Dies Committee Extended
By House For Two More Years

That the National Congress showed the real American spirit some two weeks ago when it voted 302 to 94 to extend the Dies group for two years more was evidence that it was needed or such an overwhelming majority vote would not have been the result.

This was the fifth time the Dies committee had been extended which is headed by Representative Dies of Texas. To Mr. Dies we extend deserved congratulations.

This committee was created to investigate Un-American Activities Un-American Activities." We propose for the moment to think just what we would do in the event we found such a "Lee Brew" as the Nazi ruling itself "An American," who in any manner, would stoop to assist in destroying Our American heritage. The Dies Committee should be appointed for the rest of time and given full away when it came to Un-Americanism. It should be in rotatory.

At the time the Dies Committee was continued for the fifth time Representative Fish of New York State, wound up the debate with a plea for adoption of the resolution for continuance. He said: "The President has recognized the work of the Dies Committee by appointing an interdepartmental committee to investigate charges against government employees". And we say there is a greater reason for the committee today than ever before, notwithstanding the splendid work done by Chief Edgar Hoover of the F. B. I. To keep the committee unaware that seeds of Hitlerism will not be sown.

The committee says there are "Termites" on the Government pay roll who are seeking to undermine the fundamentals of democracy. Grant if this be true; and, we do not doubt it, then what we have said above we stand ready to reiterate any time called upon so to do.

Representative Cox of Georgia assailed two critics of the extension. They are Sabbath and Mercontonia. He said: "The America I love would not be safe under the leadership of Sabbath and Marcontonia." To which we join hands with Mr. Cox, and, may he ever hold fast to that belief.

Many squawkers opposing the continuance of the committee squawked but squawking was all they got. They may pet something in the future, something they won't be able to cherish in any degree of satisfaction.

Having been young ourselves once, we think we can appreciate the youth men of our country. But when young Rogers, son of the late Will Rogers, the humorist, referred to his father in asking the Congress to dismiss the Dies Committee, we think he was "Skating on Thin Ice." We admired young Rogers father but at the same time we think young Rogers was going a little too far to put the good name of his wonderful father on the wrong side of the fence.

BIBLE TEACHINGS AGAINST DRUNKENNESS

LESSON TEXT—I Samuel 30:16, 17, 21-25; Isaiah 5:11-23; Habakkuk 2:15-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Strong drink shall be bitter to them that drink it."—Isaiah 24:9.

Sowing and reaping is one of those universal laws which applies in all realms of life. What we sow we reap, whether in the farmer's field, in our national life, or in the life of the individual. It is true physically, mentally, morally and spiritually.

How surprising then that intelligent Americans think we can get away with the use of intoxicants which have destroyed other nations and expect to escape the same sad consequences. Professional men have wrecked their careers, business men lost their hard earned positions, and rich men dissipated their inheritance, and at the same time many of them has fallen into moral decay and lost through their inability to control their desire for drink. Yet we continue to license its sale, and to another generation of young men thrust most the same tempting bait.

Our lesson presents three results of drunkenness.

I. Military Defeat (I Sam. 30:16, 17).

A crisis in the life of King David is related in this chapter. The Amalekites had taken Ziklag. The king and his family were carried away by the host of barbarous men for too strong for them to withstand. He inquired of God and was told to attack. With his little army of 400 men he defeated them. While the cause in a drunken debauch they were celebrating their victory of the day before.

This was not the first, nor the last, time that military defeat followed indulgence in alcoholic beverages. It has happened even in the present war. Have we learned the lesson? Will we avoid that danger?

In this country our armed forces and defense workers are constantly exposed to temptations—and how many of them fall, anyone may know who has eyes to see.

From distant battlefronts come disquieting reports that intoxicants are among the "supplies" which find quick transportation to the very front, where they are soon put to their destructive use.

II. National Decay (Isa. 28:1-4, 7). Isaiah was a mighty voice and a great moral exhortation, and for the righteousness of God. With true prophetic insight he saw beneath the outward prosperity and apparent glory of his people, and exposed the sins which were dragging them on a fatal ruination. Outstanding among these destructive forces was drunkenness.

Turning first to the northern kingdom of Israel (for the nation had not been divided), he tells them that though their valleys may be filled and their cities resplendent, terrible and swift judgment from the collapse of all their boasted greatness will surely come if they live in revelry and drunkenness.

He speaks of the ruining of "the mighty and the strong one" as a storm will be irresistible destroying storm. He refers to America—God's own godly people, but need of God to arouse His own people who had become indulgent and sinful.

There is a truth here which we need to learn. When nations forget God and fall in their negligence to Him and to their fellow men, when they become vain and self indulgent, God will send judgment upon them. He may use as His instrument nations who are themselves pagan, to accomplish His purpose.

The people should be led to repentance and righteousness by their religious leaders. How sad that some are an example in the other direction. Others who live personal lives above reproach are silent on these important questions lest they give offense to someone who may hold it difficult for them. How sad!

III. Eternal Destruction (Hab. 2:15-17).

Hungry lust and national declension should be enough to align every right thinking person against intoxicants. But for worse is the fact that they bring misery, many times and woman into eternal separation from God.

In this passage "drunkenness and revelings" and their proper place with the other works of the flesh which close the door to the kingdom of God. There is no use trying to dismiss or cover it up as the unfortunate weakness of an otherwise nice person, or the natural result of a bit of moral fellowship.

America has too long regarded a drunken person as a joke—of at most a bit of a nuisance to be indulged and tolerated. The Bible says that they who practice such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God (v. 21).

That is plain enough, isn't it? Mr. Drinker, outside or inside the church, had you better not think about that before you drink again? Church of Christ, is it not time for you to do something more effective to deliver the young men and women of America from the constant temptation now offered before them?

"Gotta Cut Down"
"To keep the cost of living from spiraling upward we must discourage credit and installment buying, and encourage the payment of debts and purchases and other obligations, for this promotes savings and retards excessive buying and adds to the amount available to the creditors for the purchase of war bonds." J. D. J.
In line with Government advice to retailers to reduce expenses and curtail activities to a much lower volume of goods, I have discontinued credit sales, as credit sales cost more than cash sales, for record books, statements, stamps, taxes, mistakes, forgotten charges, and some forget to pay and others have bad luck and can't pay. With a multitude of Government regulations and papers to fill out and keep which are extremely confusing and hard to understand, to try to continue credit selling is simply to have more things to think about than I am able, myneryes and memory not being what they used to be. My stock of goods has been cut in half since Jan. 1st., and I can't buy half enough for the ordinary cash trade. While it may seem inconvenient to some to pay for small items as they buy, where they used to pay in one amount Jan. 1st. or July 1st., how much more extra work is it for a merchant to keep records for five or six hundred persons in addition to all the other red tape that has been added. And so, for the above reasons, in the words of a radio advertiser, "I HAVE GOTTA CUT DOWN," and have discontinued charge sales, except for emergencies.
With a more simplified selling system I can devote more time to obtaining merchandise and repairs, which are extremely hard to get, and in that way serve our customers better, by trying to have more things that they need.

THE SUIT YOU BUY THIS SEASON MAY HAVE TO LAST A LONG TIME!
Let's face the facts. We all agree that our soldiers must have first call on woolens even if the rest of us go short. So buy a suit this season that will wear a little longer than usual if it becomes necessary. Quality's a short cut to economy in times like these.
FOR SOLID QUALITY you can depend on GRIFFON CLOTHES
Plenty of all-wool fabrics. Come in now and make an investment in a suit that will serve you well.
