately 725,000 dozen eggs to help supply civilian, military and lend-lease needs. Also, two defense broilers were sent and have resulted in larger laying flocks on most farms today.

"First egg prices as shown by purchases of the A. & P. Tea Company, are good. Larger buyers which paid $100,000 in Kentucky last year for 360,000 dozen, were so favorable that farmers saved an unusually large proportion of potential layers. Second, conditions in 1942 were good for raising chicks. The season was generally mild and the average hatching date was early.

"Those factors point to increased production this year. Creighton explained, "if an improvement can be made in the farm skilled labor situation so that farmers can get enough protein feeds. There are also indications that proper ingredients because imports have been drastically cut. Corn now on hand is not being processed fast enough to meet demands for egg production, and the industry.

Producing poultrymen, who produced a total of 93,666,000 dozen eggs in Kentucky in 1942—72,000 dozen this year as their share of the national egg goal of 4,780,000,000 dozen.

BEES REQUIRED FOR WHITE CLOVER SEED

While the white clover seed crop is big in Nicholas of Kentucky this year, there may have been too few bees for a good seed crop. The Agricultural Experiment Station advises farmers to be prepared to examine the heads closely before starting to harvest seed.

Many heads have been setting well for several years and farmers may be losing money by harvesting seed this season. Prosperity means careful selection will keep several years.

One method of harvesting seed includes mowing and raking a day of two and then putting it in windrows. A row-tobacco is used to thrash it out of the windrow. If left too long, the seed will shatter, cross crossing on through it will make it hard to pick up.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

How to get the utmost in flavor goodness from chicken in these days when the prices is an interest to every homemaker. Cook poultry at a moderate temperature, is the advice of the food specialists at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Intense heat hardens and toughens the protein fibers in the meat, actually it makes the muscle and drives out the juices. When a moderate temperature is used the meat is more meat to serve.

For young birds not yet in the stewing class, but too old to fry, the addition of a small amount of water to the roaster is recommended as steaming will result in moist, tender meat. Also economical from the standpoint of fat used.

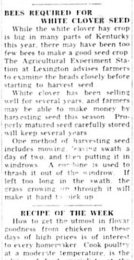

Figure It Out Yourself. How can you effectively join in saving all the idle children of the world from human slavery, death and injury from the Axis Dictators? Put more and more of your pay into war bonds every payday. Your saving will go to war in the form of war equipment and munitions. How much more should you put into war bonds? The only one who can answer that are—you and your family. Is there a single person who does not know how much more you'll do to win the war.

If you were fighting in the Solomons or in Africa or forcing a landing in Europe you'd like to feel that the folks at home were back of you —all the way—you'd be proud of your family and your friends if you knew they were buying war bonds not at 10 per cent of 15 per cent, but with every cent beyond that which they need for necessities.

WAGES OF WAR WORKERS CLAIMED UNJUSTIFIABLE

One-Man Committee Wages Keeps Equal To That Of Army Generals.

REP. ENGEL MAKES CHARGE

War plant workers with little or no experience are in some instances receiving pay appropriating that of the highest officers of the Army, Representative Albert J. Engel (R-Mich.) charged at Washington Tuesday.

Reporting to the House on a 44-day tour of 47 plants engaged in war work, he declared that unjustifiably high-paid workers are prospering at the expense of those whose wages were frozen at pre-war levels.

"The taxes made necessary through euthanasiage will fall not only on other workers but also on men in the armed services on their return to civilian life," he said.

Engel made his study as a member of the War Department subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee. He said he later on excess corporation profits which he also charged.

Declaring himself in favor of high pay for skilled labor and reasonable profits for industry, Engel deplored what he described as a condition which leaves millions of workers with higher living costs and little if any increase in their pre-war incomes.

But he said he learned that machine-gun assemblers in one plant earned as high as $8,741 a year, $241 a year more than the base pay of Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of the Army Services of Supply.

A $4,000 a year assembly foreman left a government arsenal to receive $11,500 a year in a defense plant, Engel said. He also said he compared this salary with the base pay of $10,200 paid Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commanding in the Pacific area; Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, commanding Allied forces in North Africa, and Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the Army Air Forces.

Citing instances where girls, after a few weeks' training, are earning as much as $3,800 a year, he said that "thousands of other girls are being paid $1,800 to $220 and $75 a week with income tax exemptions ranging as $500 and over, tax-fates and boxing bonds so their good sisters with no more training can be paid $65 to $75 a week."

PARIS MAN ON THE AIR

Bryan Williams, well known Paris tobacco auctioneer will appear throughout the week of July 4 on radio programs of the American Tobacco Company originating in New York City. He will appear from his own role of tobacco auctioneer several times a week.

Mr. Williams, who is well known throughout Central Kentucky, will probably give his first "chant" on the Saturday night program, July 3.

MILITARY TRAFFIC CAUSES REDUCED CIVILIAN TRAVEL

ODT Sets Up Guide For Determining Whether Or Not A Trip Is Necessary

VACATION TRIPS CONSIDERED

With troops movements and other military traffic mounting to new peaks, it is necessary to reduce pleasure seasonal increases in civilian travel, the Office of War Information has emphasized. These increases can be held to a minimum, OWI has been advised by the Office of Defense Transportation, if every citizen will place on himself the patriotic responsibility of traveling only when necessary.

As a guide in determining whether a trip is necessary, the ODT has defined trips for the following six purposes as non-essential:

1. Trips to other cities to visit friends;
2. Trips home for the week-end;
3. Sightseeing;
4. Trips to the theatre, races, other places of amusement;
5. Any social travel or travel for pleasure;
6. Travel merely for the sake of going somewhere.

Vacation travel going to and from the place where the vacation is spent, also is considered not essential but is less undesirable than travel for the foregoing reasons and therefore does not mean commuting to summer homes, a series of week-end trips or excursions during the annual vacation, all of which are considered clearly non-essential. Vacation travel is defined as a simple round-trip to and from the place of vacation.

ODT appealed to people who feel they must spend their vacation far from home to observe the following rules to minimize the strain on overburdened trains and buses:

1. Take the vacation, if possible, in the fall or winter and not in the July-August-June when travel normally increases;
2. Take the whole vacation at one time; don't split it up into several short periods or a number of long week-ends;
3. Begin and end the vacation on a Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday;
4. Spend the vacation as near home as possible;
5. Go to one place and stay there;
6. Travel on day coaches; carry box lunches on trains, to avoid putting a further burden on pullmans and dining cars; avoid overnight trips;
7. Carry as little luggage as possible and check the heavy pieces.
8. Plan to allow for transportation contingencies requiring last minute changes.
9. Be prepared to expect delayed arrivals, crowded conditions, and lack of the usual travel comforts;
10. Remember that most of the usual supplementary rail service to resort areas will not be running this year.

JAILED BY PRISONER

Fleming county's jailer has been on title inside looking out.

And he prefers the situation in reverse.

The jailer—Perry McCord—got a prisoner's-eye-view of the Fleming county jail recently when a prisoner, to whom he had unnecessarily entrusted his keys locked the jailer in and then fled.

However, the prisoner, Tom McIntosh, was thoughtful enough to release the jailer and return the jailer's family, hearing his outcries, released McCord.

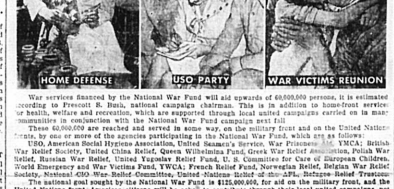
MISS ALMA D. NESBITT DIES AT MT. STERLING

Miss Alma Dee Nesbitt, 59, died Monday morning at Mt. Sterling after a long illness.

She was a daughter of the late Dr. Will and Mrs. Fannie Brooks Nesbitt of Owingsville, and was a native of Bath county. She has lived in Mt. Sterling for a number of years and was a member of the Baptist church.

We owe a lot to cash other in this country, including the Federal debt.

NATIONAL WAR FUND GIVES AID TO SOME 60,000,000



War services financed by the National War Fund will aid upwards of 60,000,000 persons, it is estimated according to Prescott S. Bush, national campaign chairman. This is in addition to the normal community services of health, welfare and recreation, which are supported through local united campaigns carried on in many communities in conjunction with the national campaign each fall.

These 60,000,000 are reached and served in some way, on the military front and on the United Nations fronts, by one or more of the agencies participating in the National War Fund, which are as follows:

USO, American Social Hygiene Association, United Seamen's Service, War Prisoners Aid, YMCA; British War Relief Society, United China Relief, Queen Wilhelmina Fund, Greek War Relief Association, Polish War Relief, Russian War Relief, United Yugoslav Relief Fund, U. S. Committee for Care of European Children, World Emergency and War Victims Fund, YWCA; French Relief Fund, Norwegian Relief, Belgian War Relief Society, National CIO War Relief Committee, United Stations Relief of the AFL, Refugee Relief Trustees.

The national goal sought by the National War Fund is $125,000,000, for aid on the military front, and the United Nations front. American citizens will be asked to contribute through their local united campaigns, not only to the National War Fund, but to "home defense" welfare services in their own communities.

FARMERS AND DEALERS COOPERATE IN ROOSTER CAMPAIGN

According to the records of the Scott Produce Company and the Bluegrass Produce Company, at least one thousand roosters were sold in the Seat-The Rooster Campaign, conducted over a ten day period, June 10 to 19. This project has been promoted in most of the poultry producing counties by the Extension Service of the Kentucky College of Agriculture, according to Wm. T. Straw, County Agent. This plan is of great help in producing higher quality eggs and is conserves feed.

Nicholas County farmers should be commended for their cooperation in selling the roosters at this time. The two poultry produce dealers in Carlisle have been unusually cooperative in offering a two cent pound premium price on roosters during Roster Sale Week.

Two advantages of selling roosters at this time are infertile eggs are produced, which is better keeping qualities; and a rooster consumes about one and one-half times more feed than a hen and therefore feed consumption is reduced. Farmers are requested to gather up their eggs at least twice a day and if possible three times a day, save money, and thy just don't help in the Food-Egg-Freedom program.

COFFEE ALLOWANCE MOST LIBERAL YET

The most liberal allowance of coffee since rationing began will be given for the next five weeks period, beginning to-day, the Office of Price Administration at Washington has announced.

Coffee Stamp No. 21 in Ration Book 1 will be valid for one pound in three weeks instead of the two-pound-in-five-weeks program.

Miss Virginia Smith, her daughter, and Mrs. Ernest Finch.

Mrs. Ernest Finch, her sister, Sheboygan, Wis., states:

The women were injured when one of the planes crashed into the living-room of their third-floor apartment. The pilot of this ship was killed and a passenger taken to the hospital.

This plane had struck the roof of an apartment house at 2053 Douglass and then glanced off onto the apartment two houses away, striking the front room of the Smith apartment.

Mrs. Smith, in the room closing a window when the plane hit, was knocked to the floor.
