JAMES NATHANIAL GREGORY STRICKEN FATALLY WHILE RIDING IN CAR

James N. Gregory, 52 well known farmer of near Moorefield, who has held the position of day watchman for the Producers Cooperative Commission Association in Lexington since last September was pronounced dead at 4 p. m. Friday afternoon on arrival at the Good Samaritan Hospital, a few minutes after he became ill while riding in a car with Madgett Dunn, a salesman for the Shaffer firm, on the Tates Creek pike. Hospital attaches said death was caused by a heart attack.

He was the son of the late Ed and Ella Lane Gregory of Bethel Bath county, and is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Tice Gregory, and one son, William Gregory of Lexington; two grandchildren, Joe Allen and Batsy Ruth Gregory; one sister, Mrs. Susan G. Durham, Lexington; and two nephews, Harold Durham, Tifton Ga., and Charles Durham, of Indiana.

Funeral services were held at 130:30 Monday morning at the Carlisle cemetery, with the minister, Rev. B. F. Lewis, officiating, and burial in the Carlisle cemetery.

WCKY "Miss Greater Cincinnati, 1943" Contest Open

Local girls have been invited to compete for the "Miss Greater Cincinnati" title of Miss Barbara Patterson, shown here with Uncle Sam, as she won the coveted honor last year.

Girls of this community are invited to compete for the title of "Miss Greater Cincinnati" and "Miss America, 1943."

Sponsorship of this "Miss Greater Cincinnati" Health, Beauty and Talent Contest, open until about July 20, has been announced by Radio Station WCKY, Cincinnati.

Girls of American citizenship between the ages of 18 and 28, talented, in good health, not married and living within a 50-mile radius of Cincinnati, are eligible to enter. Information and application blanks may be received from Margaret Dotson, WCKY promotion manager, Hotel Gibson, Cincinnati.

The winner of the title "Miss Greater Cincinnati" will receive a wardrobe and an all-expense trip to Atlantic City to compete for the $5000 grand prize and other honors awarded "Miss America." American Legion posts, neighborhood theaters, war factories or war agencies have been invited by WCKY officials to sponsor preliminary contests to nominate entrants.

Entrants in the contest will participate in a number of personal appearances in connection with patriotic and civic projects and war effort activities. The 25 semi-finalists to be selected about July 25 will be given talent auditions over WCKY and will appear at the Albee Theatre, Cincinnati, for final judging. "Miss Greater Cincinnati" will represent the area at the "Miss America" pageant at Atlantic City the week of September 6.

The parents, organization or agency nominating the winner of the "Miss Greater Cincinnati" contest will receive a $50 reward from WCKY.

News From OUR BOYS In The Service

Nicholas Youth At Great Lakes

Great Lakes, Ill.,—July 7—Specials—Robert Keller Laughlin, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laughlin, Rt. No 4, Carlisle, Kentucky, recently reported to the U. S. Naval Training Station here to begin recruit training.

As a "boot," he will get instruction in military drill, seamanship, and naval procedure, plus participation in the Navy's vigorous physical hardening program.

Upon completion of his recruit training he will be granted a seven day leave, after which he will either attend one of the Navy's many service schools, or be assigned to active duty at sea, or at a naval shore station.

Men are selected for service school on the basis of a series of aptitude tests given them while in recruit training.

Excerpts from a letter to his mother, Mrs. Emroy Asbury, from Pvt. Charlie Asbury in North Africa:

All at once a German machine gun started pouring lead at us. We dropped to the ground and started digging in with our shovels, helmets and even our fingers. We began to realize we were trapped. Shells were tearing up the ground around us and we couldn't locate them, so all I could do was pray and hope not to go hit. Then at dusk they began machine-gunning from all sides, and the order came 'every man for himself and retreat as fast as you can.' I knew that if I ever left what happened, but the Red Cross played a large part. We were so badly disorganized that it took six weeks to find out what our losses were left. I was behind the new German lines, lost, cold and hungry for ten days and then had four days in that time. I almost got killed by a German post. This was in the Kasserine Pass, in February. I was sick for a week and read all about it in the papers and heard it over the radio, but it was worse than reported.

At Gafsa we were smoothered by the Germans but we blasted hell out of them the shells, machine guns and bazookas. We pushed them back and joined the units in the south at Gabes and started the big push for the battle, on April Fool's Day—and we were not the fools. On the next Mother's Day the well-trained German troops surrend-red to the best trained troops on earth—and I've ever known in history. I have fought and killed as Germans as I can stand for a while. I'll tell you more about me."

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Sneed received a letter from their son, Cpl. George Sneed, stationed in North Africa, which reads in part: "We are allowed a little more freedom in writing than we have been in African campaign is over. I can tell you now that I have been to Tunis, Bone, Oran, Tabarka, Algiers, Mostaganem and four fields and several more places. Maybe you have heard these names before, but in the next letter I will send you some souvenir coins
