

THEY WERE EXPENDABLE

by W. H. Miller

These men were killed in the defense of the United States. They were not killed in vain. Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable.

Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable. Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable.

Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable. Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable.

Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable. Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable.

Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable. Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable.

Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable. Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable.

Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable. Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable.

Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable. Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable.

Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable. Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable.

Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable. Their sacrifice was not in vain. They were expendable.

Today's Travels

To KNOW the highways that have long been the business of our Travel Bureau. To chart the roads on legible maps, to classify them as to surface and character, to spot the sections where construction or other obstacles block traffic and to tell you who may inquire—these are the full-time specialties of KY Motor Travel Bureau.

Designed in function in peace time, it has been wholly converted to a war time basis. Pleasure trips are "out" for the duration, but many highways are very busy, nevertheless. Drivers and men are hastening to camps, or moving from camp to camp, or heading for home on leaves and furloughs.

It is important for us to save time—mile—gasoline—rubber. They ask our Travel Bureau to help them to conserve—cut costs—avoid costly detours. The same consideration applies to commercial vehicles, bound on missions of war necessity... This service is free.
