The Call To Be Merciful.

The Call To Be Merciful. The Red Cross Is Calling.

That Nicholas county did last week, contribute freely to the splendid cause of The American Red Cross, is evident, that it will continue to do so during the days to come in the present campaign of The Red Cross that it may be merciful unto those who need mercy.

Have we ever stopped to think that it is not the Red Cross that is calling? Are we not, all of us, The Red Cross? Those millions upon us today to be merciful are in need; and, we Americans who are The Red Cross are answering the call.

Not only in the present drive but in all the drives to come, will we American continue to be merciful, and, may The Giver of all good and perfect gifts keep us steadfast in that performance.

The present drive will last during the remainder of March and may we keep marching until we have accomplished that which we set out to accomplish—true our quota.

The need today to be merciful is greater than ever before. The need to give more is upon us and may we not be found wanting. For two thousand years, on December the 25th, the pleasure of giving has been cherished with a full measure running over. May we cherish the giving to the Red Cross Drive as a privilege and may He who gave His All to say to us one and all: "Well Done Thou Good and Faithful Servants" and then it will be that we will be well paid for our giving.

At no time in the past have we faltered and we will not at this time. We have stood among those who have had their all taken from them save the skant covering of their bodies. They were penniless, they had no place to go. They had been driven from what they called their homes and they were "Out" in the world seemingly alone. Then the Red Cross came to their rescue and gave them "A Chance" and in accepting that offer they started over again and they came back. It was you and you and you who gave that chance and we are constrained to believe that you will, as long as you are able so to do, give and give all you can.

To those good women and men who are working, not only in this drive, but in every branch of the Red Cross, do we extend our heartiest congratulations.

Improved Uniform SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

IN THE UPPER ROOM

LESSON TEXT—John 13:12-20, 34-35; 14:6. GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, and the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.—John 14:6.

Calvary and crucifixion were just around Jesus gathered His disciples for a time of communion and instruction as they spent their last evening together. On the morrow would come betrayal, but now they and their Lord were together in the upper room.

But even here strife and dissension had apparently arisen. There was probably some difference of opinion as to who should have the place of honor. To teach them the true standard of humility Jesus gave an example, after which He continued with the precious words of prayer which are found in John 14 to 17.

Our lesson presents three things which our Lord gave to His disciples and to us (see John 17:20).

I. His Example—"As I Have Done" (13:12-20).

The act of Jesus in washing the feet of feet-pieced Him, their Lord and Teacher, on the part of an humble menial servant. It was an astonishing thing that He did such a thing Himself (also see Luke 22:27).

His application of the experience was equally startling. "Ye call me Master and Lord, and ye say well," said He. Then as honorary and servants He called upon them the humility which would make them eager to do lowly service for His name.

There are more than enough folk who are willing to do the nice, pleasant things in the church, where they will be given recognition and praise. All too scarce are those faithful folk who will serve in the hidden places where darkness, suffering, disease and sin make the natural man recoil in distress and fear.

II. His Assurance—"If I Go I Will Come Again" (14:1-3).

Following His resurrection Jesus was to go to the Father, and He told them to be prepared for that time by making known to them the fact of His coming again. In that day His own shall be received unto Himself to abide with Him forever.

The second coming of Christ is not a strange doctrine. There are little groups of people who are riding a theological hobby. It is one of the most blessed truths of Scripture. The hope of Christ's return, yes, the only real hope of this disordered world is the coming of Christ to reign. The New Testament is full of plain and helpful teaching on this subject.

While we await His coming, then, is there any encouragement for us as the burdens bear down upon us, as they seems long? Yes. He says: "Let not your heart be troubled" (v. 1). There is little question that this passage has comforted more people than any other word in Scripture.

Countless bereaved and broken souls in all lands and times have been found the steadying assurance of the one who has the power to give them rest and comfort.

There is good foundation for their composure of heart in a troubled world. They believe in God, and in Christ, who is one with the Father. Here is real security—security in the Father to match the world can give.

Then at the end of life's road are the eternal dwelling places. What they are like is definitely revealed to us in the fact that they are in the Father's house. How often we feel them! That is our last point. We have

III. His Guidance—"I Am the Way" (vv. 4-6).

To Christ's declaration that they knew the way, Thomas responded with a request for a definite statement. He wanted to be sure, and Christ responded by reminding him that He, their Lord, is the "way, the truth, and the life." Surely there could be no more complete provision for the guidance of the heavenly pilgrim.

Christ is "the way." If one takes the right road he will reach the right destination though he "cannot at first see it clearly. Perhaps this is the commonest mistake of the Christian. He frets too much about what lies ahead . . . and not enough about taking the right road" (Cleason Conservatory).

He is "the truth." He is the final and complete revelation of God, and in Him is therefore also the way by following the fullness of the truth. To know Christ is to know God.

He is "the life." He is life, and He alone can give eternal life to man. There is none other to whom a man may turn for life but in Christ it is found, and from Him it may be received by faith.

We have only touched the briefest beginning of what took place on that remarkable evening in the upper room. It was a time of richest spiritual significance, of dark betrayal, but also of closest communion. We continue next Sunday.
